On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, this is one of the important bills of this session. The amendments offered refer to Senate Bill No. 272, Printer's No. 245, on page 12 of today's calendar, the Congressional Reapportionment Bill. I have offered amendments, Mr. Speaker, to this bill which affect only the County of Allegheny, but it will be necessary to discuss the entire bill in its present form, at least that section of it in its present form which refers to Allegheny County.

I might say to the members of the House that very shortly after Governor Martin was elected he gave a statement to the press of the state in which he said that one of his first orders of business for the Legislature of 1943 would be the reapportionment of the state. I relied upon that statement of the Governor, and I addressed to him a letter in which I pointed out that as a minority Member from the western part of the State, I thoroughly agreed that there should be a legislative reapportionment, and I held myself out as willing to serve on any committee on reapportionment the Governor proposed for this Legislature. I received from the Governor a letter in which he thanked me for my offer and he stated in that letter that reapportionment must have our best efforts. Further than that he said nothing, and so far as I know he has appointed no committee to study reapportionment. Certainly I have heard nothing of it, particularly congressional reapportionment, until Senate Bill 272 appeared on the calendar last week, and which is now before this House. I suppose that Senate Bill 272 is what the Governor meant when he said that reapportionment must have our best efforts. If so, I must take issue with him. It is a poor best and a worse effort.

Senate Bill 272, and I will confine myself to its effect on Allegheny County, because that principally is where I think the old game of gerrymandering is played, that is, Senate Bill 272 as it affects Allegheny County has this result: Allegheny County is the stronghold of democracy in this state. There is in that county a majority in the registration of the Democratic party of 100,000 votes. If Senate Bill 272 is permitted to pass in its present form, and the amendments that I have offered are rejected, the result is going to be that that county with its great Democratic majority is going to return a minority representation of the people to the Congress of the United States. That is not reapportionment, that cannot be justified under the Constitution of the state, it cannot be justified in any manner whatsoever.

How does Senate Bill 272 in its present form accomplish the result of making a majority look like a minority? It is done by the old trick of gerrymandering. The bill in its present form creates a large and strong Democratic district in the center of the city, which dissipates, if you please, the votes of over 40,000 Democrats in that district in which no Republican can ever win.

It is done on the theory that one vote can win an election, and if one vote can win an election, let us put all that Democratic strength of forty or fifty thousand votes in one district and draw that strength from other districts. It is done by the most outrageous piece of gerrymandering that is possible.

In creating the thirty-second district, which is a district composed of the city wards of the City of Pittsburgh, the draftsman of the Senate Bill 272 has jumped across both the Allegheny and the Monongahela Rivers and drawn in strong Democratic wards, piling them on where they have no proper place geographically or on any other basis.

In the thirty-second district, and under the bill as it is now drawn the draftsman has gone across the Allegheny River and in part across the Ohio River and added to the central part of the city the twenty-second, the twenty-third and twenty-fourth wards of the North Side. Then, not satisfied with jumping those two rivers, they have reached out across the Monongahela River and drawn into this strong Democratic district the sixteenth, the seventeenth, and fifteenth wards of the city.

I have heard some discussion trying to justify such a procedure. The bill is supposed to have been drawn by an unbiased draftsman. He happens to have been an old school professor of mine, but I am very much afraid that the gentleman is being used. He is not the man he was in the days when he taught me at school,—or perhaps he is a better man, but he has done a terrible job on this bill. At any rate the bill is justified, in his opinion, because it is argued that there has been in recent years a trend away from the city wards; the people are gradually moving away. He justifies making this strong Democratic ward, not satisfied with lumping forty-five or fifty thousand Democratic majority in the thirty-second district, they also make up the largest district by twenty thousand votes approximately, and make it the largest district in all the five districts, thereby further dissipating the majority of the registration.

As I say, it is argued that this is done because there has been a trend away from the city wards, and it is anticipated that in the future that trend will be continued, but when I asked the draftsman of the bill if he expected twenty thousand people to move from this district, I had no answer. Census figures cannot justify creating this district all out of proportion, making it twenty thousand votes larger on that basis. No past trend will justify the prediction that there will be a removal from this district of twenty thousand votes in the next ten years.

The bill is further justified by its sponsor, and I assume by those who support it, on the ground that it has a tendency to create a homogeneous district. In other words, as it was explained, it was said that this district grouped together suburbanites, and another section of the county will group those largely interested in agricultural pursuits. Of course the city dwellers are grouped together in the thirty-second district. That is not the basis on which this country was founded. It was never intended that class be set against class, suburbanites against city dwellers, and farmers against manufacturing districts. That is one of the vices in this bill. It was described in the Senate as the Jim Crow bill, and I so describe it here, and also further describe it as one designed to pit class against class, and that has no place in an apportionment bill.

Mr. Speaker, I wish to point out again that the result that will come from this bill is this. Here we have a county, the second greatest county in the Commonwealth, which sends five representatives to the Congress of the United States. On registration alone and on the results of the votes for the past ten years, that county is a Democratic county and it will stay such. But this bill has the result of letting a Democratic county return Republican majorities to Congress. I charge, Mr. Speaker, that it is a part of a nation wide scheme to gerrymander out of the halls of Congress Congressmen who supported the President, and return in their place isolationist Congressmen who could not be elected, but who are now to be gerrymandered into office.

More will be said on that on the third reading of this bill. I want to talk now on the amendments by which I propose to rectify this outrageous condition offered in Senate Bill 272. In the amendments offered there are created the same five districts created by the Senate Bill now before us. As I said when I began, it has been my personal desire that the state be reapportioned, not particularly on the Congressional districts, because that was done only two years ago—and let us not be charged in the Democratic party that the reapportionment of a year ago was solely our doing. I need not remind the Speaker and members of this House that at the time the last Congressional Reapportionment Bill was passed there was a Republican Governor, there was a Republican Senate, there was only a Democratic House. And so, if there is no satisfaction today with the Congressional Reapportionment Bill of 1941 then let the Republicans look to their own leaders. They had two-thirds of the votes on the passage of that bill. Another thing that they are not satisfied with particularly, was the result in Allegheny County. I say to the gentlemen from Allegheny county, let them look to their own leaders if they are not satisfied with that bill.

A few nights ago my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, said to this House that there were two appeals from legislation, one to the courts and one to public opinion. The gentleman didn't go far enough, there is a corollary that he should have added to that, there is one appeal from election laws, and it is to the people; one appeal from congressional district laws, and that is to the people, and there is one way to win an election and that is to get the votes, and that is what they didn't do in Allegheny County.

If they had the majority of registration I would be the first to agree that if Allegheny County were predominantly Republican then the majority of its Congressmen should be and naturally would be Republican, but I cannot stomach this business of a Democratic county by a great margin appearing in the halls of Congress with a majority of its representatives Republican.

To return, Mr. Speaker, to what the amendments offered to Senate Bill 272 will do; they create a city district, because the population in Pittsburgh is so located that there must be a city district, but in that city district not one river is crossed, and I submit that that is proper reapportionment, geographically or on any other basis.

The thirty-second district consists of the area on the south side of the Monongahela River and there it was necessary in the interests of a basic population figure to cross and take two wards into the district. Other than that every district offered in this reapportionment plan is a self-contained, contiguous, compact district.

The population figures of the district compare on an equal basis with those offered in the original Senate bill. The bill is a proper, a fair and a just apportionment of Allegheny County. The membership of this House can do nothing less, it seems, if they propose to vote fairly and equitably on this thing than to accept these amendments.

As I stated when I first rose, I would be willing, and I know that my party would be willing to sit down and work out a fair and just apportionment not only for the county but for the state. We were not granted that privilege, and that in spite of the fact that the Governor in his inaugural address, stood on that podium and said that he was going to sit down and work out a plan that would help to end the war that would allow the parties to work together.

This is not such a plan. The intent of Senate Bill 272 in its present form and unamended, is to wreck the Democratic party in Allegheny county, and it is part of the greater plan to wreck the Democratic party over the nation. That cannot be justified and it never will be justified under the guise of reapportionment.

I ask every Member of the House who is interested in fair, decent apportionment to support the amendments I have offered.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments offered by my colleague from Allegheny county, Mr. Bentley. If I didn't know the gentleman so well I would almost believe that he was serious in the talk he just gave you.

When he gets up here and charges us with gerrymandering he certainly should only look back to a year ago to discover what he and his party did to the Republicans in Allegheny county. That was one of the worst pieces of gerrymandering that was ever done. They took the Congressional District in which I live, crossed over into the Strip District of the city of Pittsburgh and added two predominantly Democratic wards to it, to favor the election of one, the present Congressman, but who incidentally would not have been returned to the halls of Congress had they not so carefully gone over there and added the sixth and ninth wards in the city of Pittsburgh to that district.

They go around to the thirty-fourth Congressional District as it was in 1941 and took out the township of Mt. Lebanon and the borough of Dormont, both preponderantly Republican districts, and threw them into Greene and Washington counties. If that is not gerrymandering in its worst form I would like to hear someone describe it.

On the other hand, Mr. Speaker, I don't want to take up the time of the House, but this reapportionment as it affects Allegheny county is a fair and just reapportionment. The districts are fair, compact and contiguous, and with a population to be represented as nearly equal as it is possible to make. I believe great care has been given by the sponsor of these amendments in the Senate in their preparation. I believe he has done the best job it is possible to do, and I would therefore, Mr. Speaker, urge upon you that you vote down these amendments offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. FLEMING. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Has the gentleman from Allegheny read the amendments offered by myself, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I went over them as carefully as I could. It would seem to me that the districts are returned to the places that they were in in 1941; is that not correct?

Mr. BENTLEY. No, Mr. Speaker, that is not correct.

Mr. FLEMING. Well, Mr. Speaker, as I say, I could not go over them in much detail.

Mr. BENTLEY. Is it not true, Mr. Speaker, that the sixth and ninth wards of which he complained are now returned to the thirty-first district?

Mr. FLEMING. I am aware of that, yes, Mr. Speaker, That is where they should have stayed all these years.

Mr. BENTLEY. I suggest to the gentleman then, Mr. Speaker, that there should be no complaint as to the sixth and ninth wards. I would also ask the gentleman if he knows of any manner in which an apportionment bill can be passed by a Democratic House of Representatives and a Republican Senate and a Republican Governor without the concurrence of the Republican Governor and the Republican Senate?

Mr. FLEMING. I would like to answer any question that the gentleman puts before me, but that certainly is not the question before the House. I think the gentleman knows as well as I do the answer.

Mr. BENTLEY. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny.

I will answer that question, Mr. Speaker. There is no manner in which a law can be passed in this Commonwealth unless it is passed by the House, by the Senate and approved by the Governor, and when the gentleman charged the Democratic party with gerrymandering, I do not admit it for a second, but I ask him, how does he reconcile the Republican Governor and the Republican Senate? It can't be done. That is not the case here today. By accusing us of gerrymandering, and thereby implying that this bill is a gerrymandering bill, he adds nothing to the force or the reasons back of Senate Bill 272. He merely says in effect "Today we have not only the Senate and the Governor, we have the House, and we are going to pass it." And it is a gerrymander.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, if I implied that this was a gerrymandering bill on the part of the Republicans I certainly wish that matter cleared up in the minds of any of the Members. I certainly do not wish to imply that. This is far from a gerrymandering piece of legislation. The districts as they are now proposed have been approved by all the civic organizations in the City of Pittsburgh and the County of Allegheny. I only charged that there was gerrymandering in the special session of 1942. In closing, Mr. Speaker, I would say to you and to the Members of the House—I'm quoting Mr. Bentley—that we shall all be judged by public opinion, and I am sure we on this side of the House shall be willing to go before the bar of public opinion and be judged by public opinion.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The thirty-third district shall consist of the twenty-ninth, thirtieth, thirty-first and thirty-second wards of the city of Pittsburgh, the cities of Clairton and Duquesne and all the boroughs and townships lying south of the Ohio and Monongahela Rivers in the county of Allegheny.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to support the amendments proposed to Senate Bill 272. These amendments were agreed to in the session of 1941 by a committee of Congressmen from both sides from Washington and a committee from the House and Senate. Much study and consideration was given to this legislation at that time, both by the Senate and the House and by the Governor.

Most of you who were here probably recall the controversy that resulted at that time. Those of us on this side who worked so hard for the bill seemed to think that it was about the most equitable and just apportionment which would prevent the election of a Congressman-at-large in Pennsylvania.

On the contrary, the draftsman of Senate Bill 272, so far as it affects the city of Philadelphia virtually rips out two congressmen who have given their all for the war effort, men who have been in the halls of Congress for five terms and four terms respectively, and at the same time they do nothing about the eighteenth district which in 1941 and which will again be known as the Shoestring District, which has a bare population of 215,000, and they do nothing about the so-called Horseshoe District in the northeastern part of the state, which will have a bare population of 215,000.

I recall full well the promises of the Governor in his campaign speeches and in his proposals to the legislature, that he desired an equitable apportionment. It seems to me that the draftsman of this bill and those who are trying to support it are double-crossing the Governor. It may be that there is an agreement between them that he has forgotten about the word "equitable", but it seems to me, Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, that we are not doing right by the people of Pennsylvania in so ripping out the Congressmen in Philadelphia and Allegheny Counties who have done so much for the war effort.

All of you are familiar with the situation in Washington today, where the balance of power lies between 10 and 15 votes. The proponents, of this bill, it seems to me, are deliberately trying to embarrass the President of the United States in his support of the war effort, and would try to make it difficult to make an enduring peace that will follow this war.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, I ask you to support my amendments to this bill.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I happen to have been a member of the committee which studied the problem of congressional reapportionment in 1941. The bill which was introduced on this side of the House provided that one congressman was to be taken from the city of Philadelphia. Let me say, please, that we sat for long, tedious hours with the Members on the other side of the House and Members of the opposing party from the Senate, and on at least seven different occasions we offered alternate plans in order to solve the problem. I can say to you that the problems was solved on two or three occasions, but word came from Washington that the plans did not have the approval of the gentlemen in power down there.

All the bill does in its present form is to change the city of Philadelphia and Allegheny County. Every newspaper in the city of Pittsburgh, the Civic Club of Allegheny County, the Allegheny County League of Women Voters and persons who are in favor of civic decency are in favor of the bill in its present form. Let me read to you an editorial which appeared in the Pittsburgh Press. Certainly that paper has never been over-zealous in its efforts to please the Republican party:

> Democratic legislators and politicians are seeing red over the proposed Republican congressional reapportionment bill.
>
> Democratic State Chairman David L. Lawrence charges it is a bill to "gerrymander Democrats out of Congress who voted with Roosevelt on the war program and replace them with Republican isolationists."
>
> It is nothing of the sort. Whatever the bill's defects, it hardly rates as an isolationist plot.
>
> This bill by no means is perfect, but it is a vast improvement over the present system, and a decided improvement over its original form, as introduced by Republican Floor Leader Weldon B. Heyburn.

It is better than the present arrangement because:

1—It eliminates the lection of a congressman-at-large.

2—It abandons the hybrid arrangement by which one section of Allegheny County is tagged onto Washington County.

3—It reduces the population range of the Allegheny County districts and makes them more compact.

4—It reduces the inordinately large district composed of Armstrong, Cambria, Indiana and Jefferson counties, with a population of nearly 430,000, as compared to a proper population ratio of 300,000.

* * *

The bill continues some present districts which fall far short of the established ratio of 300,000, and it leaves untouched a few districts which run well over the quota.

It probably can stand improvement even in Allegheny County. Two years ago Senator John M. Walker, who principally is responsible for the Allegheny County setup in the Heyburn bill, introduced a measure which balanced off the local districts even better than his present plan.

The Democrats claim the bill will eliminate Democratic congressmen from Allegheny County except in one district, Congressman Eberharter's, in which the registration lists show a Democratic majority of better than 2 to 1. But the Democrats also have a clear majority—on the registration books—in one other district and the figures virtually are a saw-off in the other three districts.

The best apportionment of congressional districts is an apportionment which gives both major parties as even a chance as possible. This bill, so far as four of the five proposed districts in Allegheny County is concerned, accomplishes that aim.

* * *

If the Democrats object to the bill, let them propose corrective amandments and let the Republican majority consider the amendments on their merits. But let's not kill the bill because of something we see under the bed.

As for gerrymandering, the present congressional arrangement, as it applies to Allegheny County, is well gerrymandered—in favor of the Democrats.

Perhaps that is why they hope to kill this bill.

I regret that the two gentlemen on the other side of the House who spoke in favor of these amendments saw fit to muddy the waters for cheap political purposes by insisting that this was an isolationist plot. If ever there was a time for unity that time is now. Such charges are made out of the whole cloth and have nothing whatever to back them up can only result in injuring the war effort. I say to you that this bill and its amendments should be discussed and considered on its merits. There should not be dragged into a controversy regarding a congressional reapportionment bill isolationism or an effort to hurt the President of the United States or any of those issues. This bill should be considered on its merits, the amendments should be considered on their merits, and I ask you to vote down these amendments.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, is the gentleman from Delaware aware of the population increase in Philadelphia County since the last census was taken?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Unfortunately congressional reapportionment is based on the population as shown by the last census, not by recent increase in population. I might say too, that that applies to Delaware County and a great many other counties. Unfortunately those things cannot under the Constitution be given any consideration whatever in arriving at proper reapportionment.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Is the gentleman aware that we have now four hundred thousand additional people in Philadelphia, and they will remain there for the duration of the war and possibly longer?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I have no way of determining whether that is correct, and I do not think that the gentleman from Philadelphia has any way of determining whether that is correct, but unfortunately for him the Constitution provides that reapportionment must be based on the census that is taken every ten years. Whether he likes it or not and whether I like it or not there is nothing we can do about it unless we vitiate the definite provision of the Constitution.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, if that is so, is it not true that in the last session the Legislature took that into consideration and passed a congressional reapportionment bill reapportioning the State?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Let me say to the gentleman that in 1942 every newspaper, every civic organization, every organization that believed in decent and orderly government was in favor of a reapportionment bill because they did not want a Congressman to be elected at large. Those people who resided in the rural sections, the outlying sections were fearful that the people in Philadelphia and Allegheny counties might gang up on them, and elect the entire delegation of thirty-three Congressmen and they not get any. For that reason the 1942 bill was passed. It was not a perfect bill or anywhere nearly perfect but that bill was rammed down the throats of the Republican party in order that the Republican party might prevent the election-at-large of the thirty-two Congressmen.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I listened with interest to the professions and desires on behalf of unity as expressed by the gentleman from Delaware, and yet I cannot help but remember that prior to Pearl Harbor the record of the Republican congressional group from Pennsylvania was one that should be condemned. Not one Republican congressman from Pennsylvania voted for any of the preparation measures that our President had asked for. I have been sitting here in this House since we started this session, and I am very sorry to say today that I am not proud of being a Member of the House this session.

The gentleman has talked about the necessity for unity and the necessity of backing up the war effort. We have listened to professions of unity in the House and yet the record in this House for unity has been such—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Montgomery will state his point of order.

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not speaking on the amendments. Will the gentleman please confine his remarks to the amendments to Section 1. The point of order is well taken.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, after listening to the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, discussing the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, I want to bring to the attention of the Members of the House certain points that he brought forth, and to answer them, so that the Members of the House can intelligently vote on these amendments, and Mr. Speaker—

Mr. CHARLES H. BRUNNER, Jr. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair has already ruled that the point of order is well taken. Will the gentleman please confine his remarks to the amendments to Section one of the bill?

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I think that the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate, are worthy of the consideration of every Member of this House. I was just trying to point out to the Members that we are now engaged in a great war, and as we sit here in these Legislative halls engaged in the most petty political—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please forget about the war. We are debating the question before the House, the amendments to section 1.

Mr. SAMUEL ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I want to call the attention of the Members of this House that in my humble opinion the bill to which Mr. Tate offered amendments is a bill which brings forth petty politics, creating contemptible politics which never should have been brought before us in this wartime session. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that all those who are interested in forwarding the war effort will forget petty politics and vote for Mr. Tate's amendments.

Mr. BENTLEY. One of the Speakers, Mr. Speaker, who preceded me said that he did not want to take the time of the House on this bill. As I said when I first arose, this is one of the most important bills to be considered by this House, and I do want to take up the time of the House. I feel there is nothing more important before us in this session. The Speaker has allowed a great deal of latitude, and without objection from this side of the House, I might say to Mr. Bretherick and his remarks on this bill. I propose to answer it, and if the gag is going to be put on me, it has been on me many times in this House, and I want the record to show it.

The SPEAKER. When a point of order is raised the Chair has no recourse but to rule on the point of order. The Chair has ruled that the point of order was well taken. Remarks must be confined to the question before the House, which is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelhia, Mr. Tate.

Mr. BENTLEY. I should like to answer the remarks of the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, which were addressed to those amendments. The gentleman stated in his remarks, and be quoted the newspapers that only two counties are involved in this bill, Allegheny and Philadelphia, that is the reapportionment bill. Senate Bill 272 in its unamended form raises the very serious question as to why the Republican party should offer as a reapportionment bill a bill referring only to two counties. If we are going to have a reapportionment and an an honest to goodness reapportionment let us reapportion the entire state, but that is not what this Senate Bill 272 does; it is what the amendments do.

Senate Bill 272 touches only the two large counties where there is a possibility of reapportioning Democratic Congressman out of Congress.

The gentleman also stated that all Pittsburgh papers were in favor of Senate Bill 272, and then he proceeded to read from the Pittsburgh Press an editorial in which it was very clearly stated that it was not a good bill, not a perfect bill, that there was room for improvement, and that is exactly what we are trying to do with these amendments. We were not afforded the opportunity to sit down as a minority party and give our story. Our only recourse is to come here now on the floor of this House and offer amendments and try to make an honest and just reapportionment bill. The record shows what happens to our efforts; they are voted down on party lines.

The gentleman also says that we muddied the waters when we dragged in isolationism and a united front for the war effort. Mr. Speaker, we didn't bring that in because we wanted to; it was thrown into our faces—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his point of order.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the amendments.

Mr. BENTLEY. I certainly am speaking on the amendments, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has tried to be fair and to allow as much latitude as possible. Will the Members of the House please cooperate?

Mr. BENTLEY. I will try to cooperate, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed and confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I take it that this applies to the amendments. We were taxed with the question why we do not offer a plan? Our amendments constitute our plan. I do not suppose that one vote will be swayed—I think the vote on these amendments, just as on the others, will go on party lines, but then let this record speak for itself as to whether this is a just and a fair reapportionment. It is not, it is a political partisan reapportionment bill.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman have a copy of Senate Bill 272?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Yes, I do, Mr. Speaker. If I don't, I can get it very easily.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. On page 1, section 1, Mr. Speaker, from line one to line eleven, would the gentleman mind reading that for us?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I prefer to have the gentleman read it to me, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. All right, I will. Section 1:

> "For the purpose of electing representatives of the people of Pennsylvania to serve in the House of > Representatives in the Congress of the United States this State shall be divided into thirty-three districts as follows

>
> The first district shall consist of the first second third fourth twenty-sixth thirtieth thirty-six thirty-ninth and forty-eighth wards of the city of Philadelphia and will have one Congressman.
>
> The second district shall consist of the twenty-seventh thirty-fourth fortieth forty-fourth forty-sixth fifty-first and fifty-second wards of the city of Philadelphia."

Can the gentleman tell me what the population is now in those districts?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman will permit me I will yield to the "old Senator" from Philadelphia, who can undoubtedly give you the population of the district inquired about.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Does the gentleman mean the Senator in here?

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, apparently the gentleman has—

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny as well as the gentleman from Delaware will please confine their remarks to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate. That is the only question before this House.

Mr. BRETHERICK. I certainly agree with that, Mr. Speaker. The gentleman wanted to interrogate me and there was no alternative but to answer the questions unless there was a ruling from the Chair, and there was not.

The SPEAKER. The Chair insists that only the question before the House may be debated.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Heatherington, Mr. Speaker, is attempting to show that under the Constitution there must be a certain number of people in the respective Congressional districts that the Congressman is elected from, and I know that that portion of the interrogation deals with the amendments and with the bill.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. The Chair has ruled that the point of order was well taken. The Chair has been trying to confine Members to the question before the House.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I asked the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, what the population was in the section of the bill on page one from line one to line eleven.

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to further interrogate the gentleman from Delaware?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Delaware Mr. Bretherick permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I again ask the gentleman if he can tell me what the population is in the district that I have just read out of Senate Bill 272?

Mr. BRETHERICK. I think, Mr. Speaker, I very plainly answered the gentleman that I did not know and would yield the floor to the "old Senator" from Philadelphia who will be able to give it to us.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to have it from the gentleman from Philadelphia if he desires to give me a rough idea of how many people are in that district.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I will, Mr. Speaker. We have at least fifteen Members from Philadelphia that he could pick from. If he wants to elect me as the one to battle with I can proceed. And if I am the victim I am willing to answer.

The SPEAKER. The Chair understands the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington, wishes to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus. Will the gentleman from Allegheny proceed.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, hear the section that I read to Mr. Bretherick out of Senate Bill 272?

Mr. SALUS. I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Could the gentleman give me a pretty good idea of the poulation in that district now?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, I can give the gentleman an idea so that he may understand the situation. Philadelphia is losing a Congressman and making no complaint as far as the Republican organization is concerned. Each of the seven districts is complying with the quota from the last census and has a population of over three hundred thousand each, and this particular district has over three hundred thousand according to the last census. What the exact number is, I cannot tell the gentleman.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. The bill provides

> "The first district shall consist of the first, second, third, fourth, twenty-sixth, thirtieth, thirty-sixth, thirty-ninth and fourty-eighth wards of the City of Philadelphia."

Can the gentleman tell me how many people live in that first section of Philadelphia?

Mr. SALUS. More than three hundred thousand, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Over three hundred thousand?

Mr. SALUS. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. The bill provides,

> "The second district shall consist of the twenty-seventh, thirty-fourth, fortieth, forty-fourth, forty-sixth, fifty-first and fifty-second wards of the City of Philadelphia."

Can the gentleman give me an idea of the population of that district?

Mr. SALUS. That district is larger than the others and is considerably over three hundred thousand.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Would the gentleman say four hundred thousand?

Mr. SALUS. There might be four hundred thousand, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Would the gentleman say five hundred thousand?

Mr. SALUS. No, there are not five hundred thousand persons there; there is no five hundred thousand district in Philadelphia.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. The third district shall consist of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, thirty-first and forty-fifth wards of the City of Philadelphia and will have one Congressman.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate:

> "The third district shall consist of the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, thirty-first, thirty-seventh and forty-fifth wards of the City of Philadelphia and will have one Congressman."

The Chair insists that the gentleman confine his remarks and his interrogation to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, I am trying to find out here the population in Senate Bill 272 as it is and the population in the district if the amendments are accepted.

The SPEAKER. The only question before this House is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. "The third district shall consist of the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth—" is that what you read, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. Exactly, the amendments of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Does that pertain to the bill on page 2, Mr. Speaker, the third district? Are the amendments going to change the bill on page 2, or page 1?

The SPEAKER. The amendments have been read by the clerk for the information of the House. The Chair does not desire to again read the amendments. The Chair only insists that the gentleman confine his remarks to the question.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. And the question is on the third district of the city of Philadelphia on page 2, and the amendments, is that correct?

The SPEAKER. The consideration of the amendments is the only question before the House.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, if the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate, are those portions of the bill on which the gentleman is asking the questions, is the gentleman not in order?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, that he has no recourse other than to enforce the rules of the House. The only question before this House is on the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tate.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the ruling of the Chair forbid asking questions on amendments that affect the original bill, on the third district?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would again state that the only recourse the Chair has is to endeavor to have each Member to confine his remarks to the question before the House. The Chair is trying to do that. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Heatherington, has the floor.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, on your ruling, I am trying to find out the difference in the population between Senate Bill 272 as it is and after it is amended. Now, am I right or am I wrong in that?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman wish to further interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia?

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I do, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, on page 2 of Senate Bill 272, the amendments are changing the third district. The third district as it is without the amendments reads:

> "The third district shall consist of the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth, tenth, eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, fifteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, thirty-first and forty-fifth wards of the city of Philadelphia."

Can the gentleman give me an idea of what the population would be in there?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, in the reapportionment I think six of the districts are over three hundred thousand population, and one district is in the neighborhood of about two hundred ninety-five thousand. The wards that the gentleman mentioned, the majority of them are small wards, and that is the reason there is such a large number of wards in the one district.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, that would put you about eight hundred thousand in this district.

Mr. SALUS. That will not put you three hundred fifty thousand in the district. They are most of them small wards, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Now, Mr. Speaker, as the bill would be amended it reads:

> "The third district shall consist of the eleventh, twelfth, thirteenth, fourteenth, sixteenth, seventeenth, eighteenth, nineteenth, twentieth, twenty-fifth, thirty-first, thirty-sventh and forty-fifth wards of the city of Philadelphia and will have one congressman."

Could the gentleman give me an idea under these amendments how many people would be in that district?

Mr. SALUS. The only addition there, Mr. Speaker, I think is the thirty-seventh ward, and I still think there is no district in the redistricting that will have over three hundred fifty thousand votes. In other words, as I understand it, they have tried to keep within the Constitutional provision of three hundred thousand votes on the last compilation of the voters in Philadelphia.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. That will put three hundred thousand approximately in the third district, is that right?

Mr. SALUS. Yes, just a few short of three hundred thousand. When they divided them up there was one district that was a little short of the three hundred thousand.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. The fourth district, on page two, which they are amending or trying to amend reads:

> "The fourth district shall consist of the twenty-fourth, twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth, thirty-second, thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and forty-seventh wards of the City of Philadelphia."

That would run approximately three hundred thousand, would it not?

Mr. SALUS. Over, Mr. Speaker, but not much over.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Under the amendments

> "The fourth district shall consist of the fifteenth, twenty-eighth, twenty-ninth, thirty-second, thirty-eighth and forty-seventh wards of the City of Philadelphia and will have one Congressman."

Would the population stay about the same in that, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. SALUS. No, that will be a little bit larger than the other one.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. With the amendments in, it will make the population larger, is that correct?

Mr. SALUS. There is no change in population in any congressional district in the amendment, and the reason Philadelphia has lost one Congressman is because of the fact that there aren't sufficient residents in the City of Philadelphia for them to have eight Congressmen.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. The amendments provide

> "The fifth district shall consist of the twenty-third, thirty-third, thirty-fifth, forty-first and forty-third wards of the City of Philadelphia."

That will be around three hundred thousand, is that correct?

Mr. SALUS. That will be over three hundred thousand, Mr. Speaker. That is a large district.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Would the gentleman say about three hundred fifty thousand?

Mr. SALUS. I imagine so, Mr. Speaker. I cannot give the exact figure, because after all I cannot carry that in my mind, and I refuse to use my mind as a storage house of useless information.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. According to the amendment, Mr. Speaker:

> "The fifth district shall consist of the twenty-third, thirty-third, thirty-fifth, forty-first and forty-third wards of the City of Philadelphia and will have one Congressman."

Will that cut down the population or bring it up?

Mr. SALUS. The population will remain the same whether we have the amendments or not.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I am talking about this one district, Mr. Speaker. How many does the gentleman think would be in that district?

Mr. SALUS. Well, I would have to give the gentleman a guess or a statement that every district will have over three hundred thousand with the exception of one, and that will be only a little short of three hundred thousand. There are none of them that go over the limit. In other words those who framed this act tried to equalize the entire City of Philadelphia in order that there shall be proper apportionment in accordance with the population.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. Mr. Speaker, this large district shall consist of the twenty-first, twenty-second, forty-second, forty-fifth and fiftieth wards of the City of Philadelphia under the bill as it is now. And under the amendments the sixth district shall consist of the thirty-fourth, fortieth, forty-sixth, fifty-first and fifty-second wards of the City of Philadelphia and will have one Congressman. That would probably be a three hundred thousand district, is that right?

Mr. SALUS. I think it would, Mr. Speaker, but I do not think it is very much different from the present quota and that of the quota under the new bill. My belief is that there isn't very much difference.

Mr. HEATHERINGTON. I thank the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The SPEAKER declared the noes appeared to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, sixty-six Members having voted in the affirmative and one hundred nineteen in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, before the Chair announced the agreement to section 1, I had asked for recognition to offer an amendment to section 1, and I would request the Chair to accept the amendments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, that the Chair asked several times, even after the amendments were offered by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley, and the gentleman from Philadelphia Mr. Tate, whether there were further amendments to section 1, without receiving any response from the Members.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I was in the Hall of the House, and I had no means of knowing the private conversation between the Chair and the Minority Leader.

The Parliamentarian has informed me that the Minority Leader spoke of two sets of amendments. I also have a set of amendments that I regret now were not submitted to the Minority Floor Leader before debate on the floor but that was occasioned by the fact that they did not get over from the Legislative Reference Bureau in time, and also by the fact that they were printed with the wrong sponsor's name. So I would ask, Mr. Speaker, whether it would not be in order to ask unanimous consent of the House to withdraw the agreement to section 1 in order that we may consider my amendments?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may ask for unanimous consent of the House to offer his amendments. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the Chair to withdraw its decision as to agreeing to the first section of the bill?

Mr. MUIR. I object, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections and consent is not granted.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, is it not in order for the Speaker to recognize a Member of the House who has risen for that purpose prior to the agreement on a specific section, even though there might have been an agreement concerning the number of amendments to be offered?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no knowledge of any specific agreement. The Chair neither saw nor heard the Member at that time. Had he done so he would gladly have recognized him.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I then desire to inform the Chair that I had risen from my seat in ample time for the Speaker to recognize me, and that a vast number of gentlemen on the minority side of the House saw the action and have since told me that I was in ample time to be recognized.

I do fully recognize your embarrassment because you did probably have some word as to how many amendments were to be offered, and I understand that is the respect accorded to the Chair. I wish at this time to approve of such prearrangements, but, Mr. Speaker, I was without that knowledge, and I will ask the Speaker to inform the House to that effect, and ask if they will not reconsider their action and grant me the right to introduce these amendments at this time.

I might say, Mr. Speaker, before I close, that my amendments are in their entirety regarding the section of the bill we have considered, and I merely want to point out to the membership in particular the inequalities of the apportionment of my particular Congressional district. I feel that the people whom I represent would desire that I say that, and I certainly cannot do that on debate on section 2.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia a question. Did the gentleman hear the Chair on at least three different occasions where he asked whether there were any further amendments to section 1?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear the Chair, and I regret it. I might inform the Chair that I was probably in the rear of the House conferring with Mr. Tate of Philadelphia, who was in possession of my amendments, sent to him by mistake of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

I request that the agreement by which section 1 was agreed to be reconsidered.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has put that question to the House as to whether there were objections, and found objections.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lehigh Mr. Lichtenwalter.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, this side withdraws its objection, provided the gentleman from Philadelphia will not consume more than ten minutes time.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lehigh removes the objection providing the gentleman will confine himself to ten minutes. The Chair hears no further objection.

The Chair withdraws its decision by unanimous consent as to agreeing to the first section of the bill.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

The amendments offered by Mr. LEVY were read as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 4, by striking out the word "thirty-three" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "thirty-two".

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, in support of the amendments which I have just offered, I desire to interrogate the Majority Leader of the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh as to how the Republican party satisfies its own conscience when in the third district of Philadelphia it shuffles a population of 270,577 and calls it an inadequate population for one Congressman, and approves of the population as exemplified in the eighteenth congressional district in the Commonwealth, that which is represented, Mr. Speaker, incidentally by Congressman Simpson?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think under one of the previous interrogations, as far as the conscience of the Republican party is concerned, we as a party are willing to stand before the people of Pennsylvania as far as this particular bill is concerned, and we are willing to take the judgment of the people

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman from Lehigh as to whether or not he also subscribes to the words of one of the Republican proponents of the bill this afternoon when he said "This bill is fair?"

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Then do I assume, Mr. Speaker, that the Majority Leader feels it is fair for the district to have a population of 215,352 and be represented by one Congressman, and in another, because it merely has a population of 272,000 which is 60,000 more, that that is not sufficient and should be added to other wards in the City of Philadelphia?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Is the gentleman referring to his district within the City of Philadelphia?

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I am referring particularly to the third congressional district in Philadelphia, represented by Congressman Bradley and the eighteenth congressional district, represented by Congressman Simpson.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I do not say that those particular districts are contiguous. Under the provisions of the Constitution I certainly feel that the bill as drawn is fair, and I will agree with the former speaker.

Mr. LEVY. Might I inquire of the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker, as to what the new Pennsylvania ratio for Congressmen will be under the new bill. For the benefit of the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Speaker, I repeat, does the Majority Leader know the new Pennsylvania ratio under which each Congressman is to be elected in Senate Bill 272, Printer's No. 245?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. The ratio, I believe, Mr. Speaker, is three hundred thousand.

Mr. LEVY. Then, Mr. Speaker, I further inquire of the gentleman, if the new ratio is three hundred thousand, why does the eighteenth congressional district preserve its equality with the population to the tune of 215,000.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Because, Mr. Speaker, I do not believe that any congressional reapportionment bill or any apportionment can be drawn that is going to be satisfactory to everyone, or that any population can be made exactly to meet the ratio.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, then does the Majority Leader not infer that we could satisfy at this time the Republican Congressmen in Pennsylvania, and leave the Democratic Congressmen to what may befall them?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I figure, Mr. Speaker, that that would be entirely up to the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LEVY. I desire to further interrogate. Would the gentleman kindly explain to the Members of the House why congressional district fifteen has a total population in this bill of 212,979 and the third congressional district in Philadelphia over 347,000?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe I answered that in the former question when the gentleman brought in the eighteenth congressional district in Philadelphia. There cannot be any comparison, because the districts are not contiguous.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, then I finally ask the gentleman from Lehigh, is this the Republican party's sense of fairness in congressional reapportionment?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that certainly it is the Republican party's bill, and as far as we are concerned it is strictly a fair one.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

Apparently through interrogation of the Majority Leader the true light of Republican fairness relative to congressional reapportionment is now before the House. In one breath the Republican defenders say "This bill is a fair one," and in another breath they say "It is the best that can be expected." Why? Because it satisfies the Republican party of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, some time ago I told the Members of the House that there was a certain clique in the United States today that wanted to win the war without England. I said further, Mr. Speaker, that there was a certain clique in the United States that wanted to win the war without Russia, and I said finally that there is a definite political party in the United States that want to win the war without the President of the United States.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Somerset will state his point of order.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is certainly not speaking on the subject, and I want to warn him he is about thirty seconds off the limit of his time.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman from Philadelphia well knows he is not speaking on the amendment.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I want to tell the gentleman from Somerset that he has now consumed three and a half minutes of my time.

The SPEAKER. He has not. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I charge again that the presence of Senate Bill 272 on the calendar today is living testimony to the fact that the Republican party hates Roosevelt at any cost.

The SPEAKER. The Chair wants to be tolerant, but insists that the gentleman confine his remarks to the amendments.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I believe you gave the gentleman from Philadelphia ten minutes in which to speak. The ten minutes, I have clocked him very carefully, are now up.

The SPEAKER. The Chair has endeavored to fulfill that requirement, but the gentleman from Philadelphia predicated his remarks by requesting to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FLEMING. In the first instance, Mr. Speaker, I was with the gentleman who objected to Mr. Levy offering amendments. I withdrew my objections on the basis that he would only consume ten minutes. He has consumed that ten minutes. He didn't see fit to quit, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I now move the previous question.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will yield. The Chair will be guided only by the record of the Official Reporter of this House. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny—

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Blair will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, is not a motion to move the previous question always in order?

The SPEAKER. The motion has not been seconded.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, a point of inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The House, as well as the Chair, has committed itself to ten minutes time to the gentleman from Philadelphia. It is only fair to permit him to have those ten minutes.

Mr. AUKER. In answer to my point of inquiry, Mr. Speaker, this side of the House agreed to give the gentleman from Philadelphia ten minutes. He has consumed those ten minutes, and the previous question was moved from this side of the House. I would like to know whether or not that was all recorded.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will be guided only by the record of the Official Reporter of this House as to the time. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. LEVY. Always very earnestly in agreement with my Republican colleagues, I would make a suggestion, Mr. Speaker, that tomorrow the Speaker make arrangements with the men in charge to have installed in the House once again the air conditioning system, so that the Republican membership might not get too uneasy at my remarks. I will at this time yield until tomorrow on third reading when I ask the Chair to kindly give me an hour and ten minutes.

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time in support of the amendments submitted by Mr. Levy to Senate Bill 272. These amendments represent a slight adjustment to the bill which was passed by both the House and Senate and signed by the Governor in the Special Session of 1942.

In fairness to my colleagues on the special interim committee that considered Congressional apportionment, I would like to say that each and every one of those ten members gave very serious consideration to the question of Congressional apportionment which was so necessary for the state of Pennsylvania at that time.

The Minority Floor Leader has suggested to me that perhaps I was being unfair because of the agreement with the other side, but I ask the indulgence of the House for just a minute or so in order that I can refer to the situation which developed at the time we considered congressional apportionment in the special interim committee of 1942. After this committee was appointed the Members sat for many deliberations all through the month of November, 1941 and the early part of December, 1941.

On December 10th, just three days after the doom of Pearl Harbor the Members came to the meeting, most of them were shocked and crestfallen with the tragedy that had struck us, and each and every one of them, without any equivocation said "Gentlemen, we must forget politics. Let us compromise on this situation. Let each party drop a Congressman and elect one at large."

It was no time before the members of that Committee agreed to this very fair arrangement. Now, Mr. Speaker, I insist that if the situation which resolves itself around this present war caused a compromise at that particular time, I cannot understand why the gentleman on the other side must go ahead and change the situation all around, undoubtedly to their advantage. During this session we have had many bills which affected one class or another which permitted an aleviation of a condition because of the war, and others for which they asked that the status quo remain. I appeal to the members on the other side and say in fairness to your colleagues who sat on that Committee that you too should give serious consideration to the work of that Committee and to their attitude in respect to congressional reapportionment. They full well knew the condition at that time, and the condition has not changed today.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the members to vote in favor of the amendments of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Muir, David P. Reese, Jr., Taylor, Van Allsburg, Boorse, Norman Wood, Stonier, Auker, James, Fleming, Cordier, Kline, Cook, Depuy, Helm, Kowalski, Nowak, Flack, Livingstone, Hoopes, Miller and others,

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lancaster will state his question of information.

Mr. ALSPACH. Am I to understand, Mr. Speaker, that the Speaker stated that those voting "aye" were voting for the main question?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COHEN. A point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until the Chair can answer the gentleman from Lancaster?

Mr. COHEN. I rise to a point of order, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. COHEN. There is nothing in order but the calling of the roll, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. That is correct. The Chair however is trying to inform the gentleman on what he is voting. The question before this House is: Shall the main question be now put?

Mr. ALSPACH. I ask that the roll be called from the beginning.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, just previous to the motion just voted on, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Schuster, stood in his place and was about to ask that the roll be called on the amendments. I am sorry that the other side took the opportunity for displaying, let us say, bad manners at that time, but we are all pretty tired and pretty exhausted, and moved the previous question.

I now make the request that the gentleman from Allegheny was about to ask, that the roll be called.

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

BILLS PASSED OVER

There being no objection, Senate Bill No. 313, Printer's No. 138 and Senate Bill No. 472, Printer's No. 238, were passed over at the request of the SPEAKER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 211, entitled:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Messrs. GARBER and KOWALSKI.
RESOLUTION No. 63.

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1943.

Whereas, The Commonwealth now operates and maintains ten medical and surgical hospitals located in Ashland, Blossburg, Coaldale, Connellsville, Hazleton, Shenandoah, Nanticoke, Philipsburg, Scranton and Shamokin which were established primarily for the care and treatment of injured coal miners; and

Whereas, Such hospitals perform a particularly valuable function since the occupation of coal mining is unusually dangerous in nature and results in a proportionately high number of serious injuries; and

Whereas, Said hospitals are, in addition, of great general benefit in the communities wherein they are located, for they make available medical and surgical treatment to many persons in addition to coal miners; and

Whereas, Under Senate Bill No. 376, which has been introduced in the Senate at the present session of the General Assembly, preliminary steps would be taken toward discontinuing State operation of these hospitals and disposing of them to political subdivisions or municipal authorities; and

Whereas, The discontinuance of State operation of these hospitals may mean either the impairment of their service or their entire abandonment to the great detriment of the areas which they have been serving; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives disapproves the plans now contemplated whereby bids for these State hospitals would be solicited from political subdivisions or municipal authorities, with the end in view that said hospitals will eventually be sold to such political subdivisions or municipal authorities and their operation by the State discontinued.

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE

An Act to amend section four of the act of one thousand seven hundred five (1 Smith's Laws 25) entitled "An act to restrain people from labour on the first day of the week" by authorizing the service or execution on Sunday of certain warrants and other instruments in cases of misdemeanors involving gambling

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETTIT. Mr. Speaker, this bill was defeated on previous occasion on this floor. That vote, as you know was taken late at night, and a large number of member failed to vote. I do not believe it was the intention purposely to ignore this bill. This bill causes only one issue and that is the issue between right and wrong legislation A great many of the judges of the state of Pennsylvani have expressed their opinion that the passage of this bil would be a step in the right direction. Also a number o district attorneys have expressed an opinion agreeable t its passage, stating that it would greatly aid their work Surely this bill should be considered by the Members o this House, therefore I respectfully ask your earnest consideration of this measure, and ask you to vote on the affirmative side.

Mr. WRIGHT. Mr. Speaker, I want to say what others later on may say and better, but I feel that what little I have to say relative to Sabbath Desecration should be said now.

It is a common remark nowadays that the city is democracy's greatest problem. Currently with tremendous news of the war, we read tales of uncovered graft and racketeering in certain great municipalities.

Sunday Arrests: From Lancaster Intelligencer, reprinted by the Harrisburg Patriot, April 10, 1943.

> Lawmakers and their vagaries are many, but the worst of these bobbed up this week at Harrisburg when the House of the Legislature voted down a bill to allow vested police authorities to serve warrants for gambling on Sunday.

The contrast is striking. On the one hand is a life and death struggle to defend the Nation; and on the other hand we seem almost wholly blind to the simple truth that the war may be lost on the moral. A nation's morale is dependent upon its peoples' morals.

Political corruption may be a matter of indifference to citizens blindly engrossed in pursuit of their own commercial interests; but, they are not a matter of law and morals. Man cannot escape mass dealings with eternal justice.

Let no person delude himself into the belief that while money making and pleasure seeking are real, the quest of godliness is unreal. The pursuit of the good life is the most important objective in the world.

There is no greater blessing that can come to youth, than a spirit of reverence and a questioning of the spiritual and sacredness of the Sabbath day.

Democracy and deep self-respect for the rights of others resulted from the orderly way of life.

The do without era, or self-denial for the sake of a cause, is really a cardinal principle of our christian democracy. It is not easy for our luxuriant generation to sacrifice a principle, as the war is now compelling them to do. Nobody ever attained the heights of life until they have learned to subordinate a desire for a duty.

Members of this body, along with editors and teachers should be the watchman on the walls, who should cry out against the insiduous undermining of our moral strength.

In the many bills proposed there is not named a single cultural objective. Do streets, movies, commercialized sports, make up the community?

There is no mention of the churches, schools, libraries, music, or any other intellectual organizations that enters into the worthwhile life of the people.

We are laying hold of the fundamental truth that life to be glorious and triumphant, must be sacrifical. Man comes to his height to endure and do, for some objective outside of himself.

We must recognize that the war has radically changed the conditions under which we all live. The habits, the practices, the easy going manner of living, that existed before the war, no longer exists today.

In the minds of the foundling fathers, true religion and exalted patriotism were blended. Patriotic devotion had its source in the divine commands. Duty to the nation came to its complete fulfillment in the fidelity to God.

What is more important to observe is the fact that there is a Sabbath law operative in man. The Sabbath day well protected, promotes the work of the church in training youth for good citizenship and the respect for parents; it teaches obedience to law; and it promotes honesty, courage and other virtues.

All progress whether social, ethical, religious or political is constantly moving forward upon the marching feet of our young people.

Interference with religious culture and disrespect for the Sabbath day results in the increase of crime.

What God does for man, in our human world, He does in and through man. But in extraordinary times like these, does He not step in and take the initiative, in order to save the situation? It looks to us as we read history, that we have to think so, in view of the facts. Sometimes He intervenes in nature; sometimes in human nature.

At the battle of Tours He kept Europe from becoming Mohammedan. Just as in 1588 a storm wrecked the Spanish Armada, and saved England. In 1914 when the Germans were in sight of Paris, for forty-seven hours they stopped firing their cannon. Why? Again at Ypres, when they first used poison gas, the wind suddenly changed, and blew the gas back in their faces. Why?

History is full of such examples. Why the death of Stonewall Jackson when he was most needed, and why the arrival of the Monitor at the critical moment in the waters at Hampton Roads? Why? The sea gull alighting on the head of Eddie Rickenbacker when afloat in the ocean, assuring him that all's well?

Why wars, dust storms, floods and such appalling disasters as we are having, one after an other? Why indeed, if it is not a rebuke of our crass, materialistic life, our obsessive, possessive greed.

The Sabbath made for mankind is valid today. It is divine in origin; beneficent in design; and universal in application.

The Christian Sabbath law was ordained by God in creation; confirmed in the Ten Commandments; interpreted by Christ's examples in teaching. For who is wiser than God, who decreed that man should have some rest and time to sense the holy glory of this life. It is not what happens around us that makes life rich, full and exciting; it is what happens within us and thus makes us aware of our obligations to the present and future communities.

Those groups who are trying in a material way to commercialize and desecrate the Sabbath law, might just as well try to sweep back the tides of the sea, or stop the ocean waves. It is God's unchangeable law. The Sabbath is a holy day, a rest day, a glad day, a day for looking up and lifting up. The keeping of the Sabbath is a sacred right, because it is a part of the eternal order.

In recognition of God's sovereignty and man's necessity, it is not only the duty of all men to keep the day holy, but to defend it against the selfish attacks of its enemies and to save it from compromises which undermine its sanctity.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House. At the point of Sabbath keeping, our Christian civilization has been breaking down. We have got to be brave enough to face up to this ugly truth.

Within a generation, the movement for Sabbath desecration has grown to be a flood. Home usages of Sabbath keeping have lapsed. Sunday comics have become the food for myriads. A poor substitute for christian training or clean living. Sports, movies, theatres, have been widely substituted for the old usages of worship and training in our American way of life.

In ordinary times, the adding of one more evil on the Sabbath desecration because of others is unwise business at best, but when the nation is in the midst of its most critical period, it is perilous in the extreme.

It is time to be alarmed. To loose the christian Sabbath from our common life is to threaten society physically, morally, mentally, and spiritually. This honorable group of legislators should give serious consideration to this condition in which we have drifted.

A securalized Sunday means a securalized civilization, and that is what our boys in the front lines are fighting and dying to prevent. Sunday is a holy day, but not as holy as man, for man was created in God's own image, and Sunday was made for man. Why then should individuals seek to defile, desecrate and undo that which God in his omnipotences did for man's need, instituted a rest day. Surely it is vain for man to even suppose that such a God given law can be annulled even temporarily. Sunday rest is essential to the health, efficiency and endurance of man.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, may I respectfully ask that you support House Bill No. 610.

Mr. HEWITT. Mr. Speaker, I want to make a short statement in support of House Bill 610. Last week I talked to a man in this city who is a plain clothes operator, and an operator I might say whom I have known for many years. He tells me that in this city and many of the larger cities in the state the gamblers move their slot machines into their gambling places at twelve o'clock Saturday night and remove them by twelve o'clock Sunday night. At these places they entertain soldiers and young girls, and the gamblers in fact live on the vice that goes on on Sunday for the other six days of the week. This man, who as I say has had much experience and is trustworthy, was very anxious that this bill should pass in order to give them permission to break into a place like that on the Sabbath day.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Baker, Pettit and Cullen requested a verification of the roll.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ERB. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Motor Vehicles for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 663, entitled:

An Act to further amend Section 2 to amend Sections 3 5 and 7 to add Section 8.1 and to amend Section 11 of the act approved the twenty-first day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 626) entitled "An act providing for and regulating the assessment and valuation of all subjects of taxation in counties of the second class creating and prescribing the powers and duties of a Board of Property Assessment Appeals and Review imposing duties on certain county and city officers abolishing the board for the assessment and revision of taxes in such counties and prescribing penalties" by reducing the number and changing the manner of appointment of members of said board further prescribing their powers and duties fixing the qualifications and requiring examinations of employes of the board further regulating the making of assessments and valuations of real property and imposing duties on certain county officers and on judges of the court of common pleas

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask leave to interrogate the sponsor of this bill, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HANNON. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker, if House Bill 663 changes the number and manner of appointment of assessors of real estate in counties of the second class.

Mr. HANNON. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would further ask the gentleman if the bill defines the powers and duties of such assessors?

Mr. HANNON. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. And does the bill also define the qualifications of assessors in counties of the second class?

Mr. HANNON. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does it provide for examinations for such assessors and members of the board?

Mr. HANNON. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. And it also sets up a manner and a system for making assessments and valuations of real estate in counties of the second class?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the sponsor of the bill, if he has it before him, to refer to section 2 on page 2 of the bill, and I would ask the gentleman if it is not provided in that section that the new board shall consist of three members, changing the old law from seven.

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does the bill set up any qualifications as to being real estate men for such members of the board, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HANNON. It does, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Is it not a fact, Mr. Speaker, that the three members of the board shall all be real estate men of not less than ten years' practical experience?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would then ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not the board of county assessors for cities of the second class does not also have the duties of making assessments of personal property as distinguished from real estate?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does the gentleman anywhere in his bill provide for a person qualified to make personal property assessments?

Mr. HANNON. There is no provision in this bill, Mr. Speaker, for the reason that the matter of evaluating personal property is already determined by the value set on stocks, bonds, and mortgages on the face of the stocks, bonds and mortgages, which do not require any such qualification.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would further ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether he does not provide in section 2 on page 3 of his bill for the manner of appointment of the board of assessors in counties of the second class?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. And am I correct, Mr. Speaker, in stating that the board of property assessors in counties of the second class under this bill shall be appointed, one by the judge of the Court of Common Pleas, one by the county commissioners, and one by the county commissioners on the nomination of the city council of cities of the second class?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would further ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether or not real estate within cities of the second class is not assessed by this board of property assessors?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would then ask the gentlemen, Mr. Speaker, why he gives to the council of cities of the first class alone the power of nomination and not the power of appointment, since cities of the second class are concerned?

Mr. HANNON. I took that up with the Legislative Reference Bureau, and they told me that that is the proper way and it is the only Constitutional way to word that particular section.

Mr. BENTLEY. Would the gentleman then say that an appointment by the mayor of a city of the second class would be unconstitutional?

Mr. HANNON. I am not saying it is or is not unconstitutional. What I say is this, that I took the matter up with the Legislative Reference Bureau. We worded it and reworded it and finally had it just as it now appears in the bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would then ask the gentleman to refer to page 4 of the bill and ask him for what length of term the three-member Board of Property Assessors provided for in his bill are to be appointed, and when the effective dates of their appointment are to be made?

Mr. HANNON. The new board of three members shall be appointed immediately, one of the members to serve for a period of six years, one to serve for a period of five years, and one to serve for a period of four years.

Mr. BENTLEY. And what is the effective date of those appointments?

Mr. HANNON. The effective date of those appointments depends on when and if the present board is removed. Otherwise the effective date would be at the expiration of the term of the present board.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does not the divided period of terms of appointment, of six, five and four years apply only in case the present board is removed?

Mr. HANNON. Six, five, four years applies.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would then ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, which one of the three appointing heads shall appoint which member to a six year period, which of the three heads shall appoint them to a five year period and which member shall appoint for a four year period?

Mr. HANNON. That is more of less a catch question that I expected. It seems to me where we have a body of men such as the Court of Common Pleas, the City Council, and the Board of County Commissioners, receiving salaries of fifteen thousand dollars a year, they should be capable of determining which one of these men is qualified to serve for six years, which for five years and which for four.

Mr. BENTLEY. I suggest to the gentleman that the Common Pleas Court, the County Commissioners, and the City Council of the City of Pittsburgh will have to operate under the terms of this act, and I would ask him to refer me to that section or that clause of the act in which it is provided as to which body shall appoint for the six year term, which for the five and which for the four year period.

Mr. HANNON. That is not covered in the act and I do not think it is necessary that it be covered in the act, and that again was discussed with the Legislature Reference

Bureau. They felt that the best thing to do in this section was to let them get together there in Pittsburgh and let them decide who should be appointed for a six, a five, and a four year period.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would further ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether the members of the board may be of the same political party.

Mr. HANNON. Under this bill one of the three members must be of a political party different from the other two.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman then state for the information of the House which of the three appointing heads will appoint the minority member and which of the three appointing heads will appoint the majority members?

Mr. HANNON. Again, Mr. Speaker, it seems to me that we are making a mountain out of a mole hill. That too was referred to the Legislative Reference Bureau, and we were advised that that wording sufficiently covers who appoints the minority and the majority members of the board.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman agree that it is possible under this bill, Mr. Speaker, that the three heads of appointing power may not be able to agree on who shall be the minority member?

Mr. HANNON. I cannot possibly realize, as I said before, that educated men receiving salaries of fifteen thousand dollars would not be able to get together and appoint a board of three members.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would refer the gentleman to page 6 of his bill, subsection (f), and I would ask the gentleman under that section who has the power of dismissal of members of the Board of Property Assessment in counties of the second class?

Mr. HANNON. Under this section, Mr. Speaker, the appointing power is the dismissing power.

Mr. BENTLEY. Did the gentleman say, Mr. Speaker, that the appointing power has the power of dismissal?

Mr. HANNON. Yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman refer me to the section or the clause in that section which so provides, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. HANNON. All you have to do, Mr. Speaker, is to read section (f). The gentleman as an educated lawyer certainly could read from that section as to who has the appointing power.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I shall then read for the House and for the gentleman the last sentence in clause (f), "The charges against the board members shall be made known at the meeting and it shall require a vote of two members of the committee to discharge a member of the board." I would ask the gentleman what committee is referred to when it is provided that it shall require a vote of two members of that committee to discharge?

Mr. HANNON. I will refer the distinguished gentleman from Allegheny County, Mr. Speaker, to section (f). Just reading the last two lines of any paragraph or any clause does not give the whole story. The thing should be read as a whole.

Mr. BENTLEY. Then with you indulgence, Mr. Speaker, I will read clause (f):

> "No board member shall be discharged for political reasons, and no board member shall be discharged until after a public hearing before a joint meeting of a committee to be composed of one judge of the Court of Common Pleas of the county to be designated by the president judge, one county commissioner to be chosen by the Board of County Commissioners, and one person to be appointed by the county commissioners upon the nomination of the council or councils of the city or cities of the second class within the county if such there be. The charges against the board member shall be made known at the meeting, and it shall require a vote of two members of the committee to discharge a member of the board."

I would ask the gentleman if in the light of that he can still say that this committee is the appointing power as it is the dismissing power?

Mr. HANNON. Very definitely, Mr. Speaker, it seems to me to be covered in that section. In the first place, Court of Common Pleas would select a member from that branch. The Board of County Commissioners would select one member, and the Board of County Commissioners on the nomination of city council would select another. When it comes to discharging any one or all of these three members we have again a committee comprised of a representative of the Common Pleas judges, one of the county commissioners and a member of city council. Certainly the gentleman can readily see that the power of dismissal is in the hands of the same body that has the power of appointment, and I think that is very good home rule.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean to say that the president judge, who is by this bill made a member of the committee, is the same person as the judges, fifteen of them, in the Court of Common Pleas?

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, it is the same old idea of making a mountain out of a mole hill. This thing was thoroughly discussed over at the Legislative Reference Bureau, and if we say the same judge who makes the appointment will have to dismiss any members of the board, should the event arise that that judge would not be living at the time, that is the reason the Legislative Reference Bureau worded it in this way, and that is the best way.

Mr. BENTLEY. I agree with the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, that if the same judge made the appointment and the same judge made the dismissal it would conform with Article VI, Section 4 of the Constitution, which provides that the appointing power shall also be the dismissing power, but how does the gentleman in the face of specific language say that the judges, all of them, shall have the appointing power, and the president judge shall be one member of the committee which has the dismissing power? I just can't follow it. I would ask the gentleman too, if in this bill the same person is required to be nominated by councils of the cities of the second class as a member of this committee who is nominated by councils of cities of the second class as a member of the board?

Mr. HANNON. I do not understand that question at all.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman agree with me that the council of the city of Pittsburgh under this bill has the right to nominate a man, a member of the board?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does the gentleman say that the same man would necessarily be a member of the committee sitting as a board to fire or dismiss under his bill?

Mr. HANNON. If he is the same man; if he happens to be a member of council.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman agree that that might be a different person?

Mr. HANNON. Well, yes, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Then how can he say—

Mr. HANNON. It would still be city council. The three bodies would be the Court of Common Pleas, the County Commissioners and the city council. These three bodies made the appointment, and these three bodies of appointment through their representatives on the committee also would be the dismissing power.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would then refer the gentleman to section (g) on page 6 and ask him what provision is there for the Board of Property Assessment to meet with these appointing heads to discuss the correctness and equality of the assessments?

Mr. HANNON. In order to save time, Mr. Speaker, I will just read that section:

> "The members of the board shall meet with the Board of County Commissioners during the first week of March and the first week of November of each year for the purpose of discussing the operation of the assessment department, including a general check on the correctness and equality of assessments, the number of appeals, the total amount of assessment increase and decreases and to make criticisms, suggestions and recommendations to improve the accuracy, efficiency and procedure of the assessment department."

Mr. Speaker, I might say in all my contacts with this particular body, particularly within the last seven years, never once until possibly within the last few months has the Board of Appeals and Review appeared before the county commissioners. It is required under this bill, and it is an improvement.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, whether under his bill the gentleman does not provide that one member of the board shall be directly appointed by the county commissioners, and the other two appointing heads, the judges of the Court of Common Pleas and the nominee of the city council of the city of Pittsburgh?

Mr. HANNON. The county commissioners, as we all know, are held responsible for the conduct of most of these departments in the county. We felt and the Legislative Reference Bureau also felt that this assessment body, due to the fact that practically all of the revenue is derived from real estate, that this board should come under the direct jurisdiction of the county commissioners for their appointment.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman agree that the assessments of the city of Pittsburgh might be very seriously affected by this Board of Property Assessment and their assessors?

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, the only effect upon the future that this board will have, either within the city of Pittsburgh or outside the city of Pittsburgh, is to improve and correct the political adjustment and unequal assessment which now exists. That is exactly what I now do with this bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. I suggest, Mr. Speaker, that certainly the City of Pittsburgh is a member with equal standing with all other members. The real estate values within the City of Pittsburgh are certainly entitled to almost, if not entirely as much consideration as the values in the county outside of the City of Pittsburgh. Certainly it would seem that that member should have the right of consultation with the Board of Property Assessment just as the county Commissioners have.

Mr. HANNON. The City Council, Mr. Speaker, has representation on this same board, something that does not exist now. Under the present law the County Commissioners appoint the entire board. The City Council or the Mayor of Pittsburgh were unable to obtain from the Board of County Commissioners any statement whatever from the present board, so I think the gentleman from Allegheny will have to agree that we take care of the City of Pittsburgh in this bill much better than they did under the old law.

Mr. BENTLEY. I ask the gentleman then if on page eight of the bill, lines sixteen to twenty-four there is any provision made for publication of the questions to be submitted to employees of the Board after their examination has been taken.

Mr. HANNON. There is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Will the gentleman explain the validity of advertising the questions for examination after the examination has been taken?

Mr. HANNON. The reason we put this clause in the bill is this, we have found from experience that when politicians hold an examination for politicians, the questions they ask are so easy and so simple and so obvious that the politicians who take the examination cannot possibly fail. As a safeguard against such instances we require immediately upon the completion of the examinations that the questions asked shall be published.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman who is to prepare the questions that are to be submitted to applicants?

Mr. HANNON. Certainly I would expect the Board of Property Assessments, Appeals and Review to prepare the questions.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does the gentleman then not trust the Board of Assessment and Review that he is setting up in his bill?

Mr. HANNON. Trusting a Board, Mr. Speaker, is one thing, and having everything done one hundred per cent is another thing. I think the safeguards surrounding this Board in their work is for the benefit of what we are trying to do.

Mr. BENTLEY. Would the gentleman then not place some safeguards around the appointments that I have suggested in the previous question?

Mr. HANNON. There certainly is a safeguard in placing one in the hands of the Court of Common Pleas, one by the county commissioners and one by city council, I feel that you could hardly fail to get good representatives, very able men.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would then refer the gentleman to page seven of the bill and ask him if there is a provision included in there which uses the term "Which shall include the City of Pittsburgh"?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Is the gentleman familiar with Article III, Section 7 of the Constitution, which provides that there shall be no special or local legislation concerning cities, counties or other political subdivisions?

Mr. HANNON. Again that matter was discussed with the Legislative Reference Bureau. They worded it this way and they told me it is a constitutionally sound bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman if in any bill that he has seen in his tenure of office in the House, he has seen or heard the name of any city in such legislation?

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, I have read very few bills and I am not a lawyer, but I certainly feel that common horse sense and ordinary reasoning would convince anyone there is nothing wrong in mentioning the name of the city of Pittsburgh in this particular clause. Let me explain further. Under the old act of 1939 the Board of Assessments, Appeals and Review of Allegheny County were permitted to assess one third of the county each year after the creation of the regular triennial assessment. They have failed to do that, so we have corrected the old act to read now that instead of "They may assess one-third of the county each year" we say "shall assess one-third of the county each year" starting in 1944, and due to the fact, Mr. Speaker, that thousands and thousands of assessed valuations of the City of Pittsburgh were increased in 1943 without any notification whatsoever to taxpayers we feel that it is most important and necessary that Pittsburgh be assessed again next year. Consequently we include the City of Pittsburgh in the one-third of the county to be assessed.

Mr. BENTLEY. I have no quarrel with the gentleman's application of real estate assessments in the City of Pittsburgh. I am discussing the manner in which this legislation is drawn, Mr. Speaker. I ask if on page 2 and on page 3 of his bill he did not refer to cities of the second class rather than Pittsburgh, to which he here refers?

Mr. HANNON. That is true, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman then why he in those instances refers to cities of the second class, as a class, and in this case refers to the City of Pittsburgh by name?

Mr. HANNON. My answer to the gentleman is this, that the Legislative Reference Bureau thought it was the proper thing to do, but if Mr. Bentley, Assistant Solicitor of the city of Pittsburgh, if this bill passed here tonight and he wants to amend it, he can amend it over in the Senate to the extent that the Legislative Reference Bureau agrees that that is the thing to do, and I cerainly will not object to it.

Mr. BENTLEY. I might say in answer to that that I like constitutional legislation. I think that is the answer to it. I would ask the gentleman to refer to page 11, clause (b) and ask him if this is not the tenor of that clause, and I shall read it:

> "In assessing new buildings in the course of construction the structure shall not be considered a building until the structure is completed or ready for occupancy, and only a nominal assessment of one hundred dollars shall be carried on such structure until it is completed or ready for occupancy."

I would ask the gentleman if that section would make any difference between an edifice costing one hundred thousand dollars and a small home costing fifteen hundred dollars, in the amount of assessment that is to be carried on it until it is ready for occupancy?

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, that sounds like a very, very hard question, but in reality it is a very simple one. We have found as a result of study and years of experience that assessors in Allegheny County going out to assess buildings in the course of construction, were in the habit of assessing certain buildings which were being erected by men who were wrong politically; they would assess those buildings at what was the full value even before the building was completed, whereas in other cases where they happened to be friends of the right political party they carried assessments anywhere from one hundred dollars to two hundred or three hundred dollars, on precisely the same type of building. Now, we find that it certainly would be better if we should set a certain nominal valuation on any building in the course of construction because it actually has little or no market value until it is completed. Furthermore, we have referred to the Legislative Reference Bureau repeatedly as to its constitutionality, and they have definitely ruled that it is constitutional.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman, Mr. Speaker, if the buildings to which he refers in that section are places of religious worship, places of burial, not used or held for private or corporate profit, or institutions of purely public charity or real and personal property owned, occupied and used by any branch, post or camp of honorably discharged soldiers, sailors and marines, within the meaning of Article IX, Section 1 of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

Mr. HANNON. This clause is new buildings in course of construction.

Mr. BENTLEY. It applies to all new buildings, and not those which are exempted?

Mr. HANNON. Under the Constitution we have exemptions, of course. Under the act that is covered in the Act of 1939.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask if it conforms with that part of Article IX, Section 1 which provides

> "All taxes shall be uniform, upon the same class of subjects within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax, and shall be levied and collected under general laws"?

Mr. HANNON. It would be far more uniform, it seems to me, by placing a one hundred dollar assessment on all buildings in course of construction than they are now doing under the present law, under which they are assessed anywhere from fifty thousand dollars on one building in course of construction and another building of the same type exactly assessed at five hundred dollars. Certainly there is no uniformity there. Again I must remind the gentleman that the Legislative Reference Bureau has ruled that that clause is constitutional.

Mr. BENTLEY. Would the gentleman give the opinion to this House that it is uniform to place a one hundred dollar assessment on a building which will cost fifty thousand dollars, and which is not ready for occupancy, and would also place a one hundred dollar assessment on a small home not ready for occupancy and costing fifteen hundred dollars?

Mr. HANNON. The gentleman is making a very grave error in talking costs. Assessments are not based on costs, they are based on value. Again I say any building in course of construction, it is very hard to determine its value under the act. They would have greater uniformity by making this nominal assessment until the building is completed, and then it is assessed at its full market value.

Mr. BENTLEY. Would the gentleman say that if either one of those buildings would never be completed, the value would be the same?

Mr. HANNON. No, I wouldn't say that.

Mr. BENTLEY. Would the gentleman say the value would be one hundred dollars?

Mr. HANNON. It is hard to picture a building that would be incompleted for a long period of time before being ready for occupancy, and the Legislative Reference Bureau covered that subject by putting in the words "completed or ready for occupancy."

Mr. BENTLEY. I am not a real estate man, but I am familiar with one property, a large residence that was uncompleted for a number of years, and I refer to the Lovejoy Mansion. Would the gentleman say that in that case the value should be one hundred dollars?

Mr. HANNON. There is no law, Mr. Speaker, that has ever been written that covers every single individual case, and Mr. Bentley knows that a lot better than I do.

Mr. BENTLEY. In subsection (e), page 12, does not the gentleman provide in this bill:

> In any case where it is found that certain properties anywhere in the county are assessed glaringly higher than other properties of equal or higher market value are assessed in any other section or sections of the county, such inequality of assessments shall be sufficient reason for the dismissal of the members of the board from office, and upon reasonable proof of such inequalities it shall be the duty of the committee hereinbefore provided for such purpose to remove the members of the board from office within ninety days after proof of such inequalities—

Does that section of the bill so provide?

Mr. HANNON. That is right, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would ask the gentleman to state to the House how he defines the term "glaringly higher than other properties."

Mr. HANNON. The word glaring in this case has already been defined and proved to the sorrow of thousands of taxpayers in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. For instance, a committee appointed by the present board of county commissioners to investigate themselves, that is to investigate the county commissioners and their appointees, even they made the report the other day that they found land, thousands of lots in the city of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County, some assessed as low as thirty dollars a front foot while other lots of comparable value in poor sections of the city of Pittsburgh are assessed as high as two hundred dollars a front foot. I would say, Mr. Speaker, that certainly would be a glaring inequality.

Lest perhaps Mr. Bentley is not convinced as to whether we have other glaring inequalities I will read to him about four or five ordinary examples. Here we have a house in the eighth ward of the city of Pittsburgh which has an assessed valuation of $11,960. It sold for $6,000. Here we have another one, assessed value $13,500, sold for $7,000. Another one, assessed value $12,000, sold for $6,000. One more, assessed value of $11,000, sold for $7,500. Now these are certainly glaring inequalities.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I would further inquire of the gentleman whether he requires in the placing of assessments upon properties within counties of the second class,—whether or not he requires obsolescence and depreciation to be computed in the assessment?

Mr. HANNON. We do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Has the gentleman defined in his bill, the period for obsolescence?

Mr. HANNON. I didn't get that question, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BENTLEY. Does the gentleman define the term of obsolescence or depreciation in his bill?

Mr. HANNON. In this bill it is first provided that the members of the Board of Property Assessment, Appeals and Review shall have a minimum of ten years experience as an active real estate broker, and the assessors shall under this bill be required to take an examination to determine their fitness to assess and value real estate. Every real estate man and every appraiser knows very well what obsolescence and depreciation mean. It seems to me it should not be necessary to define these terms in this bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Is the gentleman familiar with the period of life permitted under the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the Federal government?

Mr. HANNON. I am very much familiar with it, but that would not apply at all in the case of assessment of property for this reason: one man can have a house actually ten years old, and another man can have another house that is about ten years old, and yet by reason of the fact of one man taking care of his house while the other man has a large family that abuse the house, the one house can have an effective age of five years while the other one has an effective age of fifteen years. Every real estate man and every appraiser understands that.

Mr. BENTLEY. I thank the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Speaker. Mr. Speaker, I have gone into this somewhat lengthy interrogation, and I shall accordingly cut short my remarks on the bill. I should like to inform the House, however, that the Act of 1939 which is now being amended was sponsored by a Republican. It is a Republican measure, passed at a time when the Republican party controlled the Governor, the Senate and the House. It is that act just now being sought to be amended, and I have gone into its intentions at some length in this interrogation because this is not a partisan matter. I would be one of the first to admit that the Act of 1939 needs many corrections. We have amended it in three particulars in bills which have passed this House. But this bill is certainly not any correction; this bill would create a hodge-podge, a mixup, a tower of Babel in the assessments of properties in counties of the second class that would make the present situation seem tame by comparison.

I have gone over the bill very carefully with the gentleman. I think no Member of this House can help but agree that it is very possible that under this bill as drawn there would be a stalemate on the appointment of property assessors, but the gentleman passes lightly over that. He says, of course ,these judges, these commissioners, this city council can get together and appoint three men, and in the next breath he talks about politicians playing politics. How could they possibly get together and appoint a minority member?

Every Member of the House must recognize that all three of them may not want to appoint three Republicans or three Democrats. This is a serious matter; this can disrupt the entire property assessment situation in the second largest county of this state, and here we find ourselves with a possibility of not having a property assessment board if this bill is enacted into law.

I pointed out three constitutional flaws in the bill. I do not have to belabor the point that it is ridiculous, it is untrue, it is impossible to say that a building in process of construction and not ready for occupancy shall be assessed at a value of one hundred dollars, and that the gentleman admitted, whether it cost one hundred thousand dollars or fifteen hundred dollars. On that basis alone the act should fall and will fall, and we will then find the city of Pittsburgh and the county of Allegheny without any assessment structure at all. That provision is directly in contravention of article 9, section 1 of the Constitution which provides for uniform taxation within the State, and no one can bring it within that provision.

I have pointed out to the gentleman another fatal clause in his bill. Many of the Members of this House have served for more sessions than I, and I believe they have never seen a city named in a bill, and yet we find that here. That is special and local legislation.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, is it permissible at this time to stop debate on this bill and recess this House until eleven-thirty, that we may hear the President's report on the war?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that the Chair is unable to decide that question. That is a question for the House to decide. The bill is before the House and the gentleman from Allegheny has the floor.

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall yield if that is the sense of the House, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. We are still considering House Bill 663, Printer's No. 444.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, since the gentleman from Allegheny has agreed to yield, is it in order that I make such a motion, that this House do now recess until eleven-thirty o'clock, that we may hear the President's radio address on the condition of the nation, the war?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, that that motion is not in order.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I was speaking on the provision prohibiting special and local legislation. I do not believe that any fair minded Member of this House can help but recognize that here is a section of the constitution contravened by this bill. Last week I pointed out beyond question that the bill in its present form violates Article VI, Section 4, which provides that the appointing power shall have the power of dismissal. How can it be said that this committee, composed very likely of members other than the Board of Assessment, shall be a board or a committee which shall discharge the members.

There is not one but three constitutional provisions violated by this bill. I submit that it is a very rare thing indeed which violates, not one provision of that instrument but violates three provisions of the Constitution.

The other inconsistency of the bill, I need not belabor the point again. The House is very familiar with it and I have only this to say, I have not gone into the merits of the bill at all, but I think the House should know that every newspaper in the city of Pittsburgh has pointed out that this is unnecessary and bad legislation.

I made the argument this afternoon that when newspapers of a city say that legislation is good and should be passed, that fact is offered to this House as a reaon for pasing a bill. I submit to the House that there we have the press of the great city of Pittsburgh and the county of Allegheny uniformly pointing its finger and saying that this is not good legislation, I think that is entitled to weight in this House.

One other thing that should be brought out and that is this, there has been in the city of Pittsburgh during the past several months an unbiased board of real estate experts examining the assessment situation in the county of Allegheny. Those gentlemen have come out with an honest-to-God report. They name names, they put the finger on flaws in the system, and they made a far more thorough and a far better study of this bill than could possibly be made by any single member of this House or by any group of Members, because those gentlemen are familiar with the situation in the county of Allegheny in the city of Pittsburgh, and by virtue of their profession they are experts. They have come out with a report, and it is on the basis of their report that the press of the county is uniformly against the bill. I might say further that the Real Estate Board of the city of Pittsburgh is against this bill.

It was said, Mr. Speaker, when this board was first appointed that it would be a whitewash board. I think even Mr. Hannon, the sponsor of the bill will now admit that it was no whitewash report that came from that committee. The commissioners had nothing to do with the appointment. They merely asked the head of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board, I believe I am right in this, and if I am wrong, I will stand corrected, to select his own committee. It was an impartial and non-political committee which passed on this. I say to every Member of this House that we are not dealing in pennies or dollars, but we are dealing in millions of dollars when we play around with the assessments in the county of Allegheny.

I think you must put aside any partisan feeling you may have because this is not a partisan bill. There can be one answer and only one, and that is we cannot afford by tinkering with such a bill as this to disrupt, disorganize and probably ruin the assessment system in Allegheny county, and I therefore ask every member of this House to defeat this bill.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, due to the lateness of the hour and due to the fact that several of my colleagues in addition to myself are going to make speeches on this bill, I now move you that this bill be put on the final passage postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I always like to oblige my colleagues from Allegheny county on either side of the House, but I have a very good recollection of another bill in which I was concerned, where after debate it was moved that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar.

The bill lay on the postponed calendar for several weeks and then was finally brought out when the membership had forgotten all about the bill. I think I have pointed out some very vital defects in this bill. I do not want it to lie in the minds of the Members and possibly be forgotten, and I would, therefore, object to the motion to put this bill on the postponed calendar.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 609, as follows:

The jurisdiction of the county court of Allegheny County conferred hereby shall be exclusive within the territorial limits of its jurisdiction

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, just a few brief remarks The minority is supporting this bill, but I should like to point out to the Members of the House that I think we ought to give it serious consideration, because the effect of this bill could possibly be if teachers are to be devoted to the teaching of American history at least one semester in each school year, probably not having enough history teachers, we ought to worry about getting more history teachers, in which case we should concern ourselves with which subject we may have to curtail if the war continues for a long period of time.

I merely point that out as a matter of record, that we should take this back to our home districts and arrive at some sort of a solution to this problem.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

SENATE

WEDNESDAY, April 21, 1943.

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m., Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Ealy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O Lord, whose strength is sufficient for all and who gives us according to our faith, help us to look beyond all clamor and criticism of men. Make us "prisoners of hope" in the stronghold of God.

In our world now shaken by the tramp of armies and the thunder of guns our souls can be at peace if we rest in Thee. "The Lord is our refuge and strength, therefore will we not fear though the earth be removed."

Inspire us with the fear of the Lord and we shall not fear the face of any man.

Help each of us in his appointed place conscientiously to do his work and leave results to Thee, assured that in Thy good time Thou wilt bring it to pass.

O Son of Man who madest known
Through quiet work in shop and home
The sacredness of common things
The chance of life that each day brings,
Thou Masterworkman grant us grace
The challenge of our tasks to face
By loyal scorn of second best
By effort true to meet each test. Amen.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 155

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 155, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred twenty of the act, approved the second day of May, one thousand nine hundred twenty-five (P. L. 448), entitled "Fish Law of 1925," exempting persons in the armed forces from the payment of a fee to the Commonwealth for resident fishing licenses.

BILL INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. SNOWDEN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Clair hears none.

Mr. SNOWDEN read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 614, entitled:

An Act to amend Route 58084 established by amendment to the act, approved the twenty-second day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (P. L. 594), entitled, "An act establishing certain township roads as State highways; authorizing their construction, maintenance, and improvement under certain conditions and restrictions limiting the obligation of the Commonwealth in the construction of certain structures located on such highways; conferring certain powers upon the Department of Highways and local authorities, persons, associations and corporations for sharing the cost of the maintenance and construction of such highways; and making an appropriation to carry out the provisions of said act."

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. HALUSKA asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, at the present time all of us, no doubt, are under the impression that this Session of the Senate will adjourn sine die next week.

I, myself, can not believe it is possible that we might adjourn next week, but be that as it may, several weeks ago I spoke briefly on certain bills that are in the Committee of Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions, and I think they should be given some consideration.

The Chairman of that committee very kindly arose that day and told me he was also interested in some of those bills and at a later date would call a meeting and give those who might be interested in those bills an opportunity to make an appearance

We all know that Senator Edmonds, from Montgomery County, who happens to be Chairman of the Committee, is not well and can not sincerely do justice to his job—I for one would not expect him to—but in the meantime this Session is coming to an end and I believe that we have certain bills in that Committee that should be given some consideration.

I should like to offer a friendly suggestion to the Chair at this time, that it, since the Chairman of that Committee can not function sincerely, because of his condition, that a new chairman be appointed and call a meeting of this Committee and give these bills due consideration, so if you find they have any merit they might be reported out in due time to pass both this Chamber and the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. McGINNIS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. McGINNIS. Last week a group of Democratic Senators and members of the House called on the Governor and urged the Governor to do what he could to pass non-partisan and what we might call war-time legislation.

They had a conference with the Governor for an hour or more and then on Saturday I received a letter from the Governor suggesting that a committee be appointed, to consist of the Floor Leaders of the House and Senate, the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, and two members, one each to be appointed by Mr. Lichtenwalter and myself. Accordingly, I have named Senator Shapiro and Mr. Lichtenwalter has named Mr. Bentzel.

I have talked this matter over with Senator Heyburn and the committee will endeavor to meet this afternoon during a recess.

RESOLUTION

Messrs. WADE and HOMSHER offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows, and referred to the Committee on State Government:

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE STATE EMPLOYES' RETIREMENT FUND, PUBLIC SCHOOL EMPLOYES' RETIREMENT FUND, AND PENNSYLVANIA MOTOR POLICE (OR PENNSYLVANIA STATE POLICE) RETIREMENT FUND

In the Senate, April 21, 1943.

Whereas, the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania recognizes that at the time that it enacted legislation establishing The State Employes' Retirement Fund, The Public School Employes' Retirement Fund, and The Pennsylvania Motor Police (or Pennsylvania State Police) Retirement Fund, it in effect undertook to underwrite these Funds, and that consequently it is encumbent upon the General Assembly to make sure that the said Funds are maintained on a sound basis according to proper actuarial standards, and continued on the most conservative basis in the interest of both pensioners and taxpayers; and

Whereas, the continued interest of the General Assembly in the proper maintenance of the said Funds is evidenced by the fact that some twenty-three bills relating to these Funds were introduced in the 1941 session of the General Assembly; and

Whereas, the Governor of the Commonwealth in his budget message to the current session of the General Assembly has recommended an appropriation of $6,670,000 to the Public School Employes' Retirement Fund, which is an increase of $470,000 over the appropriation for the 1941-1943 biennium, and an appropriation of $2,845,560 to the State Employes' Retirement Fund, which is an increase of $1,238,274 over the appropriation for the 1941-1943 biennium; and

Whereas, it is the general impression and hope of the General Assembly that the said Funds are now solvent and the belief of the General Assembly that they should be maintained in accordance with proper actuarial standards; now therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That the President pro tempore of the Senate appoint three members of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint three members of the House to act as a joint legislative committee to examine and investigate all matters relating to the soundness of the aforesaid Funds on the basis of proper actuarial principles, with a view to determining what action, if any, should be taken by the General Assembly in order to assure the maintenance of these Funds on a sound actuarial basis; and be it further

Resolved, That the said committee shall elect one of its members as chairman and shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of such chairman, requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before it and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records, and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served by any person, and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committeee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of the Commonwealth in such cases; and be it further

Resolved, That the aforesaid committee make a final and complete report on this subject to the regular session of the General Assembly for the year one thousand nine hundred forty-five, which report shall embody its findings and conclusions, together with its recommendations for such action by the General Assembly, if any, which it shall deem necessary, including drafts of any recommended legislation.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 403

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 403, entitled:

An Act to amend section seven of the act approved the seventeenth day of May one thousand nine hundred seventeen (P. L. 208) entitled "An act to regulate the practice of pharmacy and sale of poisons and drugs and providing penalties for the violation thereof defining the words 'drug' and 'poison' and providing for the appointment of a board which shall have in charge the enforcement of said law and the power to make rules and regulations for the enforcement of said law and providing for the purchase of samples of drugs for determining their quality strength and purity" by requiring a copy of the latest edition of the Year Book of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association to be kept in every pharmacy.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 403.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. HEYBURN offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 7), page 2, line 17, by inserting after the word "Association" the following: "in which Year Book shall be kept a record of all exempt narcotic sales and sales of poisons."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suggest that House Bill No. 403 go over in its order, before passing second reading, so that we may have an opportunity to study the amendments so that it will be on second reading tomorrow.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The bill has already passed second reading.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I object, Mr. President, because it is very clear what is being done. If I may make a statement, the objection to the bill in its original bill was that there was no provision that a druggist shall insert in the book the sales of narcotics, made in drug stores, that are exempted under the Narcotics Act. I think that has been cleared up and there is no sense in holding it up. That was the objection originally and it has been corrected by the amendment presented by Senator Heyburn. I made a canvass of the Senators and found that several Senators felt the bill was a little vague and was not clear enough, but I feel that it is clear enough now, and that the bill should not be held up any longer.

After all, the bill is being presented by and has the sanction of the Board of Pharmacy and the Pennsylvania Pharmacists and I think the druggists know what they are doing. Two druggists in the House, Mr. Gross and Mr. Walton, for whom I have a high regard, voted for this bill, which is something to safeguard the public. These books are to be kept in a certain place in the pharmacy, so that when the narcotic men come around they can check up on people who buy paregoric, in drug stores all over the city of Philadelphia and heat the paregoric and use it for injections, which is another way of creating the same reaction that morphine would give.

I think this is a safeguard for public good and I do not think we should hold this bill up any longer.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. For the information of the Senator, House Bill No. 403, today, was agreed to on second reading and, therefore, will be on third reading tomorrow, unless the action of the Senate in passing the bill on second reading is reconsidered.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is a House bill and it already has passed the House and there will be no danger in having this bill go over in order for one day.

I would like to call to the attention of the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, that I have no particular animosity against this bill, but if this bill is intended for the purpose of which the gentleman from Philadelphia spoke—and I am sure that is his idea of it—it is a good bill and should be passed, but the amendment which has been offered does not restrict the bill to that purpose and this bill still can be used for procuring advertising material in the book, which would destroy the very purpose for which it is intended, that is, that there should be a book in which a record of purchases of narcotics such as referred to by Senator DiSilvestro, should be kept, but in my opinion, at first blush, it does not protect that situation. Therefore, I can not see that any harm would be done by the bill going over in order until tomorrow, before second reading, so that if it does not carry out the intentions of Senator DiSilvestro and myself, I am sure he will agree that it can be corrected.

This is a House bill and allowing it to go over in order until tomorrow will not prevent it from passage and I, therefore, repeat my request that the second reading of this bill be disregarded and that it be considered tomorrow on second reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? Does the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator DiSilvestro, remove his objection, in order to permit this bill to appear on second reading tomorrow?

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Yes, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. This bill was agreed to on second reading and, therefore, will be on third reading tomorrow, unless the action by which it passed second reading is reconsidered. If there had been no objection we could have disregarded the passage of this bill on second reading, but the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, objected to the bill going over in order on second reading. In the opinion of the Chair proper procedure would be to now reconsider the action by which this bill today passed second reading.

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 403

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 403, entitled:

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, has there been an amendment offered to the title of this bill?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Clerk advised the Chair that the amendment does not affect the title.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have prepared similar amendments and, therefore, I would like to ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to the title, which will conform to the amendments offered by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Crowe.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend title by inserting after the word "certain" and before the word "minors" the following: "male."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill as amended lie over for printing on final passage.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 522:

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments to this bill.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. I am sorry, Mr. President, but I will have to object. However, I do not object to the gentleman from Allegheny having the amendments read.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I offer the following amendments.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Clerk will read the amendments and if there is objection it can be then raised. There are a series of amendments proposed, which will be read.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Sec. 2, page 1, lines 3 and 4, by striking out the words "and established directly under the Governor"; Amend Sec. 3, page 1, line 8, by inserting after the word "Governor" the following: "with the advice and consent of the Senate;" Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 1, by striking out the following: "be repre-;" Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 2, by striking out the following "sentative of the industrial labor agricultural" and inserting in lieu thereof: "include representatives of industry, labor, agriculture;" Amend Sec. 3, page 2, line 3, by inserting after the word "Pennsylvania" the following: "Such members shall not all be members of the same political party;" Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 16, by inserting after the word "Director" the following: "with the advice and consent of the Senate;" Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 18, by striking out the word "Director" and inserting in lieu thereof: "Governor"; Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 18, by striking out the words "with the approval of the Governor;" Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 19, by striking out the word "and" and inserting in lieu thereof: "with the advice and consent of the Senate, and the commission shall select;" Amend Sec. 4, page 2, line 23, by striking out the word "Governor" inserting in lieu thereof: "commission"; Amend Sec. 5, page 3, line 1, by striking out the word "such"; Amend Sec. 5, page 3, line 2, by striking out the words "as shall be fixed by the Governor" and inserting in lieu thereof: "commensurate with responsibilities of members of the cabinet, but not more;" Amend Sec. 5, page 3, lines 6 and 7, by striking out the words "Director with the approval of the Governor" and inserting in lieu thereof: ;"commission" Amend Sec. 7, page 6, by inserting between lines 19 and 20 the following: "(o) To prepare a program of extended and strengthened social security, providing against hazards and responsbiilities, not presently provided for at all or not presently adequately provided for, in order to protect the people of the State against unemployment, sickness, accident disability, old age, and other related disabilities, with the objective of affording more protection to more people against more hazards in a more effective manner. The commission shall resurvey present legislation governing the administration of unemployment insurance, workmens compensation, old age assistance, aid to dependent children, assistance to the blind, aged and infirm, child welfare and sick and disability benefits, for the purpose of more effectively integrating such administration, and making recommendations for its betterment.

"(p) To prepare a program extending rural electrification throughout the State."

Amend Sec. 7, page 6, line 20, by striking out the letter "(o)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(q)".

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection to the amendments?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if there is objection, I would like to have the bill lay over, with the amendments, so that the majority members of the Senate can look them over. Some of them seem to think that I have taken power away from the Governor, which I have not. I have given the Governor power because it reads now "hereby create a commission known as the Pennsylvania Post War Planning Commission" and I propose to insert the provision that such members shall not all be members of the same political party. In other words, as it is set up now, the Governor could not appoint any one, if he cared to, from the other party. I think probably the Governor, himself, may care to put on the commission some one from the other party, for example, as has been done in Washington by the President of the United States, when he appointed Republicans as Secretary of War and Secretary of the Navy, and a few others, and I think there are probably some Democrats who have some ideas about post war planning.

Further down in section 7 I have simply added the following: "(o) To prepare a program of extended and and strengthened social security, providing against hazards and responsibilities not presently provided for at all or not presently adequately provided for, in order to protect the people of the State against unemployment, sickness, accident, disability, old age and other related disabilities, with the objective of affording more protection to more people against more hazards in a more effective manner. The commission shall resurvey the present legislation governing the administration of unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation, old age assistance, aid to dependent children, assistance to the blind, aged and infirm, child welfare and sick and disability benefits, for the purpose of more effectively integrating such administration and making recommendations for its betterment," and "(p) To prepare a program extending rural electrification throughout the State."

I would like to ask the majority party to at least look these amendments over before they vote them down.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Allegheny request that the bill go over in order?

Mr. BARR. Yes, Mr. President.

REQUEST THAT HOUSE BILL No. 522 GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 522 on third reading go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, withdraws his request for immediate consideration of the amendments and asks unanimous consent that House Bill No. 522 go over in order. Is there objection?

Mr. HEYBURN. I object, Mr. President. This bill has been on the Calendar now for a number of days, it was out on the floor and then referred back to committee, and now it is on the Calendar again.

We are trying to wind up this session of the General Assembly just as quickly as possible, and I do not see where any good purpose would be served in allowing this bill to go over in order. Therefore, Mr. President, I object to the bill going over in order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, if it is the intention to adjourn on April 29, there are certainly plenty of days in which to pass this bill. It is now on third reading and all it needs is just one legislative day, as it is a House bill.

The Governor has said that he wanted this committee to sit down and talk about past war measures and so forth, on a non-partisan basis and I thought probably this committee, which as I understand will meet this afternoon or tomorrow morning, could look this over and some of these amendments they may object to and some of them they may agree with.

The Senate again proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 522.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, what has happened to my amendments?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Barr, asked unanimous consent to offer amendments, there was objection, and the gentleman from Allegheny then withdrew his request for unanimous consent to introduce amendments and requested that the amendments be read, which was done. Unanimous consent was not given to introduce the amendments. The gentleman from Allegheny then asked that the bill go over in order.

MOTION FOR RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 522

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 522 passed second reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to have a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. BARR and were as follows, viz:

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I would like to ask the gentleman from Delaware when this committee about which he and Senator McGinnis spoke intends to meet.

Mr. HEYBURN. The committee intends to meet this afternoon or tomorrow, or this evening.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, would the gentleman from Delaware object to this bill going over until that meeting is held?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am here under the direction of the Republican Caucus, and this bill has been approved to have third reading and final passage this afternoon. This bill has been before the Legislature for a long time, it has been discussed and re-discussed on many occasions, it has been on the Calendar in the Senate here for a great number of days and, as I said, it went back to committee and then came out again.

I am very sorry, Mr. President, that I can not comply with the request of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, but at the direction of the Republican Caucus I must insist on a vote on this bill this afternoon on final passage.

The Senate again proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 522, entitled:

Section 10 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, this is the first real sign of any attention being given to post war planning, but I am sorry to see that this bill, in my opinion, does not do anything toward post war planning. The sum of $200,000, given to the committee to take on the work that this committee could and should do seems like a farce, seems like denying the very alleged purpose of the bill.

This is not, in my opinion, a post war planning commission; in my opinion it is just an investigating committee with $200,000 to spend. All of the important things that should be considered, particularly social legislation, are apparently deliberately omitted from this bill.

There was introduced in this body by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, a bill for post war planning which provided that this commission shall set up the machinery which will be necessary to make social security more stable and more sure.

There are several other major problems which are entirely ignored by this bill. I do not propose to make a political speech on this bill, but I do propose to put this statement on the record, merely for the purpose of explaining the reason for the vote which I shall cast on this bill, which shall be "no."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to read to the Senate a letter sent by Governor Martin to Mr. McGinnis, as follows:

"Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
"Governor's Office, Harrisburg, April 16, 1943.

"Dear Senator:

"Wednesday, a group representing the Democrats of the Senate and the House, called on me relative to bills now pending before the Legislature.

"Thursday morning, I noted in the newspapers that this proposal had been presented to the Legislature and given to the press. I discussed all these matters with the Committeee in good faith.

"I am extremely anxious to have every possible assistance in the crisis now confronting us.

"I have two objectives as Governor of Pennsylvania. The first is to do everything possible to speed our war effort. Second, to have Pennsylvania in a sound financial position at the close of the war so that our post-war planning may be immediately put into effect.

"I think, in order to retain our form of government, we must continue the two-party system. However, I need every possible assistance and I would suggest that a Committee, consisting of yourself and Honorable Reuben E. Cohen, with another Senator and another Representative of your party, meet with Senator Ealy, Senator Heyburn, Speaker Fiss and Representative Lichtenwalter, to consider the non-partisan legislation before you.

"This is merely a suggestion as I have no 'must' legislation and no desire to usurp the powers of the Legislature.

Very sincerely,
EDWARD MARTIN.

Honorable Bernard B. McGinnis,
Senate of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania."

Mr. President, I think that the action of the Republican Majority Leader here shows insincerity. If post war planning is to become a partisan or political matter, I do not see any reason why this committee should even bother to meet. It is just another farce and shows the insincerity of the Republican Majority, as they do not want to cooperate even on non-partisan legislation.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I do not want to prolong this debate but I suggest that some of the gentlemen have not read the bill. The gentlemen have spoken about the bill containing no reference to social security, and in that connection I refer them to sub section (d), page four, which directs this commission to make a study of labor supply, war time population movements or changes and such other social factors as define the extent of the post war employment problem.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I read the bill and I read those words and I suggest to the gentleman from Delaware that a joint legislative committee could make just the same investigation as that bill suggests a planning commission should make. This is not a planning commission; it is an investigating committee to investigate the social situation of labor. How about social security? How about security after the end of this war? How about the unemployment that will create? What moneys are made available to take care of that situation? What program will be ready? You can do all the investigating you want under this so-called post war planning committee, a committee which can be, according to the terms of the bill, partisan and not non-partisan, just the very thing the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Barr, pointed out, the very thing that the Governor said that we should sit down and discuss these matters, but with this bill, which you yourselves created without listening to the views of this side, I say very sincerely this is a bad start for this committee, and what you should do would be to allow this bill to go over in order until tomorrow, so that we can sit down and prepare amendments to the bill which would not be objectionable from a non-political point of view, which would produce a constructive bill, which would give this bill some teeth, and in order that the commission would have some power, give it a sizeable sum of money with which to do the work immediately after the war, as soon as hostilities end, and then we could get somewhere.

That is the reason I have hoped that this bill would go over in order. I have read the bill—you say that some of the members have not read the bill—and just because it has the word "social" in it, you say for your purposes that social security is being planned, which is sheer nonsense. This bill merely sets up an investigating committee, with different phrases and words, and it is simply a bill of phrases and words and nothing more.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I will take only one minute and then I will be finished. I repeat, the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, must not have read the bill. He said this is nothing but an investigating committee, and I humbly submit to him that on page 3, line 12, the commission is directed to prepare plans, and as far as this tremendous appropriation is concerned, that he would like to see in the bill, Mr. President, that is a question for a future session of the Legislature; after these plans have been developed, then it is the duty of the Legislature to appropriate the money.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire the record to explain my vote. I voted "aye" because I think a little something is better than nothing, and I think this bill does very little, I might say little or nothing.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I should like to explain my vote. I voted "no" because I do not believe that this bill is sincere in making provisions for post war planning. I also believe that I would be abrogating my right to confirm appointments made on such a committee, which I believe is very important in planning a home-coming for the boys who are now fighting on all fronts.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 532, entitled:

An Act to further amend the last paragraph of section five of the act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 295) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one providing for the levy collection and disbursement of taxes and water-rents or rates and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer the board of water assessors and the collector of delinquent taxes and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for" requiring the board of water assessors to furnish information to departments of the city government

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The last paragraph of section five of the act approved the twelfth day of May one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 295) entitled "A supplement to an act entitled 'An act for the government of cities of the second class' approved the seventh day of March Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and one providing for the levy collection and disbursement of taxes and water-rents or rates and conferring certain powers and duties in reference thereto upon the city treasurer the board of water assessors and the collector of delinquent taxes and repealing certain acts relating to matters herein provided for" as amended by the act approved the fifteenth day of June one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 976) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 5 * * * * *

It shall be the duty of the board of water assessors in said cities to furnish [the department of assessors a copy of all water assessments made by them with a description of all properties against which such water-rents or rates have been levied and assessed on or before the first day of December in each year and said department of assessors shall include in their annual return of tax assessments to the city treasurer all water assessments so furnished by the board of water assessors] such departments of the city government such information at such time as the city council by ordinance may ordain

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I call up for action, Senate Bill No. 99, Printer's No. 28, appearing on page 4 of the Calendar.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 99, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to Section one of article Fourteen of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by making sheriffs eligible to succeed themselves.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 99, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I would like to move that this bill be recommitted.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT SENATE BILL No. 99

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 99, the bill just read, be recommitted to Committee.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. STEVENSON. Mr. President, I would like to urge the members of the Senate not to send this bill back to committee. I think this is a very equitable piece of legislation and it is something that really should be corrected. It is an antiquated law and the reasons why those provisions were originally put in the constitution have been removed. There is no reason at all why a sheriff should not be re-elected. I would like to oppose this motion.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT WITHDRAWN

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, out of deference to the gentleman from Clinton, Senator Stevenson, I withdraw the motion to recommit this bill.

Mr. BECKER. Mr. President, I withdraw my seconding of the motion.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree that Senate Bill No. 99 go over in order?

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. COX asked and obtained consent to address the Senate.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, before we proceed to the next order of business, Senate Bill No. 516, on page 3 of the Calendar was amended today, and unfortunately at that time some amendments which I wished to offer were not prepared but they are in the process of being prepared. I discussed the amendments with Senator Crowe and have his consent to do what I am about to do now.

All I ask is to reduce the time from twelve o'clock until eleven o'clock—that will be the substance of the amendments—but in order to introduce the amendments it will be necessary to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 516 passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. For the information of the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Cox, Senate Bill No. 516 is now on final passage, having been amended and passed third reading today.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny will proceed.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, will it be possible to amend this bill without reconsideration of the vote by which it passed third reading?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. It would be possible to do so by obtaining unanimous consent of the Senate. However, the bill has passed third reading and the Chair feels that the vote by which it passed third reading should be reconsidered.

SENATE BILL No. 516, PRINTER'S No. 285, CALLED UP

Mr. COX. Mr. President, before we get over the Third Reading Calendar, I call up at this time Senate Bill No. 516, Printer's No. 285, Page 3 of the Calendar, which was amended.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE BILL No. 516

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill No. 516, entitled:

An Act authorizing during the continuance of the present war and for a period thereafter the employment except during school hours or after the hour of twelve (12) midnight of certain minors as pin boys in bowling alleys; and suspending existing laws which prohibit such employment passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I voted "aye."

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 516, on second reading, go over in its order temporarily.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON THIRD READING POSTPONED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I call up House Bill No. 232, Printer's No. 43, from the Third Reading Postponed Calendar, page 4.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 232, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the thirteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-seven (P. L. 982) entitled "An act relating to the clerk of the court of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace and municipal court of any county of this Commonwealth having a population of one million five hundred thousand or over providing for the salaries and compensation of the clerk of the court of oyer and terminer and quarter sessions of the peace and municipal court deputies clerks and employes thereof" by changing titles of various deputies clerks and employes and equalizing salaries thereof be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 46, entitled:

An Act relating to labor organizations protecting the rights of members thereof imposing certain responsibilities and duties upon the officers of labor organizations requiring the registration of foreign labor organizations, and prohibiting gifts by labor organizations to political organizations or candidates for election or nominations, and regulating the making of loans; conferring certain powers and duties upon the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of this Commonwealth and of said department and prescribing penalties.

The first section was read and agreed to.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I desire to offer the following amendments.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 46, Printer's No. 279, with the amendments, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. McQUIDDY. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. For the information of the Senate, the amendments have not been read. It has been moved by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, seconded by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator McQuiddy, that the bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry. What is the pleasure of the Senate?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I rise on a point of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I have offered amendments to this bill and the motion to recommit the bill does not include the amendments, nor could it, because the amendments have not been acted upon. I think it would be in order for the Senator from Allegheny to move to recommit the bill either after the amendments have been adopted or failed of adoption.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair sustains the gentleman from Philadelphia.

MOTION AMENDED

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 46, Printer's No. 279, with the amendments offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Kephart, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. McQUIDDY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair has ruled that no action has as yet been taken on the amendments which were offered and that the motion is inconsistent and therefore out of order.

MOTION AMENDED

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to offer an amendment to the motion made by the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that is, that the bill together with the amendments offered by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Kephart, be recommitted.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise on a point o parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I understood the Chair to say that since the gentleman's motion was made while amendments to the bill were pending, that his motion was out of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The amendments have not actually come into possession of the Senate, as they have not been read, and we do not know what they are, and it seems to the Chair that until some action is taken on the amendments such a motion is out of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, do I understand that the motion is in order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. It is not, as it has been submitted to the Chair.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I offered an amendment, for the purpose of bringing the motion in order, that the bill be recommitted to committee together with the amendments.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair has ruled that the Senate has taken no action on the amendments.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Jefferson will proceed.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON. Mr. President, there is nothing in order at this time except the reading of the amendments. That is a rule of the Senate and I am going to ask that it be complied with and that the amendments be read.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. That is the way the Chair understands the proper procedure. The Clerk will read the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. KEPHART offered the following amendment:

Amend Bill, page 2 by striking out lines 14 to 22 inclusive.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I move that the amendments be adopted.

Mr. JAMES. I second the motion.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is there a motion before us now? As I understand it the amendments have been read and a motion has been made that they be accepted. I believe in all fairness, on a bill which means so much to so many thousands of Americans within the confines of this state, the proper thing would be to let the bill lay over, with the amendments not accepted and before asking us to vote on the bill let us see what the amendments do.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, that is what I intend to do. I intend to ask that the bill go over after the amendments are adopted, so that it will remain on second reading, and the members can see what the amendments do.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want the bill to lay over before the amendments are adopted. They can be printed. As has been done before on important bills, amendments have been offered many times in the Senate of Pennsylvania, and we could have enough copies printed to lay upon the desks of members of the Senate. I am not asking anything unreasonable on an important piece of legislation.

Mr. KEPHART. It has been our custom, Mr. President, to adopt amendments and have the bill lay over so that, if unsatisfactory, the bill can again be amended, and that is what I intend to ask be done in this case.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, we are again in the same position in regard to these amendments that we have been ever since I have been in the Senate. There is not a person on this side who knows what these amendments are or what they do, and how you can ask any member of this Senate to vote on amendments to a bill that he does not know about and does not understand is beyond me and I certainly think the request of the Senator from Westmoreland, Senator Dent, should be granted out of courtesy and from the standpoint of intelligently passing on legislation.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, there is a motion pending before the Senate, made by Senator Kephart, seconded by Senator James. The only thing before this Senate is that motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair did not understand that there was a seconder to the motion, but if that is the case the Chair suggests that the proper procedure would be to consider these amendments section by section and that the Senate pass upon them section by section. That is what shall be done unless there is some other suggestion.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Philadelphia will proceed.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, has the Chair recognized the seconder of my motion that these amendments be adopted, My motion was seconded by the gentleman from Bucks, Senator James.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. That is correct and the record so indicates. The amendments will be considered in order, section by section.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. As I understand, Mr. President, a motion to recommit this bill is out of order at this time; is that right?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland restate his inquiry?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is a motion to recommit this bill along with the proposed amendments, out of order at this time or in order.

RULING BY THE CHAIR

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. In answer to the inquiry of the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, the Chair rules that a motion to recommit takes precedence over a motion to amend.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, having that question satisfactorily answered, I now yield to the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Holland.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, I now move that Senate Bill No. 46, Printer's No. 279, with the amendments, be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. COX. I second the motion, Mr. President.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the gentleman from Allegheny mean that his motion is to recommit Senate Bill No. 46, together with the amendments presented but not adopted?

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, in making this motion to recommit Senate Bill No. 46, Printer's No. 279, to the Committee on Labor and Industry, I do it for this reason, I believe that we live in a free country and I believe in this country we should have learned from the experience of Nazi Germany. Everyone knows that due to an unholy alliance between Thyssen, representing the manufacturer's association of Germany, and Adolph Hitler, a plot was formed to destroy labor unions in Germany, and today we find on the Calendar another plot made between Joe Grundy and General Martin, Governor of the State of Pennsylvania. Oh yes, Mr. President, I will speak louder and the people of Pennsylvania will speak louder when they learn that you, with the cloak of the flag around you, who have time and time again brought out on the floor of this Senate bills wrapped in the American flag, are now tramping on the American flag and denying the right of free Americans to stand up for their rights, and you know why and I know why and the People of Pennsylvania know why.

You are worried today about collateral furnished to those in the labor unions who borrow money. I say to you, members of this Senate, that this bill is paying off your debt to Grundy, I say to you that this bill is paying off your debt to Pew, and you know down in your hearts that is the way you are paying off your debts for sitting in these chairs. You do not for one minute want to let a bill come on this floor to tell how you pay those debts off. I tell you that you are paying them off with this bill. You have gone back to the days of Hitler, you have done the same thing as Hitler, you have conspired with Grundy just the same as Hitler conspired with Thyssen to destroy the labor unions and today we see the whole world at war because there was an unholy alliance between the manufacturers of Germany and the ruler of Germany, and that is what you are doing and you know it.

This bill is dear to my heart. What you are trying to do—I have a memory—I am the son of one of those industrial workers who back in 1894 tried to fight the battle for the men who worked with him in the mills, and the day I was born the corporation interests broke up that union and denied my father the right to work in any steel mill in America because he just stood up and asked for the people's rights.

This is the first step made by the Republican party in Pennsylvania to go back to those days when the men in the mills and mines were slaves. Of, you can put all the amendments you want in this bill—it is still Senate Bill No. 46, the first step to deny the rights of American workers in Pennsylvania, those rights their sons are fighting for on the battlefields. Yes, I fought in the first world war and three weeks ago I took my physical examination to go back and fight in this war, because I thought we were fighting for a principle, I thought we were fighting to make the world a better world in which to live, and I sit in this Senate today and what do I find? I find the Senators of Pennsylvania destroying the things we are fighting for and if there is an ounce of manhood in you, you will go along with this motion to put this bill back in committee where it belongs. It has no place, it has no right to be on the Calendar in a free country like America, and I ask you to not wrap yourselves in the American flag, and I ask you to go along with this motion.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The question is shall Senate Bill No. 46 be recommitted.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HOLLAND. Roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. HOLLAND and were as follows, viz:

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, this is hardly the same bill upon which a public hearing was held in the Senate Chamber. I imagine if the sponsor could see its contents he probably would hardly recognize it. Some of us on this side have only seen it within the last day or so and we think labor is entitled to be heard on the bill with its new provisions. We have one other method to suggest, and I ask the members on the majority side to permit us that time by adopting this method.

MOTION THAT BILL AND AMENDMENT BE LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, in accordance with that one other method I now move that Senate Bill No. 46, together with the amendment, be laid on the table.

Mr. COX. I second the motion, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I ask that the roll be called.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am not too much of a parliamentarian but this is something new to me, to lay a bill on the table which is on the Calendar. I would like the gentleman from Lackawanna to advise me of some rule that would permit that. Amendments can be laid on the table, but this bill is now on the Calendar and how such a bill can be laid on the table I do not know.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Delaware will take the time to look it up—since I have been a member of the Senate and I think he has been here a little longer than myself—I think he will find we have done that on at least four or five occasions when a bill and amendments were laid on the table.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I have no objection to voting on the motion. However, Mr. President, I just want to say that in my experience in the Senate, I have never known of a bill on the Calendar being taken from the Calendar, without any action, and laid on the table. That is something completely new to me here. However, I do not object to a vote on it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, and also with the gentleman from Lackawanna, Senator Coleman. The Senator from Lackawanna probably is confused by the fact that we often lay bills on the table as they come over from the House but not bills on the Calendar. The motion of the gentleman from Lackawanna would be in order if he asked that the amendments be laid on the table, and I am wondering if that is what he has in mind.

May I interrogate the gentleman from Lackawanna?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Lackawanna permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. COLEMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Is it the desire of the gentleman from Lackawanna to move that the amendments be laid upon the table?

Mr. COLEMAN. It is my desire that the amendments and the bill be laid on the table.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair rules that such a motion is out of order.

POINT OF INFORMATION

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise on a point of information.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. DENT. As I understand the situation, Mr. President, the question now reverts back to the amendments.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The question is shall the Senate adopt the amendments to the second section? Does the Senate desire that the amendments be re-read?

Mr. DENT. I do not believe that will be necessary. I do not believe it will be necessary to have the amendments read section by section. I only say that you can not amend a principle. I do not care how many amendments you may read into it, this bill, you can not amend the principle. The principle behind this legislation is bad and the amendments can only make it worse.

So, therefore, I ask my colleagues on this side and those of you on the other side who have an honest endeavor to help labor in your hearts to vote against the amendments in order that we may vote upon the main question. I believe the bill is bad with or without the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments to the second section.

Mr. HOLLAND. Roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll the following occurred)

Mr. COX. Mr. President, for the record I would like to say that I vote "present."

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Does the Senator from Allegheny wish to change his vote?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "present."

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Senator from Allegheny will be so recorded.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 46, on second reading, as amended, entitled:

An Act relating to labor organizations protecting the rights of members thereof imposing certain responsibilities and duties upon the officers of labor organizations requiring the registration of foreign labor organizations, and prohibiting gifts by labor organizations to political organizations or candidates for election or nominations, and regulating the making of loans; conferring certain powers and duties upon the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of this Commonwealth and of said department and prescribing penalties go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, for the sake of the record I would like to explain my reason for having voted "present". I am unalterably opposed to this bill and to the principles that the bill represents.

However, since we are in a minority, if the majority intends to pass this bill there is not very much we can do to stop you. I have not had an opportunity to examine these amendments and I do not know what they are or what they do. I do not know whether they make the bill less iniquitous or more iniquitous. If they would make it less iniquitous, then I would not feel right in having voted against it and so for that reason I voted "present".

Mr. President, I still insist, as I did at the beginning, when this Senate started this year, in our rules there should be a modification to handle just such a situation as we faced here today.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to explain my vote. I voted "no" because the amendments did not go far enough. The amendments only took out two sections and they should have taken out eleven sections, which would have been the whole bill.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise on a point of order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Cambria will proceed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have witnessed throughout this session that my colleagues on this side of the house and on the other side of the house often times have voted "present". When a bill is voted upon the Chair says that the yeas and the nays shall be taken, and I insist that when a member votes "present" he does not vote; you can not vote "present", you either vote "yes" or "no". A member can not change his vote by voting "present", because he did not vote.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The Chair does not understand that the Senator from Cambria has raised a point of order requiring a ruling by the Chair.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, my point is that a member having voted "present" he has not voted.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. That would seem to be the construction the Chair would have.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I intend from this day on, without being offensive to any of my colleagues to to challenge any member who shall vote "present" and ask that he shall vote "yes" or "no".

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I may not have an opportunity later to go on record on a further vote on this bill, and so I ask your indulgence at this time to say a word in explanation of my vote.

It seems an unusually strange thing that a bill which affects so vitally such a number, and a particular class of people of Pennsylvania, that at this particular time the author of the bill should be absent from the floor.

I am told that the author has made the statement that this is a bill which has been offered by the Governor of the state of Pennsylvania, Governor Martin. I would have liked to interrogate the sponsor of the bill upon this point.

I further say that this is a bill which is vicious in its entirety and that no amendments will soften at all the effective blow that is intended by this type of legislation.

Under the guise of taking labor out of politics and prohibiting labor organizations from making contributions to any political party, this bill does something which is eminently more vicious; it places labor directly under the will and the power of the Secretary of Labor, who is made an absolute czar with unlimited control over all of the laboring men of the state of Pennsylvania and who is given the right, and you today abrogated the right, as Senators here, to further legislate anything which would refer to labor in the state of Pennsylvania. You place in one mans hands the power to regulate and to direct, and to say who is fit or what organization is fit to be given the right or given the proper franchise to operate in the state of Pennsylvania, and insidiously, you step out of your range of power by abrogating to yourselves the power to regulate international labor organizations; not content with regulating organizations that are here, and part and parcel of Pennsylvania, this bill would go farther, it would go out any say that any organization outside of Pennsylvania is a foreign organization and that the Secretary of Labor would be the one to judge, within thirty days, whether that organization should function within this state.

The prime honest move, fully exposed in this bill, is a political move, if not to render inert to take away from the laboring man—it is impossible to take away from him individually—but you want to take away from him collectively the right to ask for legislation, the right to go into his meeting and in a formal meeting in a body, organized as you might say, under a collective bargaining system, deny him his rights in the legislative halls of the state of Pennsylvania or from the Chief Executive of Pennsylvania and instead of making him a potential firm mass, moving as a unity, you want to break him up into an impotent individual who comes in craving a favor when he might be in a position to force that favor.

Mr. KEPHART. Mr. President, I would like to correct the statement of the gentleman from Luzerne and tell him that the criticism which he levels at this bill were corrected by the amendments just adopted. I now repeat my request that this bill go over in order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Without having been read the second time?

Mr. KEPHART. Without second reading, that is right.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

It was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. GELTZ asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. GELTZ. I rise for two purposes, Mr. President, one, because my colleague, Senator Mundy, made some statement as to the sponsor of the bill not being present when the bill was up for consideration, and I wanted to advise my colleague from Luzerne and the rest of my colleagues who did not hear the request made, that Senator Woodward, asked permission to be absent today on account of a death in his family.

The other purpose for which I rise, Mr. President, is to explain my vote on these amendments and the reason I am for this bill. It is, of course, possible that there be honest differences of opinion on this bill, the same as on any other matter.

I am for this bill, Mr. President, because I feel that this bill will be beneficial to the honest working man, the man in the ranks. I can understand Mr. President, why some individuals, who possibly are in the labor movement, for reasons other than for the benefit of the honest working man, would strenously oppose this bill, because it does give the man in the ranks some protection.

One of the strangest things about the movement that has gone on in this country for the last ten years is that we hear everybody talking about this great land of ours, a country of freedom and liberty, but I am afraid that many of the people who do that talking do not mean liberty and freedom but mean license to do whatever they desire.

In order for a democracy such as ours to succeed, one thing you must always remember, and that is that with every right there goes a responsibility and a duty. Labor, during the last ten years, has made great advances and great gains, it has secured rights which it did not have before, and the more rights it secures, just as with individuals, it must also have greater responsibilities and greater duties. I can not see a thing wrong with this bill, Mr. President, as it is now amended. I think the amendments which were offered and passed today make this bill one to which no one should object.

Another thing, Mr. President, I want to say, for the last three or four months, up until the last couple of days, I came in contact with no one in the labor movement—and that goes for the C. I. O. and the A. F. of L., the Brotherhoods, and that goes for labor officials as well as members of labor unions—who did not say to me but what they thought that a bill of this kind would be a fine thing for labor. Of course, when I say labor and when they said labor, they did not mean labor fakers, they did not mean certain leaders who are in the labor movement only for their ill-gotten gains or for their own benefit, but they meant as labor the honest American workingmen in this country.

According to the last Gallup poll that I saw on this question, of those people who have been interviewed and and who voted on the question as to whether or not labor unions should be made to register, and whether or not labor unions should be made to file financial reports, eighty per cent of the voters indicated that they were in favor of that, so that labor would properly assume its responsibilities and its duties.

Now, of course, there is tremendous pressure coming upon us to vote against this bill and I say very frankly that I think most of that pressure is due to false Democratic propaganda being worked upon labor unions. Many of those who are opposed to this bill are honest and they want to do the best they can for labor, but I honestly feel that they have been sold a bill of goods, and that is the reason they are opposing this bill, and I make the request of any of those who are present and any others might hear or read of this request, that before they continue their opposition to Senate Bill No. 46, that they study the bill as it is now amended—and I feel certain they will agree with us that it is something which will bring about a good condition, and for the benefit of labor.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am not going to endeavor to answer the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, at this time, but I will, at the proper time, upon the floor of this Senate, give an answer to the questions he has propounded about the honesty of the men in the labor movement.

I do, however, want to insert in the record at this time telegrams that I received from men in his district, whom I believe to be honest men, working for the interest of labor, and which read as follows:

"April 20, 1943.

"Senator John Dent,
Hotel Harrisburger, Harrisburg, Penna.

"Sir: We the members of Local 625 UERMW of A are opposed to the Woodward Bill (46). We expect you to get on the floor and tell them so respectfully.

JOHN ARMEL, President.

"Hon. John Dent, Senate,
Harrisburg, Penna.

"The employees in Department "C" Westinghouse Air Brake Company urge you to take a firm position against Senate Bill 46.

Department C Employees, Westinghouse Airbrake."

"April 21, 1943.

"Hon. John Dent,
State Senate, Harrisburg, Penna.

"We urge you to take firm position to defeat Senate Bill 46. This bill would lead to more confusion and hinder the war effort.

EMIL GEORGE LUKE BYERLY,
J. MILNE,
HERBERT LESTER,
WILLIAM MALLIGAN.

"April 21, 1943.

"Senator John H. Dent,
Capitol Bldg., Harrisburg, Penna.

"Understand Woodward Bill No. 46 will come up for vote tomorrow. Our organization expresses strong opposition to this bill. We feel it a direct slap at organized labor which has been in existence here sixty years and against its members and officials.

RAY ALTEMEYER, President,
Optical Workers Union, No. 18820."

"April 21, 1943.

"Senator John H. Dent,
Capitol Building, Harrisburg, Penna.

"Understand Bill 46 introduced by Mr. Woodward will come up for final vote tomorrow. We wish to express strong opposition to said bill as we feel it is a direct insult to the organized labor movement which has existed in this state for the past fifty-five years.

H. G. FLAUGH, Organizer,
American Federation of Labor."

"April 21, 1943.

"Senator John Dent,
Harrisburg, Penna.

"Membership of Local 2, AWA, requests you to oppose Senate Bill 46.

ALLEN HILL, Chairman,
AWA Legislative Committee."

"April 20, 1943.

"Honorable John H. Dent,
Senate Office Bldg., Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

"On behalf 45,000 war production soldiers western Pennsylvania, including thousands in your district, we wish to urge you to vote against and oppose vigorously Woodward Bill S46 as amended or any variations of principle contained in this bill. Such legislation is unnecessary and would serve no good purpose. Passage of this legislation would have effect of disrupting unity of all forces in this Commonwealth to win the war and seriously lower the confidence and morale for victory of production for soldiers. It is illogical to ask workers to contribute maximum production to defeat Nazism and ape methods of Nazism at home. This measure and all similar measures should be killed and forgotten in this vital war session of this assembly and attention of legislature should be given to constructive win-the-war measures.

"MICHAEL FITZPATRICK, President,
HAROLD K. BRINEY, Secretary- Treasurer United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America, 549 Wabash Bldg., Pittsburgh Penna."

"April 20, 1943.

"Hon. John Dent,
State Senate, Harrisburg, Penna.

"8,000 members of Local 610 United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers of America who work at the Westinghouse Airbrake and Switch and Signal Plants urge you to vote against Woodward Bill, Senate Bill 46, we are sure our delegation that met with you while in Harrisburg impressed you that we are a responsible organization and such a bill would only create disruption and confusion and hinder war effort.

LLOYD A. COLE, Pres., Local 610 UERMWA,
516 Station St., Wilmerding, Pa."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MUNDY. It is not my desire, Mr. President, to occupy the floor twice in succession nor is it my desire to prolong this debate, but I ask permission of the Chair to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Of course, this is irregular, but will the Senator from Allegheny permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny know of any labor organization in Pennsylvania which does not now furnish to its members a financial statement annually?

Mr. GELTZ. I can not say off-hand that I do, Mr. President, and that is the reason I wonder why so much fuss is being made about it. If they do, then why should they object?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I did not know that they were here on the floor objecting to this. As far as I am concerned, I am objecting as an individual and as an American citizen I probably have more reason to oppose this type of bill than does the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, because I am associated with a large independent mining organization, engaged in business, and I will say here that I, as a part of that organization, would much rather do business with a properly constituted organized union than I would with a group of individuals who are unorganized.

May I further interrogate the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Allegheny permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, does the gentleman from Allegheny, Senator Geltz, know any labor leader in Pennsylvania of any prominence whom he might consider dishonest?

Mr. GELTZ. I think I do, Mr. President.

Mr. MUNDY. In deference to the gentleman from Allegheny I will not press him for an answer in names, but approximately how many labor leaders in Pennsylvania would the gentleman from Allegheny consider dishonest?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think that is going a little bit too far. I can say, however, that I think I am certain that I know more than one.

Mr. MUNDY. Is it fair, Mr. President, to ask the gentleman from Allegheny the proportion of dishonest labor leaders in comparison to the number of leaders in the labor movement? What would be his percentage.

Mr. GELTZ. That is fair, Mr. President.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, I rise on a parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from McKean will proceed.

Mr. THOMAS B. WILSON. Mr. President, what is before the Senate now?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I would like permission to answer the last question propounded by the gentleman from Luzerne, Doctor Mundy.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

The Chair directs the attention of the Senate to the fact that Senate Bill 46 is still on second reading and, therefore, there will be ample apportunity for debate on this question.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, may I answer the question of the gentleman from Luzerne, Doctor Mundy? I am willing to take my seat, if there is objection?

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. The gentleman from Allegheny may proceed.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I think the percentage is exceptionally small. I think a great percentage and a great number of labor leaders, not only in this state, but all over the country, are honest, conscientious and sincere in what they are doing, but that is all the more reason, Mr. President, in order that their work be done properly and for the benefit of the common man, that some protection be given. In so far as the Federal Government is concerned, there has been passed law after law which has in effect driven American working men into labor unions, whether they wanted to join or not, and so, Mr. President, as a result of that, if we do not do as public officials what we can do to protect those individuals who have been driven into such positions, because of the passage of laws, then we are derelict in our duty, and irrespective of whether it makes us or breaks us, we are not fulfilling the obligations and duties of our office unless we do so.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will conclude by saying that in all my years of association in and out of labor, that I always find that somebody who wants to attack the labor movemnt is so careful and so meticulous to avoid attacking the laboring man himself, because he is an individual and has a vote, but they insiduously attack their leadership, and this is the first time in my memory that anybody on the floor of a legislative hall insisted, after making a statement that dishonesty was vastly in the minority, that we should pass legislation to protect us from that infinitesimal minority.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MALLERY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I feel that by reason of the fact that I suggested the first two amendments to this bill, the one removing section two in its entirety, which would require the making of a register of all the members of a union and making it available for inspection, and in view of the fact that the members on this side of the Senate adopted that amendment, as well as a second amendment, striking out on line 26, page 2, the words "in detail," for those reasons I voted as I have on this measure. I did not think it would be sincere on my part to offer amendments to a bill and then not support the amendments.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. CARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. CARR. Mr. President, I desire to explain my position with regard to this bill. The bill in its original form was not at all satisfactory to me because it contained a provision whereby national labor organizations were brought under control of a department of this state, and it also contained a provision whereby the head of that department could by his arbitrary will, if he saw fit, absolutely prevent those labor unions from transacting business in the state of Pennsylvania.

I fought very strenuously for the elimination of some of those provisions which were in the bill at that time and felt that I had done a very good job when I succeeded, with some other members on this side, in eliminating those provisions from the bill.

Let me state here that I believe this bill as it is constituted at the present time is a just and honest piece of legislation for the benefit of certain members of labor unions, of which I happen to be one.

There has been a great deal said here about the rights of the minority, but whether it is the minority or whether it is the majority membership in a labor union, they are practically compelled at the present time to join a union in order to gain their daily bread, and then by means of a check-off to maintain that membership—which I personally am not required to do—thereby contributing to the funds of the union organization.

I say that when those funds are taken, whether by the vote of the majority of that union or by the will of the officers of the union, and used for the purpose of defeating the intention of the members of the union, by donating it to some one or other of the political parties and thereby offsetting what might be the desire of a man to vote either one way or the other, you are taking away from that man the right to control that which he has earned by the sweat of his brow and, therefore, it does not seem to me unjust at all that this prohibition should be put into effect whereby nobody has a right to compel a man to contribute to a political party in which he is not interested or to which he is opposed.

I think that will explain the reason why, at the present time, I am voting for the bill as it has been amended.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to object for the moment for the purpose of calling to the attention of the Senate to something in this bill that should be corrected. I do not want to be understood as opposing the principle of this bill but I understand that this bill provides for advertising for thirty days—every day for thirty days—and then gives the right to a person to object within thirty days after the first advertisement. I call attention to the members of the Senate to that section of the bill, I think it is on page 7, and if this bill goes over in order for the purpose of amendment that provision ought to be amended.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, for the information of the gentleman from Philadelphia, I would like to tell him that is why it has been requested that this bill go over in order. We have an amendment prepared to clarify to that particular section.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. RUTH offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 1, Sec. 4, page 8, line 2, by inserting after the word "department" the following: "the proceeds of this tax shall be used specifically to pay the increased public school employees' salary due to the higher cost of living."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I move the adoption of the amendments.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President and gentleman of the Senate, we have in committee House Bill No. 816, increasing salaries of teachers and we know that bill calls for an expenditure of approximately $27,000,000. I also happen to know that the order has gone out that that amount is to be reduced by $4,000,000, which would bring it down to a little over $23,000,000, which would reduce the proposed top of $600 and bring it back to $500.

I also know that regardless of in what amount we pass the bill, the Governor himself has the authority to cut down the appropriation when he signs the bill. If these funds from the cigarette tax were specifically earmarked for salaries of teachers, we know from the budget and from the returns that would bring in approximately $28,000,000 in the next two years, and therefore we could assure the school teachers of Pennsylvania that we were not trying to kid them when we told them that we would give them an increase in salary—not even up to the little steel formula of fifteen per cent, but it would be an increase—and I feel that as long as we have the power in our own hands we should be sure that we are going to keep the word that we promised to our school teachers, and if we earmark this particular tax, which will amount to approximately $28,000,000 in the next biennium, we can be sure that they are going to have at least an increase of $600 for the two years, that is, those in the lower brackets and there may be some school employes who are not just teachers but who deserve an increase just as much, and this would give us lee-way to do something for them.

I suppose we could talk all afternoon and we would not get any further than just getting our words on the record, but at least we will get that far, to put on the record that we are sincere in trying to give these teachers an increase in salaries.

Let us give them what we promised at least, instead of a sop, by specifically earmarking this tax.

Let us go back in history a little bit. In 1935, when the cigarette tax was first put on the books, I happened to be Chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means in the House of Representatives and it was my duty to help put that tax over and that was done because the state faced an emergency and that emergency was unemployment relief. That has passed and there is no occasion to have this emergency tax unless we are faced with an emergency, but we are facing a new emergency today, that is, that our school teachers, about 62,000 of them, are underpaid.

Some of the girls that went out of college last year and are teaching at the minimum salary do not have enough money to pay their board and buy clothing in many school districts, and I feel we should at least be sure, as long as it is in our hands, make sure they get it because, let me tell you this, whether you pass House Bill No. 816 under the reduced amount, as is suggested, or whether you pass it at the present amount, the Governor still has the right to cut it down when he signs that bill. Let us make sure of it.

Thank you.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I want to assure my colleague from Berks, Doctor Ruth, that ample provision has been made in the tax program and in the budget to take care of the school teachers, to see that the school teachers get a raise that is consistent with good government and good housekeeping in government.

The gentleman from Berks, Doctor Ruth, does not need to worry about pledges or promises not being taken care of. Everything will be done that can be done, consistent with safety to the Commonwealth's financial structure.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. RUTH. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. RUTH and were as follows, viz:

Will the Senate agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Mr. RUTH offered the following amendment:

Amend the title, page 1, last line of the title by inserting after the word "time" the following: "and specifically designating the proceeds of this tax for increased public school employees' salaries."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

(A voice vote having been taken the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. COX. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Will the gentleman from Delaware permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HEYBURN. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. COX. Will the Senator from Delaware tell the Democratic members of the Senate if the Majority Party has come to any determination as to exactly what is going to be done for the school teachers of this state.

Mr. HEYBURN. Unfortunately, Mr. President, a situation developed here last week that kept the Senate tied up all week, and I understand the Committee on Education did not get much work done. This week, of course, the Senators know that Senator Homsher's mother died, but every effort is going to be made to adequately take care of the school teachers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, can the Senator from Delaware give me the details of any proposed changes in this bill, as to the amounts.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I am very sorry but I am not a member of the Committee on Education.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Are the Senators talking about Senate Bill No. 544?

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, we are talking about the cigarette tax and I assume some of the teachers smoke—maybe there is some connection.

Mr. COX. Mr. President, my reason for this interrogation is that I intend to follow it by a very brief statement, which I think has a direct relationship to the bill which we are considering, and in order for me to be properly informed, and so that I can say the things I want to, it is necessary for me to get from the Senator from Delaware any knowledge he might have as to what is going to be done for the school teachers of this state. The Senator from Delaware, of course, has answered me by saying that he does not know.

I want to say, Mr. President, that on March 2, the day after the Governor gave his Budget message to the Legislature I spoke to this body on this question of increased compensation for teachers. That was March 2 and now it is April 20 and still nothing has been done. I regret, of course, the delay this week, which was caused by a death, and naturally I and the other members on this side are perfectly willing to wait until Senator Homsher can come back and continue his studies of this important matter.

It is a matter of extreme urgency to the underpaid school teachers of Pennsylvania that, as soon as we possibly can, we tell them definitely what we are going to do for them financially.

On March 2, in my statement to the Senate, I said I personally would oppose the reduction of any taxes if the reduction of those taxes meant that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania could not adequately compensate its teachers, and now I am faced with the dilemma that on our Calendar today and for the succeeding days will be tax bills; I do not know what your suggestions are as to methods of aiding the teachers, and it would seem to me perhaps the smart thing for us to do would be to bring out the bill relative to teachers, and then when we have a definite plan we can vote intelligently on these tax measures.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

Ordered, That the bill be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 545, entitled:

An Act to further amend section four of the act approved the twenty-first day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 149) entitled "An act imposing a State tax payable by those herein defined as distributors on liquid fuels used or sold and delivered within the Commonwealth which are ordinarily practically and commercially usable in internal combustion engines for the generation of power providing for the collection and lien of the tax and the distribution and use of the proceeds thereof requiring such distributors to secure permits to file corporate surety bonds and reports and to retain certain records imposing duties on retail dealers common carriers county commissioners and such distributors providing for rewards imposing certain costs on counties conferring powers and imposing duties on certain State officers and departments providing for refunds imposing penalties and making an appropriation" by imposing and continuing the additional emergency tax on liquid fuels for a further limited period of time.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. DENT offered the following amendments:

Amend bill, page 3, by inserting after line 29, a new section to read as follows:

Section 2. Section ten of said act, as last amended by the act approved the twenty-first day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-nine (P. L. 634) is hereby further amended to read as follows:

Section 10. Disposition and Use of Tax. (a) One-half cent per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act shall be paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund of the State Treasury; and such moneys, paid into said fund, are hereby specifically appropriated for the purposes hereinafter set forth.

The moneys so paid into the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund, except those that are refunded as hereinafter provided, shall be paid to the respective counties of this Commonwealth, on the first day of June and December of each year, in the ratio that the average return made during the three (3) preceding years to each county bears to the average amount returned to all counties for the three preceding years: Provided, That the distribution of tax to the counties from the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund that is payable the first day of August, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one, shall be made under the provisions of the acts of Assembly repealed by this act.

All moneys received by the counties hereunder shall be used only for the purpose of construction, reconstruction, maintenance, and repair of roads, highways, and bridges, including the payment of property damage, now due or hereafter to become due, occasioned by or the relocation or construction of highways and bridges, and for the payment of interest and sinking fund charges on bonds issued or used for highways and bridge purposes, or on so much of any bonds as have been used for such purposes, and all such payments heretofore made are hereby validated. The county commissioners of each county shall make to the department, on or before the first day of May and November of each year, on forms prescribed, prepared, and furnished by the department, a report showing the receipts and expenditures of such moneys received, during the preceding six months, by the county from the Commonwealth under the provisions of this section. Such reports shall be transmitted to the Department of the Auditor General for audit. Upon the failure of the county commissioners to file any such report, the department shall withhold further payments to the county out of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund until the delinquent report is filed.

(b) The remaining two and one-half cents per gallon of the permanent tax collected under the provisions of this act, all penalties and interests, and all interest earned on deposits of the Liquid Fuels Tax Fund, shall be paid into the Motor License Fund, and are hereby specifically appropriated for the same purposes for which moneys in the Motor License Fund are appropriated by law.

(c) The entire amount of the additional emergency tax of one cent per gallon, or fractional part thereof, collected, under the provisions of this act, [before June first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six], shall be paid into the State Treasury by and through the department, and shall be used only for [unemployment relief, purposes, and for such purposes is hereby appropriated, and all such tax paid into the State Treasury on and after June first, one thousand nine hundred thirty-six shall be credited to the General Fund.] postwar road building and other highway purposes, and for such purposes is hereby appropriated to the Department of Highways.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will sum up in just about two or three minutes exactly what my amendments propose to do. I hardly think there will be any opposing votes on these amendments, at least if the Senators live up to the vote they took on the Tallman Act.

Ever since I have been a member of the Senate and of the House, I have heard the plea made that highway funds, all moneys received from highway taxes, should be used for highway purposes only.

Since by the repeal of certain acts which will follow after this bill has been acted upon, you have stated there was no longer any emergency need for the funds from the proceeds of this particular bill and, therefore, I take it that from that you are willing or that you are re-enacting this act of the legislature so as to take that money and set it aside and earmark it for highway purposes only, and further guarantee that that money will be used for such purposes, I have in my amendments included that the money would be appropriated to the Highway Department for postwar developments and postwar planning and for postwar construction and, so therefore, I say to the majority members, if you are sincere in the Tallman Act that you voted for unanimously, if you are sincere in wanting to keep the highway fund for highway purposes only, then this bill should be passed as amended. I ask you to vote for the amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Dent and were as follows, viz:

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 546, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the title and the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue for State purposes by imposing an excise tax for a limited period of time on the net incomes of certain corporations joint-stock associations and limited partnerships providing for the assessment collection settlement and resettlement of taxes and reviews and appeal therefrom conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships State and county officers boards and departments making an appropriation and providing penalties" as previously reenacted and amended by extending the provisions of the act for a further limited period of time by reducing the rate of tax eliminating the deduction for Federal taxes further defining net income authorizing the Department of Revenue to grant an additional extension of time for filing reports changing the method of reporting in certain cases reducing the interest penalty on unpaid taxes and making certain of the changes effected by this reenacting and amending act retroactive to a certain extent

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am about to offer amendments to House Bill No. 546, Printer's No. 471, the effect of which is to put the computation of the tax back in the original form. In explanation I should like to say, Mr. President, that the proposed amendment to the method of computation of the net corporate income tax simply means that you are going to take from the Federal Government an amount of money that is supposed to be saved for the benefit of the state, which seems to me false economy, because somehow or other the Government is going to be bound to get that money, somehow, and the public is going to pay it. With what? It will not come out of thin air. Whatever reduction we make on the income to the Federal Government reduces further the amount available to the Federal Government for the prosecution of the war, and in the absence of the gentleman from Cumberland, Senator Wade—because he is the gentleman who waves the flag around here—oh, there he is, I did not see him—I would like him to get up and tell us about the patriotic duty we have not to take any money from the Federal Government when it is making every effort to collect this money for the prosecution of the war.

The net effect of this bill will be to increase the state income by at least $20,000,000, and it does not take a magician to see that the Federal income will be reduced by the same amount.

Where will the money come from except from the pockets of the people. In my opinion that is false economy and certainly not helping the war effort. The purpose of these amendments I am about to offer, therefore, with respect to computation of the tax, is to put this act back into its original form.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, in answer to the statement of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, first let me say that this money that he says supposedly will be taken from the Federal Government is not the real truth of the situation—it is true that some of it will—but as near as can be ascertained, about ten per cent of the corporations of this state, those that are in the excess profits tax brackets, will pay greater taxes by this method of computation then they paid under the old system, the system which Senator Shapiro apparently wants to continue.

However, Mr. President, when my colleague from Philadelphia, Senator Shapiro, raises the question about patriotism and about taking money from the Federal Government that is so necessary for the successful prosecution of the war, I can not help but remember and recall, Mr. President, one of the first reports of the Truman Committee, which I read and that, by the way, Mr. President, was not a committee from our so-called side of the House. The Truman Committee investigated the cost of the construction of numerous army camps and one of the first camps they got into they found had been started at an estimated cost of construction of $11,000,000, and during the process of construction the camp had been increased in size twenty per cent, which I think, with rather rapid calculation, would mean that the estimated cost would be about $13,500,000. At the time of the investigation the camp was not completed but the cost had already exceeded $25,000,000.

It might be a good thing, Mr. President, under those circumstances, for some of those individuals who apparently are pouring millions of dollars down the sewers, to realize that there is not an unlimited tap or flow or source of money in this country, and I certainly do not think that this state should be penalized and lose money that rightfully belongs to the state, if there is such waste and extravagance as is indicated by that report.

In addition, Mr. President, I understand that there are either seventeen or eighteen states that have the method of computation which Pennsylvania is now going to adopt. I do not know why Pennsylvania should be singled out as one state that should make all of the sacrifices. It seems to me if it is patriotic for Pennsylvania, it is patriotic for the other states.

For that reason, Mr. President, I think this new method of computation is fair and decent and it should be adopted by the Commonwealth.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny made a statement about a camp intended to be built for $11,000,000 and which cost $25,000,000—and therefore he thinks we ought to take $20,000,000 more from the Federal Government, which is a ridiculous argument.

All I know about the camps is that they are all being built under control of gentlemen taken from big industry, which usually is Republican. Mr. Nelson is head of the War Production Board, and if there was waste and extravagance all we can do or say is that Mr. Nelson is doing the best he can. That is the point today.

What is the use of talking about waste and extravagance when we are spending billions of dollars? That $14,000,000 in that picture may be a sum that can be explained by the very fact that you are dealing with such emergencies, such commodities and such contractors, in such a short period of time.

That does not answer the question, as he says, this tax question, and what I am about to say, irrespective of whether you are Republican or Democrat—and I do not raise that issue—you must agree that if you take $20,000,000 away from the Federal Government, whether seventeen other states are doing it or not, there is going to be an added burden on the people to make up that $20,000,000. No corporation in Pennsylvania is benefited by it, except a few, and those very little. A corporation that I know of, one of the larger companies, which makes a gross profit annually of $18,000,000, will save about $15,000 on this tax and another corporation that makes a little bit less will lose about $15,000 but in each instance the Federal Government will lose about $350,000. These are not figures taken out of my head, but figures with which you gentleman are familiar.

No corporation, outside of the very small corporations—and I mean by small corporations, corporations that are earning small profits—none except those will make a real saving and very few of those who make a large profit will suffer any, because the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania will get $20,000,000. Why? Because it is deducted from the surplus tax, the excess profits tax, from that bracket, and it is taking away from the Federal Government $20,000,000.

Simple economy teaches us that if you need $40,000,000—you have $100,000,000 and you need $40,000,000—if you take away from the $100,000,000, $20,000,000, you will need $60,000,000, and it must come from somewhere, and it must come from the very people to whom you are now saying you are going to give a saving of three per cent on taxes. That is all I am saying here, I am saying that is false economy.

I want to add a further word, which is that it is not necessary for the purposes of our budget because, I have said before and I repeat, and the time will come very shortly when I will be able to prove again, as I did in 1941, that the income from net corporate taxes is under-estimated this year, that the budget showing the amount of anticipated revenue until May 31 of this year is under-estimated and that the budget estimates for the 1943-1945 taxes are under-estimated. Remember, in these two years we were supposed only to collect $61,000,000 from the net corporate income tax, according to Governor James—at a time when the information which I had and read to this Senate proved that we would take in at least $90,000,000. The present figure in the budget, for the period ending May 31, 1943, is $88,000,000. I suggest now that it will be more than $90,000,000, and I suggest to you members of the Senate that we have already collected more money this year, making up the 1943 biennium, more money than is set up in the budget as the estimated receipts, and if the net corporate income tax realizes, as I think it will, close to $50,000,000 for this year, then we will have a surplus, an actual surplus, at May 31, 1943, of more than $30,000,000.

That will take care of your school teachers, and other items of expense not provided for in the budget, so that $20,000,000, taken from the Federal Government and coming into our treasury, will make our surplus in the 1943-1945 biennium $20,000,000 more than I say it will be, because in that budget there was under-estimated the net corporate income tax.

That is why I say, gentleman, it is not necessary. Our position is, first, that it is not needed, and, secondly, if you do not need it, why do you take it from the government when you will only have to give it back?

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I do not want to beg the question. I just want to state frankly, from my examination of the speeches of Senator Shapiro on budgetary matters, as I read from a speech of his not so long ago, that the answer to his discourse on figures is to discount them by fifty per cent.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, in this atmosphere which we have present here in the Senate, outside of the question of national defense, and we all of us, desire to do every thing we can for national defense, I thought it would be interesting to have reduced to concrete figures, under this new method of computation of tax, how many tanks and how many guns and how many bombers we take away from the boys at the front by taking this money back here at home where it is needed less. I yield to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I can not answer the inquiry of the gentleman from Luzerne, Doctor Mundy, as to how many guns or how many tanks, but I would say it would represent about 220 medium type bombers, the type of bombers that bombed Tokio, and just about the size and number of bombers that are needed by General MacArthur at this time. I can further say that this is a most extraordinary procedure when we are so interested in money being put in war bonds, when the people are being asked to put all the money they can spare into war bonds, that the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania can dig deep into the pockets of the Federal Government and take $20,000,000 of war loan money of the workers of Pennsylvania, so that they can relieve taxes of certain persons who are not at this time entitled to tax relief.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I wonder if my colleague from Westmoreland has figured out how many medium type bombers could have been purchased with the 130 per cent or 140 per cent increase in the cost of the army camp which I was talking about, which cost was increased by, $14,000,000?

Mr. President, I want to say in answer to Senator Shapiro, that there is some sense and purpose in having this new basis for computation. It seems to me that one does not need to be very good at figures to realize that with an increase in the percentage of federal taxes, if that increase continues as it has been, it will not be a matter of a very long time until there is nothing left upon which the state can secure any revenue, in so far as the corporate net income tax is concerned, because when the tax was forty or fifty per cent, if you had a fund of $100,000,000, you still had fifty or sixty per cent for the state to figure its corporate net income tax on, but when you have a matter of eighty per cent, you certainly get a substantial decrease in the amount on which you can figure your net corporate income tax for the state.

As I have said before, it seems strange to me that there is so much ado on the part of my colleagues to the left that Pennsylvania should be outstandingly patriotic, as in so far as sister states are concerned, there are seventeen or eighteen other states which have this method, and certainly Pennsylvania is entitled to it.

My colleague Senator Dent from Westmoreland, I know is sincerely concerned about postwar planning and making certain that conditions will be right for the boys who return to us, but I am just as sincerely and conscientiously interested, and for that reason, I hope that my colleague, the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, is for the first time since I have been a member of the Senate more nearly right than he has ever been before in the estimates which he has given, in so far as revenue is concerned.

It is very easy, Mr. President, to make guesses and estimates out of thin air, and it is very hard to answer fables and fairy tales, and it is equally hard to answer estimates which are based on something drawn down from the sky and the stars. The Senator from Philadelphia has made a number of such estimates since I have been here, and it may be that he was nearly right on one of them, when he singled out a particular invididual estimate in so far as revenue is concerned, but it seems to me somewhere back in my recollection, Mr. President, that the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, and his team mate, Mr. Achterman, who was Majority Floor Leader in the House, indicated that we were going to have somewhere in the neighborhood of $150,000,000 surplus. Well, Mr. President, it seems to me that that was very thin air.

But as I say, Mr. President, I hope for the first time since I have been here that he is right, because it will be very satisfactory and very comforting to have a nice surplus with which we can do the postwar planning in which so many of us are interested.

Mr. SHAPIRO. I want to say, Mr. President, I do not think it is fair to handle an important proposition in this way. I do not mean the fact that you may say that Senator Shapiro did not know what he was talking about —that does not hurt me personally—but the records does not sustain you and you are not dealing with the proposition in the proper way.

The reason I raised the question why Pennsylvania should be more generous, if that is what you call it, than any other state, is because this Governor said nothing else matters but the war and he wants to aid and co-operate, and I say that sincerely, that since he wants us all to help and co-operate, I say this is not the time to change the method of taxation, at the expense to the Federal Government—everybody admits that it will be at the expense of the Federal Government—and when I say this is not the time to change it, that is because of what your Governor said, and I agree that nothing else matters but the war. As to the fact that some corporations will be helped by this change and some will be hurt by it, you are not helping to win the war and you are not carrying out your promise.

It does not make an answer to say that when Shapiro gives figures you can cut them down fifty per cent, that they are taken out of thin air, because there is nothing in the records to show that my figures were taken out of the air.

I have not talked about estimates. I took your budget on one occasion here and I showed you that the income today exceeds the amount which you say you will get by May 31, which is not an estimate, those are facts, and I tell you today that the reports of the Auditor General show, his records show, that you have already taken in more than you have estimated, and I say to you that I pointed out in 1941 that the income would be $88,000,000 or $90,000,000 of net corporate income taxes. I did not estimate that out of my head; I gave facts and figures.

Now the gentleman says he pointed out once before in a speech from the record that Shapiro said "$115,000,000 will not be enough for relief for this biennium, and there ought to be more." Yes, I did say that, and at the same session the Governor asked us to pass another bill giving him the right to use $150,000,000 for relief, if it were necessary, because he too thought it might require $126,000,000, when I said it would require $132,000,000.

Then the war came along and everybody became employed and so we did not need $126,000,000 and we did not need $115,000,000, but with that budget Mr. Achterman and I did figure out that there would be a surplus of $88,000,000 to $90,000,000—not $150,000,000—and the facts prove that is so, because this Governor has cut taxes by $40,000,000. This Governor says he has a surplus of 11,000,000 from this biennium ending May 31, 1943; I ay he will have a surplus of over $40,000,000 and I say he records do show that—that is not a guess on my part, hat is not an estimate.

You do not get anywhere—it may sound nice to you nd you may think it is good copy to say that you should iscount by fifty per cent what Shapiro says, but I am aying to you, if you do discount it by fifty per cent, that you still have $20,000,000, so why are you worrying about he teachers if you have a surplus of $20,000,000?

I say to the answer you have given that denial has not been made that this money will be taken from the Federal Government—there is no question about that—and the only argument is whether or not you take it now or later, and that I answer by saying you promised to aid the Federal Government in the war effort and this is not the time to take money away from the Federal Government, when you promised to help the Federal Government.

That is the whole argument. You are going to say you will pass this bill and I am going to say that if you do you are not keeping your promise to aid in the war effort.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny I think spoke on a subject which was quite foreign to him. He spoke about contracts that were negotiated by the Federal Government which ran in very excess figures.

The Congress of the United States, when I was a member, passed a bill that all these contracts would be renegotiated. I want to suggest to the gentleman from Allegheny that when he is next in Pittsburgh I will show him the Congressional Record, and if he wants to see the names and to what party those men belong who voted against re-negotiation of contracts to recover the money which the government was gypped out of, I will be glad to show him.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, we heard a great deal about the amount of money supposed to be effected by this bill or the amount of revenue we are cutting down from the Federal Government, and we are making a mountain out of a mole hill, so to speak.

For the sake of comparison let us take these figures and assume that we are taking $20,000,000 of revenue away from the Federal Government. The President of the United States in January of this year recommended to Congress a budget of some one hundred and eight billions of dollars —since that time he has recommended an increase, but we will disregard the increase entirely—and if we take $20,000,000 away from the Federal Government to bring Pennsylvania in line with other states, we are taking one dollar for every $5,400 in the federal budget, or to phrase it in another way we are taking a little more than two-tenths of one mill out of each dollar, so that after all we are talking about something that has little effect on the federal revenue.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I just want to advise our colleague from Allegheny, Senator Holland, that I do understand there is such a thing that is called re-negotiation of contracts and I understand that is another one of those New Deal propositions which is in reality one hundred per cent income tax—they passed a revenue bill in which they say the maximum shall be ninety per cent but not greater than eighty per cent over all, and then they pass a re-negotiation contract act which provides that the Federal Government can step in and take one hundred per cent profit of income taxes.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Mr. SHAPIRO offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1 (Sec. 2), page 4, lines 18 and 19, by striking out the words: "except as hereinafter otherwise provided"; Amend Sec. 1. On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, it has already been stated on the floor of this House and it bears repetition, that Senate Bill 272, the bill now before us, is probably one of the important bills of this session. Important for many reasons, chief among which is that it is a shallow attempt to upset the proper processes for the orderly conducting of elections of Congressmen in Pennsylvania.

I should like to read excerpts from statements that have recently been made in Congress which can very clearly set forth the general views in opposition to this bill, and with your permission I shall read a statement made in Congress on April sixteenth of this year by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McGranery, on page 3520 of the Congressional Record which reads as follows:

> "Mr. McGRANERY. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call the attention of the House to a horrible spectacle now being enacted in the State of Pennsylvania. Following the taking of the census in 1940 the House of Representatives of the state of Pennsylvania in the majority were Democrats and in the State senate the majority Republicans. Following this census taking of 1940 it was decided that the State be reapportioned. Several bills were introduced in order to bring the situation to a head and reapportion the State. A Committee was appointed to agree on a fair reapportionment. On that committee 12 Republicans were appointed and 12 Democrats.
>
> A bill was agreed upon. That bill was introduced and passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature and became law. Within one year, Mr. Speaker, the new majority leader of the senate, a Republican senator, introduced a new bill to reapportion again the State of Pennsylvania, designed to take away and deprive the city of Pittsburgh of its three distinguished Democrats who now represent that district and to prevent their returning to this House. In the city of Philadelphia this new bill will take away one Member of the Congress. The reapportionment is a foul blow to democratic government.
>
> Ordinarily you would say, this was rather a shamefaced thing to do. The present majority leader of the senate voted for the Apportionment Act of 1942. In these days to gerrymander a State for nothing other than a political purpose and scheme is certainly something to ponder. That is not all. The worst is yet to come.
>
> Our Governor took office in January and in his inaugural address asked from the legislature unity of action and purpose so that we may carry on the war effort. He asked for an adjournment of politics. But lo and behold, in yesterday morning's Inquirer, he had this to say to the newspapermen when asked for his opinion of the filibuster:
>
>> 'It is just the good old American way. When we Republicans were in the minority we bellyached when they ran over us. It just has to be done.'
>
> Mr. Speaker, as a Representative from the State of Pennsylvania, I denounce any man who would stoop so low, or who would demean his office in making so contemptible a statement as that uttered by Governor Martin. This shows an utter disregard of the rights of minorities and a complete lack of understanding of the fundamental rights of the citizens of Pennsylvania. It is certainly not the statement of a man properly occupying the exalted position of Governor of a great State, but rather may it be likened to the dead mackeral that both shines and stinks in the moonlight. It is not yet too late for the Governor to repent and this is his place of locus penitentiae or a place where he may well repent for that loose statement. Let him be big under the circumstances and tell the people of Pennsylvania that he did not mean that. That he will guard and protect the rights of all of the people of Pennsylvania, which include the minorities. He said it has to be done. I say to Governor Martin that the one thing that must be done and have to be done would be first of all win the war and send word to our boys on Guadalcanal, in North Africa, and on all the fighting fronts that he is exercising his power as Governor of Pennsylvania in the best interest of all of the people.
>
> Do not let our boys down. I would say to Governor Martin, take those words back and take them back quickly. He was charged in the last campaign with having resigned his place as a Major General in the United States Army in order to run for Governor of Pennsylvania. It is true he had a notable career in the last war, and in the reorganization of the Pennsylvania National Guard, and as a friend and American, I say to Governor Martin, you have made a very serious mistake, so take those words back. You really never meant just that. So that you want unity, you want harmony, and you want a maximum amount of production from our great industrial State, and that maximum industrial production can only come from unity and harmony, from all our people. Do not tell our people that you merely represent the interest of the Republican Party. Do not ignore minorities. Give them the respect that is their due.
>
> One of the men who made America great and that we all feel proud of is General Grant. I say to the Governor, let him read about Lee's surrender. Let him read what Grant told Lee at that great surrender when he passed his sword to Grant. Grant said, "No." And when it came to turning over the horses, Grant said, "Take them back home with you. You are just in time for plowing." Be magnanimous and gracious in victory.
>
> I say, Governor Martin, you do not speak for me as a Pennsylvanian because I have tried to guide myself not along political lines but rather have I always kept my eye on that great horizon where victory will come, and complete victory. We do not need politics, but we do need to win this war. I never in all my life read such a statement from a man occupying a high place. I still think that public office is a public trust and I pray God that Governor Martin will recant and ponder this loose talk of his. Yes, I say that Governor Martin must do the proper thing because Governor Martin has gone too far; but let him explain to the people and to our boys out on all the fighting fronts that he is the Governor of all the people of Pennsylvania, that he is not going to run roughshod over anybody, that he will remember his oath of office and that only through unity can we conquer our common enemy. Do not let your career > close by being crowned in ignominy as a cheap rasping politician at a time when your country is engaged in a life and death struggle.

>
> You can do that by showing this legislature that they are in error, that they did reapportion our State in good faith one year ago, and you can see that the Representatives in Congress from that great State shall at least have a fair chance."

Then may I quote from the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, appearing on page 3521, on the same day, reading as follows:

> "Mr. EBERHARTER. Mr. Speaker, in all my experience in the 6 years I have been a Member of this House, never have I heard any Member of Congress make such a frank confession as did the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. Ditter) in admitting that the only reason the Legislature of Pennsylvania had for passing a congressional reapportionment bill at this session was for political advantage. He seemed to take a great deal of satisfaction out of that fact, and admitted it very frankly."
>
> Let me make further reference to Mr. Eberharter on that subject. These are words spoken in the Halls of Congress:
>
> "May I remind the gentleman of the fact that less than a year ago the leaders of the Republican Party and the leaders of the Democratic Party in Pennsylvania made an agreement as to the reapportionment, and it was the implied understanding that that reapportionment was to extend for the balance of this census period, in other words, until 1950. By their actions the leaders of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania are breaking at least an implied promise that that reapportionment they agreed upon would stand.
>
> May I say also that the legislature dominated by the Republicans in Harrisburg this year will go down in history as a legislature that accomplished nothing whatever, practically, except legislation which ripped out of office Democrats who were serving the public and who have been serving the public for many, many years."

Further adding, Mr. Speaker, to the statement by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McGranery:

> "The big thing over and beyond all this with me is that I should like Governor Martin to hark back to his own inaugural address, in which he pled for unity and for an adjournment of politics for the duration, instead of saying now as the leader of our great State, 'Yes, they did it to us, now we will do it to them. We have the votes and that is all that counts. Let him remember that victory means everything.' "

May I quote from the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, on the date of April 19, 1943, on page 3621? The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Eberharter, is now speaking. He said:

> "Mr. Speaker, the plan of the Republican National Committee is to have the States in which its party exercises control, reapportion and gerrymander the congressional districts in such a manner as to make it impossible to elect Democrats to Congress.
>
> "In my home state of Pennsylvania, the Republican Party now in control is furthering the Republican National Committee's plan at this moment by forcing through reapportionment legislation which will reduce the Democratic representation in the National Congress by at least five Members, and this result is being achieved by the most reprehensible and ruthless type of gerrymandering of the district boundaries.
>
> "Mr. Speaker, by gerrymandering out of office five Democrats and substituting in their place five Republicans, it can be readily perceived that by such action in one State alone control of the Congress can be practically switched from one party to the other. This is a direct denial of the will of the people and contrary to the intent of the Constitution. A Republican State senator is reported to have said:
>
> > 'We have control of the Senate, we have control of the House, our Governor is a Republican, and we have the courts.'
>
> Mr. Speaker, I call upon the gentleman from Massachusetts, Joe Martin, minority leader, upon the chairman of the Republican National Committee, and the chairman of the Republican National Congressional Committee to call a halt to this disgraceful plot, and it is time for the Congress to make a proper study of the Federal statutes relating to apportionment of congressional districts and to enact legislation which will in the future prevent methods by which the will of the people can be thwarted."

Mr. Speaker, back in 1935 a Democrat for the first time in half a century was elected Governor of Pennsylvania, and that was by the will of the people; and by the will of the people there was returned to Harrisburg a Democratic House, and by the will of the people there was returned to Harrisburg a Republican Senate. It left Governor Earle in the position where he had to fight the Republican Senate for what the people told him he had a right to do. They elected him, and they wanted to have his platform put into effect. When the Republican Senate refused to go along with his program, Governor Earle did what any governor ought to do, go to the people over the heads of the Senate and fight for his program. Eventually in the special session of 1936 that fact was accomplished, and Pennsylvania was able to go on as the will of majority in 1935, in the election of 1934.

In 1939, the will of the people elected a Republican Governor, House and Senate. In 1941 the will of the people elected a Republican Senate and a Democratic House. In 1943 the will of the people again elected a Republican Governor, a Republican House and a Republican Senate, but in the special session of 1942, after quite a bit of wrangling along purely party lines, the leaders of both parties, shocked to the very bottoms of their hearts and consciences by the attack on Pearl Harbor, did the right thing, the honorable thing and the American thing by giving up party squabbles. They forgot about party politics and agreed upon a reapportionment bill. At that time they agreed also that that would be the congressional apportionment for this election and all elections until 1950, when there should be another census. The election campaign was not on the question of apportionment, and based upon an agreement between both parties there was the will of the people expressed at the last election which returnd to the National Congress a majority of Democratic congressmen from Pennsylvania; and because the Republican party came so close, because they did not get the brass ring, they started to bellyache, not only in Pennsylvania but all over the country. If they cannot lick the Democratic party fair and square when they go to the people they are going to make it so that the people won't have a chance to fool them again. That is what this bill seeks to do; fool the people and make it impossible for the people to properly vote in their districts as now set, and enable the people they want to go to Congress. The districts as they were showed the will of the people; in some districts the Democrats won and in other districts the Republicans won. Some were walk-aways and some were close fights, but, Mr. Speaker, that is no reason for sitting down and making up your minds that we are going to get rid of the walk-aways by making them even easier, that you are going to make it possible for some Democratic congressmen and some Republican congressmen to come in without even having to go to the people to campaign because nothing under heaven and earth can stop their election. Now you are going to make it possible for men on both sides to do that, but you are going to thwart the will of the people in this last election, to have close enough districts, that the congressional candidates will go to the people and argue their points of difference, and what the people say and what the people want in their districts. That is the vicious thing in this kind of legislation at this time. The will of the people as expressed by majorities in Harrisburg is not the will of the people as expressed in our congressional elections.

I have said it before and am going to say it now again, and if need be I will say it some more this session as long as it lasts, that the purpose and intent of this entire session has been to wreck the Democratic organization and the political machine that represents the Democratic voters of Pennsylvania. The purpose of this session is to further strengthen the Republican organization and Republican political machine that expresses the will and the desires of Republican voters. The same people who said that Republicans should hold sway in Harrisburg said that the Democrats should hold sway in Washington. You could not win the election on the up and up, but you are doing it in Pennsylvania and you are doing it in other states of the Union, and you are going to make sure by this despicable gerrymandering process that no matter what the majority of the people of America want in the next congressional election, you are going to make sure, just the same, that Republicans will control Congress and may control the United States Senate at a time when we want a peace for which we all fervently hope and pray. I have said it before and I will say it now and again, that you may go contrary to the wishes of the people and you may wreck and you may ruin the Democratic organization and machine, but you are never going to lick the people of Pennsylvania and you never are going to lick the people of the United States..

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker, I rise at this time to oppose the passage of Senate Bill 272. It seems to me and to us on this side that Senate Bill 272 is more particularly aimed at the people of the city and county of Philadelphia than any other section of the state. It is hard for me to understand why this attitude has developed against the fair City of Brotherly Love.

Just for the purpose of the record I would like to recite some of the outstanding achievements of the city of Philadelphia.

Philadelphia is truly the third city in these United States. It is Pennsylvania's first love. It was there that the Continental Congress first met, it was there where the Declaration of Independence was drafted and signed. It was the birthplace of our Constitution and our flag, and it was the national capital from 1790 to 1800. It has grown in numbers and in area since that early day. It is not a small part of our state, as many would believe, and it is not a congested area, for it has an area of approximately one hundred and thirty square miles, and it has increased in population from fifty-five thousand in 1777 to almost two million today. In the city of Philadelphia we have four hundred and thirty-five thousand dwelling units, and it is truly a city of homes. It is Pennsylvania's only port, and it is one of the most outstanding shipping ports in the nation. Pennsylvania has been termed the arsenal of Democracy. It could not be so without the most generous efforts of the people of the city of Philadelphia so Philadelphia is really the arsenal of Pennsylvania. Even before the war it was the world's greatest workshop. It has nearly five thousand separate manufacturing plants employing close to two hundred and fifty thousand persons, who earn more than three hundred million dollars in wages annually. Its products are valued at close to two billion dollars. Today its products comprise at least one fifth of the war material for the nation. It has twelve hundred churches and scores of societies devoted to the alleviation of suffering and the betterment of conditions of life. Its vast system of schools educates one half million children annually. It is steeped in historical traditions, and it has mainly been responsible for the outstanding record of Pennsylvania in industry and in affairs of the Union.

And yet, Mr. Speaker, the Republican party singles it out to pay the penalty on the ground that it had a reduction of one per cent in population in the census of 1940, whereas today upwards of four hundred thousand new residents have come into the city, which should permit us to gain a Congressman rather than to lose one. It seems apparent that on the face of the record Republican organizations in the city of Philadelphia have agreed to this mutilation. I now charge them with selling the citizens of Philadelphia down the river and blaming the Republican Members of the House throughout the state, who obviously from the interrogation and debate of yesterday could not understand our problem and do not understand our population figures. It is hard for me to understand why the Republican party wants to break one of the most outstanding precedents in the history of this Commonwealth. Apportionment has been made by this Assembly but once following each decennial census since the year 1791. At no time did they depart from this procedure. As members of one of the oldest legislative bodies in this nation we should not rush in too hastily to break a custom which has been followed for over one hundred fifty years, yes, since the founding of these United States under the Constitution. Why must we do this, especially during the war? In the national Congress today the difference in political strength is but fourteen votes. If Senate Bill 272 becomes a law Pennsylvania Republicans will gain at least five new congressmen, which will further cut down the Democratic majority in the national Congress by this simple function of Senate Bill 272, obviously a formula reeking with the smell of gerrymandering. Why must we do this in this period of war?

These days are perilous days. We are engaged in the greatest conflict that ever faced these United States, and this measure will have a decided effect on that war effort and the peace to follow. This controversy in the House resolves itself around the simple proposition of whether an outstanding member of Congress and an important factor in the Naval Affairs Committee, should continue in his seat, and whether an outstanding member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee shall continue in Office, and three other members whose records are outstanding in the Congress of the United States.

Now, they are being ripped out by the simple procedure under Senate Bill 272. This is not only an affront to the City of Philadelphia, but is an insult to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It is a national tragedy, the finger of shame shall be pointed for many years at the Republican party in Philadelphia and Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, I am afraid that Senate Bill 272 will come back to haunt the Republican Party in future years, for the people of this Commonwealth shall call them to task for this iniquitous bill.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, we are still talking on Senate Bill 272, the Congressional ripper, for that is just exactly what it is. It is another in a long series of acts which has been the principal if not the only concern of the Republican party in this Legislature since it began in January of this year. I think every Member on the other side of the House owes it to himself and to his conscience and to his constituents to turn back to those early days of the session, and he can do it very easily by looking in his Legislative Journal.

Let him turn back to the Legislative Journal for January 26, 1943 and look at the record of promises, of statements made to this Legislature, to the people of Pennsylvania and to the nation by the head of the Republican party when he addressed this House in joint session assembled.

I am not going to read at any length; in fact I shall not read at all from the Governor's speech to the joint session on that date, but every one of you owes it to himself to look at that frame work of promises and try to square it with your action and your votes in this House since that time. The Governor in his entire speech condensed this thought, that we were not here to play politics, we were here to further the war effort, we were to try to unite, forget our political differences and do a job that we at least need not hang our heads in shame beside the men who are giving their blood this very minute for democracy in this country.

Now, what have we done? How can we justify what we have done since that time? It cannot be done, and I defy any man on the other side of the House to justify the action that is chargeable to you as the majority in the conduct of this legislation to date. Today we have another, one more piece in the jigsaw that you are putting together, and this is worse even than that the rippers that have affected in the state, because in this bill you affect our nation. You strike at the very foundation of the structure of democracy, because you take away from the people the things that we are fighting this war for, and what our democracy is founded upon. You take away from them the right of representation.

The Republican party and the majority leadership has been guilty of hiding behind the fog of this war to obscure their invasion of the people's rights, and they are guilty also of using the war as a means to hide their shoddy political treachery. The Republican party has relied upon the national concern of our people with international events now taking place all over the world to provide them with a cloak and a cloud of silence and obscurity. With the mush of hypocrites they have come here with fine protestations of their desire for a harmonious non-political session. Piously they have spoken of a desire to win the war and of our hopes for national unity. Those were fair promises, and we accepted them as such. There was only one flaw; they were never meant. The Republican party and the Republican majority of this House is not concerned with winning the war; you are concerned with winning a war against the Democratic party in Pennsylvania, that is all. You are not here to contribute to unity, you are here to create discord, to stir up party politics, to grab patronage, to pass sneak ripper bills and to disfranchise Pennsylvania voters. You are here to pay off debts, election debts, and to serve the very men who own you, to dip your hands into the pockets of the people of Pennsylvania to help the utilities and the oil gang and the Manufacturers Association, the very people who financed your party and bought your elections for you.

You are here to hold committee meetings unannounced and to hold them in telephone booths and to put bills out on the floor of this House without a moment's consideration by the Members whom the people sent here to study and to scrutinize legislation.

I need go no further than to refer you to today's outpouring of bills to illustrate what I mean by that. You have in the past so dominated the House and the Senate of Pennsylvania that you sit in the majority, and now today you are here trying to do the same thing to the Congressional delegation from Pennsylvania. You cannot win elections as you please, you cannot even buy them all, so you are resorting to legislative juggling to bring you election victories in Congress that you cannot get by any other means. You want to divide this state on the old rotten borough system as it once existed in England, and you want to govern our country with men who do not represent the people of the nation.

You come into Pittsburgh in your Senate Bill 272, you come into Allegheny County, and you skip up and down and all over the map in order to get districts in which you can win, and make a one hundred percent majority in the county look like a minority in this bill. You span rivers and you delete adjoining wards, and the only rule that you follow is to isolate, to separate and to discriminate against Democratic voters and the Democratic areas. You segregate out the Democratic voters of Pennsylvania and you fill them in from across the Monongahela River and from across the Allegheny River and you create a district which contains every,—and I mean every—single heavily Democratic ward in the city of Pittsburgh. You forget about the disproportion in this so-called apportionment bill, Senate Bill 272, that exists in Luzerne County and in the intra-central county districts. There you have districts in which two Luzerne County voters equal one Pennsylvania voter. You are not trying to reapportion the state, not honestly; you don't dare to, because you don't believe in, nor do you trust democracy and the people.

Now, gentlemen of the Republican party, you of the majority are too busy tearing up Allegheny County and Philadelphia County and other Democratic areas so that the Democratic majority in those counties is dissipated to create a crowding together of unnatural, ungeographical districts.

Let me just point out to you what I mentioned yesterday, that this bill, gentlemen, in Allegheny County, creates one district with one hundred five thousand registered Democratic voters and forty-nine thousand Republican voters. There is as silly a piece of gerrymandering as any of you will ever run across. It cancels out the vote of that over-whelming Democratic majority so that they do not apply as they should to the general representation of Allegheny County in Congress.

You are enacting in Senate Bill 272 a law which sets class against class and city dwellers against country dwellers, manufacturing districts against residential districts, and that is not the principle upon which this country was founded. It was never intended that class be set against class; rather a representative in Congress should represent a cross section of all types of people who legitimately populate his district.

You are creating in Allegheny County preserves where the Republican minority of that county may exist pure and lily white and send Republicans to Congress who do not under any application of democracy deserve to be in Congress. As I said, you are setting up a system in Allegheny County in which its one hundred thousand majority will elect only two out of that county's five Congressmen. It is a travesty on democracy, it is a mockery of everything we were fighting this war to preserve, and what you do in Allegheny County you do in the other counties of this state where it suits your purpose so to do. This Congressional bill insofar as it affects Allegheny County is the bill of the young Republicans, those young Republicans with old ideas of patronage, power and many in jobs. Those so-called young Republicans, most of them between forty and fifty, are perennial candidates for office in Allegheny County, and everytime they stick up their heads the people chop them off. Those young Republicans go into their Republican primaries and see what they can get from the Republican voters. Most of the time they are set down. Ask the Republican County Chairman and the Attorney General of this Commonwealth what kind of people they are. But if they are lucky enough to be nominated, almost invariably the general electorate takes great pleasure in defeating them, as they did their candidate for mayor and their candidates for congress last election.

Now, Senate Bill 272 has been drawn in Allegheny County to the measure of those defeated candidates whom the people have already rejected. Its only purpose is to return to Congress two men who so conducted themselves in that body that the people of their districts rejected them because they were men who submerged their patriotism to their pacifism; their love for their country was submerged to their hatred for their President.

We have a country dedicated to the principle of majority rule. I subscribe to that. We have another sacred principle, that is the protection of minorities in all their rights as American citizens. I subscribe to that. The day that this House uses its power like a Hitler Reichstag to take away from the people of Pennsylvania the right to elect congressmen to represent the people's will, we strike a treacherous, and assassin's blow at the American system of representative government, of democracy as an expression of people's will.

That is what is going to be done here today, because I have no delusions as to what has happened on the other side of the House. The orders have gone out and Senate Bill 272 is going to be passed, but I say to you men on the other side of the House, hold up your heads when you are alone in your room at night and say to yourselves that you have passed a proper bill. You can't do it.

One further argument should be made, Mr. Speaker; it has to do with the constitutionality of this bill. It is provided that after every decennial census there must be a reapportionment of congressional districts to conform to that census. That has been done in Pennsylvania, and you are today here facing a second congressional reapportionment bill within two years. In my opinion the legislation is clearly unconstitutional; you cannot so do. But that has never bothered the Republican majority on the other side of the House. Constitutional or unconstitutional, ripper or zipper, the only thing that matters is that the orders have gone out. You will have your Senate Bill 272, and I wish you well with it, but, gentlemen, the day will come when everyone of you will rue the activities that are represented in this type of legislation. I hope that some of you are here to see it.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, it was not my intention to waste any time on discussion of this bill. However, as a member of the Legislature of Pennsylvania and as an American I cannot sit here and let a portion of the remarks of the representative from Pittsburgh go unanswered. I have one boy in the Army, serving in Australia and one in Africa. The only two sons I have, and I resent the reprehensible, the irresponsible and un-American statements by the representative from Pittsburgh when he says the Republicans are not interested in winning the war. I hope he will request that these remarks be stricken from the record.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 272 is before us today for consideration and final vote. May I say to the membership of the House that the people of labor are vitally interested in this Congressional Reapportionment Bill, and as an example I cite you the fine Congressional representation that we received from the Congressman of the 28th district in Westmoreland County, a man who is a credit to those fine boys who are in the service. Yes, wouldn't it be very nice for us to feel that we would in the future as well as in these trying times that we are in today, have such Congressmen representing the people and representing the welfare of the nation in this, which is the most important crisis that we have been in at any time in our history.

I must say that I have to term the bill that is before us today a very vicious bill, aimed at labor and labor's representation in the legislative halls of Congress, and while I do this, may I place each and every party who is opposed to this measure in his proper category. May I say that I am going to narrate to you how those who are proposing this measure and those who are supporting this measure can be placed in certain brackets which have been known in the public press and as we have had in every day of life as we have had it in the past. Those people supporting this bill can be classified as Roosevelt haters, even to the extent at this time of bucking Roosevelt's war program from the inception of this war up until this date.

Then again we have the New Deal haters, those who hate reform, those reactionaries of high finance and big interests. Those are the gentlemen who are interested in this measure in order to outlaw the representatives of the common people in the congressional halls.

Then we have the Britain haters, those who have a fictitious grudge, carrying it here to the detriment of democracy and the principles of our government. Then we have of course the Russia haters, those who are usually called Red baiters, and certainly no definition is needed to explain the term.

Now again we come to the labor haters, and certainly I must say to you that the way this congressional reapportionment bill is drawn up, those people who have been placed in this category time and again are today endeavoring to deny to the common peopple of labor representation by gerrymanding these districts so that a great majority of these people could have one representative, and yet in those districts where they also have a majority and they demand representation in the legislative halls, they are gerrymandered out of this representation due to the writing of this amendment that is before us.

Those people are the more-profit crowd. The National Association of Manufacturers have put their stamp of approval on this bill, and so it is before you to vote on the same and consider the same on its merits.

Then we have the foreign haters, those super-patriots, the militarists and those who have been cited in the press and the daily walk of life as such.

Then the civilian haters, those who have set themselves up with Storm Troop tactics, yes, right among us right here in Pennsylvania, who would take up the tactics of the storm troopers.

Then we have the haters of democracy, those fifth columnists who are so interested in creating disorder to disrupt the morale of our government.

Then we have last but not lease the Democrat haters, those men, I should say, such as Taft and Vandenburg, those men who have their eyes set for the presidency, and who feel by the writing of this bill that they will be enabled to gather a greater vote in the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Speaker, it certainly is a shame that such representatives as McGranery and Bradley of Philadelphia must be gerrymandered out of the halls of Congress, where they have so ably represented labor and the common people of their district and of our state and of our nation.

I certainly say to you that this bill is unjust and unfair in every principle of business and the right and principle of American democratic government.

The critical job facing the Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania when it convened this year was the job of mobilizing the people and the resources of this Commonwealth in our victory effort. Instead of addressing itself to a program to carry out this job, the Assembly has so far been given over to disruptive attacks on labor and the working people by attempting to gerrymander them out of office by denying them the right of representation in the halls of Congress.

The present trend of legislation in this Assembly is making a mockery of the pledge of the Governor of the Commonwealth, who is the responsible leader of the party in power, that his administration and his party would be dedicated to a win-the-war program, while here we see a measure which is destructive to the morale of the people, disruptive to the morale of organized labor that is doing such a great job in production that it is not only noted on the home fronts but also on the battle fronts all over the world.

Thousands of organized labor representing many thousands of production soldiers in the great steel, shipbuilding, electrical, machine, plane and tank, textile, clothing, aluminum, glass, leather goods and other industries demand that the Assembly of this Commonwealth get down to business and pass a congressional reapportionment bill that will be adequate, that will be equitable, that will give to the people of the Commonwealth the right to proper representation in the halls of Congress.

Mr. O'CONNOR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, as I have always been taught, portly people are especially noted for their good nature, but there are some things that I will not take and cannot stand, and one of them is that because of the fact that I am to exercise my rights as an American citizen and as a father of two boys who enlisted in the service of their country, I am not going to stand for any man standing up in this House to call me a Roosevelt-hater and New Deal hater and a Communist because I vote the way I think is right.

I would like to ask any of the Democrats since when it has become unpatriotic to be honest in your convictions in your legislative duties? You will recall that two years ago when I spent days and days time to apportion the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into honest geographical districts, I never attempted to divide the counties of Allegheny and Philadelphia for the very reason that I considered myself incapable of doing so, and I always left it to the members of the Legislature from those two counties to suggest their own congressional districts. If they are dissatisfied today in those congressional districts that is their business and not mine.

I have no fault to find with them for voting for what they think is right in their own districts. That is what I have consistently done since I have been in the House, and what I am going to do in the future. Anyone who wants to call me a Communist need only to turn to the Legislative Journal of July 10, 1941 when he will find my answer to Communists in the letter which they had sent from Philadelphia in which I did then as I do now denounce them as a political party and say to them that they should have no legal status as a political party anywhere in the United States of America today.

I also ask the Members of this House that may have any doubt in their mind as to my record as a labor member in this House, to read the Legislative Journal and see if I haven't been as consistent as any other Member in supporting the policies of organized labor, because, Mr. Speaker, I am a member of the United Mine Workers Union and I am sent here by organized labor to represent them.

I also want to call the attention of the Members of this House that at the special session of this Legislature in 1942 the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Chervenak, the gentlemen from Cambria, Mr. Owens and the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor were invited to the Speaker's office to discuss the then pending reapportionment bill. In the Speaker's office at the time were the Speaker of the House, the Democratic Floor Leader and certain members of the Rules Committee. We discussed the then pending bill, and we were informed very emphatically that the 27th Legislative District, of which I am a member, should be changed, but that they couldn't change my district without making certain changes in Philadelphia County, therefore those distinguished gentlemen asked the three gentlemen from Cambria not to vote for the reapportionment because they stated that they wouldn't vote for it if they were in our position, but they asked us also not to oppose the bill on the floor of the House. Those of you who were here will recall that to oppose the bill on the floor of the House was impossible. The gag rule was resorted to, parliamentary tricks were resorted to so that none of us got a chance even to have our amendments considered or to speak for or against the bill.

The present bill does change my congressional district. From our already second largest district in Pennsylvania, with approximately four hundred thirty thousand population, it takes the County of Jefferson, which not only greatly reduces the area that our congressman has to traverse, but also takes from us a six thousand Republican majority. It leaves as the situation stands the three counties of Cambria, Armstrong and Indiana with a population of about three hundred seventy-five thousand. It is not what we want. I asked the members of the Congressional Reapportionment Committee to leave Cambria County united with any one county. They responded by taking one county from our district. It is not what we want, but it is a step in the right direction, and therefore, Mr. Speaker, I wish to assure you and the Members of the House that when the roll is called I am going to vote for this reapportionment bill.

Mr. OWENS. Mr. Speaker, I have no fault to find whatsoever with my colleague from Cambria, Mr. O'Connor, as far as his stand in this matter is concerned. However, I shall vote "no" on this bill. I shall vote "no" on this bill for the simple reason that our district still has 75,000 people too many. I shall vote "no" on this bill for the simple reason that I consider this bill a vicious bill, a vicious reapportionment over this state. I shall vote "no" on this bill because after all, I must have the interests of all the people at heart in this state, and not alone the interests of my own district. If I took my district and considered it only against the wishes and against the very principles of the people throughout the Commonwealth, I'd feel I were at fault.

I have no fault to find with Mr. O'Connor's stand. I know that he is sincere, and my stand is just as sincere as the others. I thank you.

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I would only like to take a few minutes to point out and have my remarks follow those of my colleagues from Cambria County, that contrary to the statements made by the previous speakers relative to gerrymandering and grabbing of offices, this fill affects my Congressional district adversely from a political standpoint. That is, it does cut away from our district a county which has always voted solidly Republican, and it has been responsible for the election of the Republican Congressman from our district. If we were grabbing, if we were gerrymandering, we wouldn't have done that, we wouldn't have allowed that county to be taken away from us. But, gentlemen, I say that our district was too large, we were not entitled to that and I want the records to show that the men from the district affected recognize that fact and are going to support the bill in its entirety, with this evidence of the sincerity of its draftsmanship.

Mr. LEVY. Mr. Speaker, when Senate Bill 272 was on second reading yesterday afternoon I had the opportunity of questioning the leader of the Republican party, and I want at this time to take the opportunity of thanking him for his courteous answers. After questioning the Majority Leader I have become increasingly convinced that there is no more consistency in the attitude of the party in power relative to congressional apportionment than there has been all session. I say this, Mr. Speaker, because this bill like no other, strikes at the very root of what the gentleman from Lebanon so aptly described as our democracy. I say to you, if there is one bill on the calendar this session that we must, as one of the speakers before me said, raise our heads high in a room alone with ourselves and say to ourselves "Are we giving the people of Pennsylvania what the people of Pennsylvania should get, or are we giving the political power in Pennsylvania and the minority in the United States the things that they think they so justly deserve?"

I am a bit fearful, Mr. Speaker, this afternoon because of the fear that emanates from a bill that strikes at the root of democracy. I am very much afraid that the answer given by the Majority Leader yesterday afternoon was so much in accord with the party with whom he associates himself, the party, gentleman, that proclaims that isolation is finished, but that we should have a return of real state rights. I am very much afraid that the Majority Leader's answer to my questions yesterday coincides too much with the thought of the Republican party in the nation that we are getting ever so close to London, but we must be so far away from Washington. I am afraid also, Mr. Speaker, that the Majority Leader's answer coincided too much with the Republican philosophy that the world around us is shrinking, but content that the country is getting bigger. I know and they know that their orators in Washington have cried out that the world must solve its problems as one, but that they hold America can solve its problem in fractions. They are turning outward and inward simultaneously, a contortion perhaps attended with risk. They see new American airlines in Congress, spanning the whole of a shrunken world, while each town and state in this country makes its own rules concerning labor regulations and concerning industry and competition.

I say, Mr. Speaker, like Senate Bill 274, this national pattern is being evolved in the nation by the Republican party, a vision as big as the world and as small as a dot, large enough to ride on and handy enough to keep in your pocket. I say then in answer to the gentleman from Lebanon, that is the fear that arises, that is the fear that emanates from one's soul and body when Senate Bill 272 makes its appearance.

Mr. Speaker, I will tell you something further. The Republican party in Congress says that we must take care of the boys when they come marching home, and also that we must weed out every alphabetical agency in the United States. In other words, the Republican party nationally, like the Republican party under the leadership of that great soldier Edward Martin, says we must do more with nothing; we must have child care with no money. We cannot take care of the boys when we force out of office and out of governmental bureaus the only officials who are qualified and who are trained to take care of them. This government of ours they say must stop giving orders to private citizens, and also that after the war when we get rid of Mr. Roosevelt we are going to need compulsory peace time military training to be safe in the world though separated from it.

Yes, Mr. Speaker, they promise the individual is going to be as free as the air though dressed in khaki and buttons. They appeal for an America entirely free to do business anywhere but have obligations nowhere. I say to the gentleman from Lebanon, we can't do business like that. In America where everybody will be taken care of, they must be taken care of by somebody, not nobody. An America in which we shall be allowed to lead our lives, they say except when we take a couple of years out for compulsory military training to make it safe for the Republican isolationists to lead their own lives.

What has this to do with Congressional reapportionment? I would say without the presence of Senate Bill 272, nothing, but when the Republican party in Pennsylvania attempts to gerrymander into position a bill which will oust from office five Democrats and replace them with five Manufacturer's Association-dictated Congressmen I say these philosophies must be brought to light and I charge this afternoon, Mr. Speaker, that on the entire side of the majority there is not one man who can rise and refute that statement, because the statement is in the record. The Minority Leader read it. The Republican record before Pearl Harbor is atrociously un-American. It is only because of December 7, 1941 that they have crawled back into their shells afraid to come out into the light, afraid that possibly now when it is over their drastic and tragic words on the floor of Congress might be printed in the pamphlets and newspapers of the United States.

I say to you, Mr. Speaker, this afternoon, in America where we won't change a thing in our democracy, the soldier boys, when they return, will find someone is not telling the truth. Only three days ago the Republican minority in Congress,—and let me make this clear, gentlemen,—they only need another seven to make it solid, ripped out from the government of the United States, that great humanitarian organization, the Farm Security Administration which would give to the boys who come marching home an opportunity to buy a small farm if they needed it. Why don't the Republican leadership be honest? Why don't the Republican leadership be sincere? This bill is written by the manufacturers and utilities of Pennsylvania. They want to make sure that in the next election, even if Franklin Delano Roosevelt is no longer a candidate, or is a candidate, the Republicans in Pennsylvania will send utility and manufacturing stooges to the halls of Congress. That is what this bill means, nothing more and nothing less.

I asked yesterday afternoon of the majority leader to explain to the House why in the third district of Philadelphia this genius of a legislative committee decided that the third district with two hundred seventy-two thousand more population had to have annexed to it seven more Republican wards? What was his answer? His answer was "We'll take the blame. We are willing to go before the bar of public opinion." I say to the Majority Leader this afternoon, beware that the bar of public opinion doesn't become so weighty that they may take out of the Legislature the right to make the proper reapportionment legislation laws.

I say, Mr. Speaker, let the Majority Leader this afternoon answer to the Democratic party and answer to the people of Pennsylvania why the third congressional district in Philadelphia must have three hundred forty-nine thousand people and the eighteenth district, a safe Republican horseneck, bottleneck district, have only two hundred four thousand?

Gentlemen, that is not philosophy, that is figures of the hardest kind, and I charge, and I defy the Republican leadership this afternoon to answer that question.

Yesterday we heard very audibly the Speaker of the House say during the discussion of a bill, and I believe it was this bill, "Let us forget about the war; let us talk about this bill." I say to you, Mr. Speaker, this afternoon, you cannot debate Senate Bill 272 without debating the war and all its horror. You can't talk about the boys away in foreign countries without talking about the trick of the Republican party in trying to unseat five decent, liberal, honest-to-God representatives of the people and supplanting them with five stooges of the utilities and manufacturers to whom Governor Martin owes his allegiance. And tie that one to your kite strings.

Let me say in conclusion, and I am not going to cite, I am not going to talk about the message of the President of the United States, I am not going to read from the Congressional Record about what a Democrat congressman said; I am going to read to the House what the leader of the Republican party in the United States has to say in his recent book that just came from the printing presses. You heard a lot, gentlemen, this afternoon about minority rights. Let me tell you what Mr. Willkie says about minority rights. Oh, I know there are a lot of Republicans who say, "He is not the leader of our party." There are a lot of Republicans who want to wash the odor of Willkie from their linen, but I say to you gentlemen that he was your presidential candidate in 1940 and he is the titular head of the Republican party until the next candidate is chosen in 1944, so tie on to these words, let them sink in before you cast your vote. He just came from a trip around the world. He knows what he is talking about. Mr. Willkie says, and I quote from his book:

> "To suppress minority thinking and minority expression would tend to freeze society and prevent progress, for the majority itself is stimulated by the existence of minority groups. The human mind requires contrary expression against which to justify its position. We now, more than ever, must keep in the forefront of our minds the fact that whenever we take away the liberties of those whom we hate we are opening the way to loss of liberty for those we love. Let us not tear it asunder, for no man knows once it is destroyed where or when men will find its protective want again."

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I rise to defend not only this bill but I rise to defend the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania, although he needs no defense. Governor Edward Martin prior to the time he was elected governor had served this state in many capacities as a marvelous statesman, and my friends, he has served his country as an honorable soldier; he spilt his blood on the battlefields of France for our country, and now my friends, his only living boy is serving in the army forces of our country to do his bit and follow the leadership of his illustrious father and to give his all if need be for this country that we all love.

Why, you Democrats have in my opinion sunk to a new low in the calling of names, and I join with my colleague, Mr. David Sarge, in asking that you expunge from the record certain terrible statements made on the floor of this House today, namely that we on this side are hypocrites and that we on this side are not interested in winning the war.

Men, statements like that only come when your temper is high; I do not believe that you meant that particular type of statement, and I think you should in all honor expunge from the record those two particular statements. We know that when this session started there seemed to be an agreement between the leaders of my party and the leaders of the opposite party that we should have an orderly closing in this House, and when that agreement was made the Democrats knew that it has always been the prerogative of the majority party to put into effect certain legislation that they deem wise and well. But just as soon as one piece of legislation came up in the Senate of Pennsylvania that did not meet with the approval of one particular leader in the State of Pennsylvania, they forgot all about their solemn promise and their solemn pledge to the boys over there, and they treated that pledge as a scrap of paper. I wish, my friends, that every voter in the state of Pennsylvania, both Democrat and Republican, could have been with me last Monday night as I walked over to the Senate of Pennsylvania. There I saw a scene that made my blood boil. I saw a gentleman by the name of Jaspan from Philadelphia making a mockery out of the Constitution of the United States, the most sacred document in the history of American independence. I say to you that if that is the type of statesman that you send from Philadelphia, then God speed the day when you do elect Republicans from Philadelphia.

The Republicans are willing and ready to stand on the record and rise or fall on the bills that we put through this House. I heard the Minority Floor Leader quote from General Ulysses S. Grant, and might I also quote from that great general, that if you intend and do continue these contemptible methods of interfering with the legislation of the state of Pennsylvania, we too can say with General Grant that "We will fight it out on this line if it takes all summer," and I say that we will continue to stay here.

You have also said that you elected a Governor but once in the last half century, and God knows, men, that proved to be just once too often, because the voters of my state went to the polls, they marched from the country districts down over the hills and the vales and the valleys to repudiate a Governor of that type, and they placed once more in the sacred halls of the government of Pennsylvania a Republican. I believe that I say honestly, if you continue the methods that you are using, never again in the history of the Keystone state of Pennsylvania will you see a Democratic Governor of the state of Pennsylvania. I heard Mr. Petrosky, and I have great respect for him, talking to you about labor. I do not know a man either on that side of the House or this side of the House who has a better record in the humanitarian affairs of the men, women and children of this Commonwealth than I have, and I certainly ask you to try and find on the record, and disprove that statement, but may I say to you that the Republican party of the state of Pennsylvania has been the greatest friend of the laboring man in this state.

Why, 'way back in 1915, when there were no pressure groups in this country it was a Republican House and a Republican Senate and a Republican Governor that enacted into law the Workmen's Compensation Act. I ask you who placed on the statute books that law of Mothers Assistance? It was a Republican House, a Republican Senate, and it was signed by a Republican Governor.

Then I ask you my friends, who placed on the statute books of the state of Pennsylvania the pension for the unfortunate blind of our state? My friends, it was a Republican House, it was a Republican Senate and it was enacted into law by the signature of a Republican Governor.

And then last, but not least, it was a Republican House and a Republican Senate that gave to the great Keystone state of Pennsylvania its first Old-Age Assistance Act, and that too was signed and enacted into law by a Republican Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I plead with you men on the other side as I did on the 22nd day of February when we were commemorating George Washington's birthday, to forget once and for all any political bills that you dislike; let us get along, not as Democrats, not as Republicans, but as full red-blooded Americans to give everything and to give our all in helping win this particular war.

I was amazed that on the day prior to the closing of the greatest loan in size that was ever floated in any country in the world when this government of ours inaugurated a loan of thirteen billion dollars, that on the night prior to the starting of that loan one man in the Democratic party forced you in your caucus to start a filibuster that he knew and you knew would interfere largely and greatly with that loan.

However, this morning, from the last reports I had on the loan, we only need about three billion dollars more, and pray God before the time expires the men and women of this government will arise and subscribe the full thirteen billion dollars, so that the very best equipment that money will buy shall be sent to your boys and to my boys and to your girls and to my girls in helping to end this terrible crisis that concerns us all.

Some of us may have thought we were Republicans and Democrats, and that we are important cogs in this machinery to put over this loan. It has been my great pleasure to have served in every loan for 25 years that was used for war effort and I think I helped, maybe, in the first war loan because I have evidence of that from the United States Government, but yet because one man in the state of Pennsylvania disagreed with some of the Republican leaders, you stopped me and you stopped many other men in this House from taking their proper place in helping to float this loan.

I plead with you from the earnestness of my heart, not from my mind, to forget this petty politics and let us pass the legislation that you know will eventually be passed, and let us go home and bend every effort we can to stop this great, cruel struggle.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I want to express my deep regret for having to sit as a Member of this House and to have heard here today a shameful concept of what democracy is. The gentlemen on the other side of the House have run the gamut of their emotions in heaping vituperation and abuse on everyone, from the Governor of the State of Pennsylvania on down. Everyone who does not agree with them has been castigated today, there has been hatred and bitterness expressed against every one of them; they have played class against class, they have preached hatred against people and last but not least, and I have listened attentively to what they had to say, they booed one of the gentlemen on this side of the House who was expressing his patriotic feelings before this House.

Gentlemen, I say to you that democracy has fallen to a low state here this afternoon. The gentlemen on the other side of this House have demonstrated better than anything else they could have done or have said that something must be done in order to rid, not only Washington, but the state of Pennsylvania of that type of representation. I am an ex-serviceman and I am the father of two sons in the service. The gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley, made the lowest, vilest and dirtiest statement that has ever been made on the floor of this House when he said that the Republicans have no interest in winning this war. On the seat of a Member just one row in front of him is an American flag. On the rostrum on the right is another American Flag. The gentleman might look at those flags and hang his head in shame. Remarks such as were made by him would have been better made from a dungpile rather than from the floor of this House.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his point of order.

Mr. MODELL. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is making personal accusations on the floor of this House and I think he is out of order.

The SPEAKER. The Chair agrees with the gentleman from Philadelphia, however, that has been the trouble all afternoon. The Members will forget personalities and confine themselves to the question before the House. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BRETHERICK. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that the Speaker did not see fit to enforce that ruling prior to this time. However,—

The SPEAKER. The point of order was raised. The Chair is not taking to task the gentleman from Delaware, but personalities must not be indulged in on the floor of this House. The Chair asks the membership to abide by the rules. If the Members want to fight, they can do it out on the highway and not on the floor of the House.

Mr. BRETHERICK. I want to say that I agree fully with the Speaker, but I do not like the gentlemen on the other side to deliver low punches and expect us to stand here and take them, because we don't do business that way.

I asked the Members of the House yesterday to consider this bill and the amendments on their merits. I was perfectly willing to discuss it on that basis, but when the gentlemen on the other side stoop to the mud gutter we have to protect ourselves. However, out of respect to the Speaker, I am going to try to discuss the bill on its merits.

There has been, and I say it again as I said it yesterday, an honest attempt on the part of the Republican party to comply with the definite constitutional requirements in apportioning the state of Pennsylvania. The gentleman from Philadelphia, a former classmate of mine, and a former classmate of Representative Cohen, Congressman McGranery, has indicated that a foul blow has been struck in taking a congressman from the city of Philadelphia. The gentleman swore to uphold the Constitution of the United States and he is perfectly willing to violate his oath of office and see the Constitution trampled upon in order to get the city of Philadelphia one more congressman. I am not going to get into a long harangue about gerrymandering because I do not think that there has been any gerrymandering. The gentleman from Philadelphia and the gentleman from Allegheny I think satisfactorily explained to the Members of this House yesterday what has been done and the justification for it. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Cohen, read a statement by Congressman Eberharter in which he said that there had been a tacit,—which of course leaves a lot of leeway,—a tacit agreement by the committee which framed the apportionment bill in 1942, to the effect that the apportionment bill was to stand for a period of ten years. I say to you Members of the House that that is a false, a misleading and a deliberate misstatement. No such agreement was entered into, even tacitly, if we can define just what tacitly means. It is a weasel word, used for the purpose of creating the impression that something was done which was not done. I could discuss this bill on the floor of this House for the rest of the afternoon. There was a great deal of controversy regarding it yesterday, too much of it, gentlemen, and in too low a manner this afternoon. I am going to terminate if I may, at least as far as we are concerned, the controversy with regard to this bill. I am going to say to you that the majority party should prevail, even in war times. We of the Republican party were elected by the people of the state of Pennsylvania. We are expected by the people of Pennsylvania to frame legislation, having always in remind due regard for the rights of the minority, if you please. No government should function without giving due regard to the rights of the minorities, but we on this side must assume the responsibility as the majority party.

However, when you come to ask us to adopt your plan, when you come to us to do what is your bidding, then I say to you that we would have failed to live up to the oath and obligation which we took, and we would have failed in the duty which we owe to the people who elected us. I ask every Member of this House, I ask the Democratic Members who are in favor of this bill to vote for it in its present form.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have apparently created some emotion or other feeling on the other side of the House by some remarks that I made. If my observation that the Republican party was not interested in the war, or interested in the winning of the war, created a personal affront to any member on the other side, I regret that, but if their party's actions to which they subscribed, created a stench that indicates that they have no interest, I cannot help it. I do not propose to expunge my remarks from the record; I do propose to let the record answer the remarks of the gentleman. Let me run over, and I have been doing this while this discussion has been going on, very hurriedly,—let me run over the record of this Legislature from January to date, and it is not a complete record. As I said I had to go over it hurriedly, but after this—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Somerset will state his point of order.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is not speaking on the question before the House. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Mr. BENTLEY. I agree, Mr. Speaker, and I will have to answer it at a later date.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the point of order is well taken. The Chair has been trying to confine the Members to the question before the House, which is the Reapportionment Bill, Senate Bill 272. The gentleman will confine his remarks to the question before the House.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have never raised a point of order on any Member of this House, and if it is a rough-and-tumble debate that they want, I will take it with them. They have raised a point of order on me now, just as they have gagged other Members of the House, and I shall answer them at a later date on a question of personal privilege. I merely want the record to show at this time that their remarks should not go unanswered, and I remind the House that I will be on this floor as soon as we can dispose of this business, to answer the remarks of the gentleman.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I had not intended after I had made my opening remarks on this bill, that the position of the minority would require any further substantiation. We will let the record show that, we will let the record prove overwhelmingly that we are right, but I should like to discuss the matter in a constructive way, despite what the gentleman from Armstrong said when he raised one or two questions with respect to his conception of the effect of Senate Bill 272.

One statement he made was that the type of people,—if I'm not accurate, correct me, and I will apologize,—that the type of people who are sent to Washington by the Democrats, or the type of people who are sent to Harrisburg over in the Senate are not the kind of persons who ought to be legislators. If by such remarks he means to infer that others are of the same stamp, I must take issued and go to the record. Senate Bill 272 reshuffles Philadelphia, and if we are talking about the type of people who ought to be elected into the legislative halls, here or in Washington, let us look at the record. Let us take Philadelphia in the last election and let us see whether or not the Republican party really thinks it nominates for high office in some instances the kind of people that are needed in Washington. For instance, a Democrat represented a district in Philadelphia for six years, three consecutive terms. He was young, he was vigorous, and so far as I know personally and as far as I am told, he did a very good job in Washington. He was defeated the last time and he is now in the army. I saw him just the other day and he told me he has taken his basic training and is off on secret orders. I wished him well, I wished him good health, I wished him a speedy return. The man who beat him was the candidate of the Republican party, and was the only candidate against the Congressman. He happened to be a young, vigorous, astute and nimble young man of seventy-eight years of age, to be sent to Washington in war crisis—a man of seventy-eight. It is no reflection against the man himself, but is a reflection against the choice of the Republican leaders in Philadelphia to place in the Congress of the United States a man who presumably cannot, because of physical limitations, carry on the heavy duties required of every Congressman in Washington today.

Then in the third district where Congressmen Bradley, whose name has been so often mentioned, is serving his fourth term now, as a vigorous, hard fighting Democrat and a supporter of Roosevelt. They sent against him a former Congressman, whose record in the last war Congress, in a Congress that was involved in the first World War, that built up an abdominable and atrocious record in the Congress of the United States. I do not believe that the majority—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Crawford will state his point of order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that the gentleman is speaking on the question before the House.

Mr. COHEN. I submit, Mr. Speaker, that we are discussing the effects of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman confine his remarks to the subject before the House? The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that the debate has gone into the effect of this bill and I am merely answering the statement of the gentleman from Armstrong, who was not stopped or questioned. The statement has been made that tempers are running high and we are trying to get off an awful lot of steam, but I intend to stick to the facts on Senate Bill 272, and I think any answer to the statement of the gentleman from Armstrong Mr. Gates is clearly to the point. I shall attempt not to violate the rule in discussing what this bill will do and what its practical effect will be.

May I say further that if Senate Bill 272 is enacted into law—

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. Speaker—

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, maybe I affect the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany; maybe I am getting steam up a little bit, but I will attempt to go on without interruption; give me time to catch my breath. So, Mr. Speaker, I would like to proceed without any further interruptions because I think that this kind of time requires a minimum of excitement and a maximum of thinking, no matter how wrong it may be.

As I was saying, Mr. Speaker, Senate Bill 272 was definitely aimed to attack Congressman Bradley, a war veteran, an expert in the Naval Affairs Committee of the House. It is going to wipe him out of existence as far as Congress is concerned, and in his place, if I read the stars correctly, the Republican party will again attempt to foist on the voters of my district, the third Congressional district of Philadelphia, a kingpin of the party in that district, a former Congressman, John R. K. Scott. John R. K. Scott was in Congress during the first World War and he was absent, I think, every time except thirteen of roll call votes, on two hundred seventy some odd measures that were before that Congress. During the first World War the newspapers of Philadelphia carried screaming headlines about a certain vicious political—and if my memory serves me right, and I stand corrected if it is not so—attempted, let us say, embezzlement, or attempt to do plain political trickery and thievery. That is in the record, and if the gentlemen on the other side are interested, if access is to be had to the files of the old North American, a newspaper in Philadelphia at that time, they will find this record, and if I am wrong I will apologize to the former Congressman from Philadelphia, John R. K. Scott. Now, Mr. Speaker, don't talk about the kind of people we send unless you expect skeletons to rattle in your closets.

Let me say one other thing, on last Thursday night I was at a dinner with a very dear friend of mine, a Republican from Philadelphia, who stands rather high in Republican party councils, who was discussing with me Senate Bill 272. He was discussing with me some of the things that Senate Bill 272 would do, and he discussed with me the types of candidates offered by the Republican party, and he had this to say, that one of the prime requisites for being a candidate on the Republican ticket for legislative duties, and I am not referring to any Member of this House, but I am merely referring to the type of candidates who are selected, exclusive of this House, is first, that you have to be seventy-five, and second that you have to have arthritis.

Now, Mr. Speaker, that is the type of candidate that the Republican party requires for their ticket, and I think in many instances, you will find that to be true.

Secondly the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, had this to say, that this is a one-man filibuster, dictated by one man to the Democratic House caucus. I will not tell what went on in that caucus because I think what goes on in caucuses is sacred to the party and what goes on in committee is sacred to the committee, but let me say this, that about two weeks ago today—I have been kicking myself around somewhat because we have been in Harrisburg for a long time and have not been doing much—I went to a movie that night to see John Steinbeck's "The Moon is Down". That picture took me from where I was and knocked me flat down on my back and made me realize what was going on in Pennsylvania, that we in Pennsylvania had not done substantially a thing up to that point and very little since to help the national government or to help ourselves or to help the people to effect a program to win the war. It may be, as the gentleman said, thank God there was only one Democratic administration in the last half a century, and if we kept on going that way, there would be no more. That is O.K. If that be the will of the majority let the record so read and let the future so hold. I said before and I will say it again, and I will say it now, whether or not we have a Democratic governor, whether or not we have a Democratic administration, and even whether or not the Republican party reforms, you will never stop the minority, you will never stop the people from telling what they think.

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Muir, Taylor, Cadwalader, Stonier, Boorse, Norman Wood, Imbrie, Ely, James, Fleming, McClester, Kline, Wachhaus, Freed, Flack, Cook, Sarge, McAtee, Erb, Krepps, and others.

On the question,

Shall the main question be now put?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Baker and Mr. Lovett and were as follows:

Messrs. Lovett, Petrosky and Maxwell requested a verification of the roll.

(During the verification of the roll.)

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask how the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates voted?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is not recorded.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, being in a very embarrassing position, I did not cast my vote one way or another.

Mr. LOVETT. I did not hear the gentleman.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I did not cast my vote either aye or no.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman is in his seat in the House, is he not compelled to vote?

The SPEAKER. The Chair for the information of the House will read rule 71:

> "Every member shall be present within the Hall of the House during its sittings, and unless he is excused by the House or necessarily prevented, shall vote for or againt each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the determinaton of such question, or unless he be excused by the House."

Does the gentleman desire to be excused by the House?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, it would seem to me under the rules that I have a very peculiar interest because I happen to be the one that would have been stopped from answering the gentleman on the other side. However, Mr. Speaker, if it is constitutional to be excused, I would ask this House to excuse me from voting.

The SPEAKER. Will the House excuse the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, from voting? The Chair hears no objections. The gentleman is excused from voting.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, is it in order to make a motion for the previous question when there is still a Member of the House who has not been recognized by the Chair, who wants to speak upon the question before the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Allegheny that the motion for the previous question is a privileged motion and is in order even while a Member is speaking.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, is that a rule of the House or a parliamentary rule?

The SPEAKER. That is a rule of this House.

Mr. LEONARD. I thank the Speaker.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Tate, Barrett and Petrosky requested a verification of the roll.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. LANE offered the following reasons for his vote:

My reasons for voting against Senate Bill No. 272, Printer's No. 245 are rather numerous. I realize that for almost a century the 25th Congressional district comprised the counties of Washington and Greene and under the provisions of the apportionment of the Special Session of 1942, those counties were separated to the great disappointment of the residents of those communities, the present reapportionment bill will reunite those counties. However, under the provisions of the present bill, President Roosevelt will be deprived of the support of at least five congressmen and it is my thought that this is no time to have selfish motives. It is my opinion that the fate of our Nation is at stake, we must make every sacrifice in supporting our Commander-In-Chief.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. RUSSELL E. REESE offered the following reasons for his vote:

My reasons for voting against Senate Bill No. 272, Printer's No. 245 are rather numerous. I realize that for almost a century the 25th Congressional district comprised the counties of Washington and Greene and under the provisions of the apportionment of the Special Session of 1942, those counties were divided to the great disappointment of the residents of those communities the present re-apportionment bill will re-units those counties. QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will recognize the gentleman later under his question of personal privilege, if he will yield temporarily.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, does the Chair mean in the next few minutes? I might state to the Chair that I wish my remarks on personal privilege—

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Bentley.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to answer the remarks and the actions of the majority side of the House insofar as they refer to the remarks made by myself on the floor of the House. I would like to state further there have been some choice bits of vituperation cast in my direction. I can take that. The remarks ran the gamut from dungheap to sewer and gutter and low punches. I can say that not one of those adjectives can properly describe this very latest action of the majority side of the House. On one of the very important bills of the session they applied the gag rule as they have so many times, by shutting off debate and not answering. That is the oppressive and bullying tactics on that side of the House, and it has every reason to be condemned, and I here condemn it.

Mr. Speaker, let me answer first the charge made by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, that we on this side of the House are guilty of bad manners and worse for booing the remarks of one of the gentleman on the other side of the House. The answer to that is known to all Members of this House, and I am willing to let the record show it. We did not initiate that kind of action, we did not start it. I was booed when I made my remarks and so was the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Levy, long before the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates, took the floor of the House. That practice goes back much further than this debate. So, Mr. Speaker, let the record show that we did not initiate that sort of thing, but we will meet fire with fire on this side of the House.

As to the remarks of the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, repeated by several other members on the other side of the House, that I should be ashamed of the remarks I made, to the effect that the Republican party has no interest in winning the war, let us let the record answer that. In the short time that I have had I have glanced hastily through it. Let us look at the legislation that has been presented by the majority side of the House and by the majority of the Senate. That is in answer to the charge that what I said was not true and that I should hang my head. Let us run down over the bills that have been presented, and that is a complete answer to everything that the gentleman has said.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Lackawanna will state his point of order.

Mr. CORDIER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman is attempting to discuss pending legislation. This is not permissible under a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman requested the floor under a question of personal privilege. Will the gentleman please confine his remarks to the question of personal privilege?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I shall not name the bills by number, but that is a complete answer to the charge that what I said was not true, and therefore it is personal to me and my remarks are personal on it. Further, let me remind you of the Philadelphia Bail Bond bill which was passed in this House—

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman kindly confine his remarks to the question of personal privilege concerning himself?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, the point of personal privilege also covered my remarks, particularly the remarks that the Republican party was not interested in the winning of the war. Certainly a party that puts in a bill such as that shows that they are not interested in winning the war. That was their primary purpose in putting in this bill that passed this House. Let any man on the other side of the House undertake to say that that shows their interest in winning the war.

Mr. HARE. Will the Chair please read to the gentleman on the other side who is now speaking, the Rule on personal privilege.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield until the Chair has ruled on the point of order now before us.

On the point of order was raised by the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, the Chair will read for the information of the House, Rule 67:

> "Personal Privilege. Any member may rise and explain a matter personal to himself by leave of the Speaker, but he shall not discuss any pending question in such explanation. Question of personal privilege shall be limited to questions affecting the rights, reputation and conduct of members of the House in their representative capacity."

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I submit that that is not pending legislation. That legislation has passed.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, the point of order I wanted to raise was that the gentleman from Somerset, Mr. Hare, did not raise a point of order, he made a statement.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read for the information of the House and for the benefit of the gentleman from Allegheny, the ruling on personal privilege:

> A member rose to a question of personal privilege and the Speaker ruled that unless the question of personal privilege related to the integrity of the member or the integrity of the House, it is not in order.

Another ruling is as follows:

> A member rose to a question of personal privilege. The point of order was raised that the gentleman was not speaking on a question of personal privilege. The Speaker ruled that the questions of personal privilege are first those affecting the rights of the House collectively, its safety, its dignity and the integrity of its proceedings; second, the right, reputation and conduct of its members individually in their representative capacity only.

The Chair will also read decision 156-A:

> A member was addressing the House under a question of personal privilege, when the point of order was made that the gentleman was not speaking on the question of personal privilege. The Speaker ruled the point of order well taken, and in response to a parliamentary inquiry, stated the following:

> 'Questions affecting the rights, reputation and conduct of members of the House in their representative capacity are questions of personal privilege.
>
> 'Questions of privilege of a member must relate to a person as a member of the body or relate to charges against his character which would, if true, incapacitate him for membership, and he is not entitled to the floor on a question of personal privilege unless the subject which he proposes to present relates to him in his representative capacity.
>
> 'A person who raises the question of personal privilege must confine himself to remarks which concern himself personally, and when speaking under a personal privilege a member has no right to defend any person other than himself.'

The gentleman will proceed and confine himself to the question of personal privilege?

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, in my representative capacity I made certain remarks and the integrity of those remarks have been challenged. I propse to go through the record to establish the integrity of my remarks. Nothing can be more personal than that. I pointed out that the Philadelphia bail bond racket bill that—

The SPEAKER. The Chair would again ask the gentleman not to mention that which is not personal to himself. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, it must be a very sore spot. Let me establish then by other bills that the remarks that were made, are found on the record. Let me refer you to Senate Bill 255, the parole bill ripper. Wherein does that show any interest by the Republican party to further the war?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman yield? The gentleman will confine his remarks to questions personal to himself. If the gentleman cannot proceed in order, the Chair cannot permit him to proceed under his question of personal privilege.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, I shall stop under the question of personal privilege. I have been gagged very effectively and I propose—

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no desire to gag any Member of this House. The Chair is simply trying to have everybody proceed under the rules of the House.

Mr. BENTLEY. I shall yield then, Mr. Speaker, and ask unanimous consent to address the House.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent to the gentleman to address the House? Is there objection?

Mr. WALTER E. ROSE. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and consent is not granted.

Mr. BENTLEY. I yield, Mr. Speaker.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of information.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, is it in order to call up this bill on page 18?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman has that privilege under Rule 14 of the House.

Mr. O'BRIEN. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman need unanimous consent to call up this bill?

The SPEAKER. The gentleman does not need unanimous consent to call up a bill from postponed calendar. The Chair will read part of Rule 14:

> Bills on the Final Passage Postponed calendar may be called up under this order of business.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SARRAF. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. SARRAF. What order of business is the House on now?

The SPEAKER. Bills on third reading. The special order of business has been disposed of.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MAXWELL. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MAXWELL. Is it not in order to take up bills on first reading at this time?

The SPEAKER. The House is not on that order of business at this time. The order of the day is bills on third reading, established by unanimous consent this morning.

Mr. MAXWELL. It is my understanding that we had the special order of business at two o'clock.

The SPEAKER. The special order of business has been disposed of.

Mr. MAXWELL. Then do we not revert back to our regular order of business?

The SPEAKER. And the regular order of business is bills on third reading.

Mr. MAXWELL. The order of business under the rules of this House? I do not read, it that way.

The SPEAKER. For the information of the gentleman the order of business, bills on third reading, was established by unanimous consent this morning.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill 663 as proposed by the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon. At the time the confusion started relative to the assessments by the Assessment Board of Allegheny County, the county commissioners of Allegheny County at once proceeded to call in members of the Real Estate Board, and now a committee has been created to go into the matter and report back with recommendations to the commissioners. The purpose of the county commissioners in appointing the committee of outside real estate experts to inquire into and make recommendations on Allegheny County's assessment policy was to remove this question from the field of politics. Representative Hannon, whose activities particularly called this matter to the public attention, professes highest regard for the integrity and ability of the investigation committee. This investigation committee was requested to meet and report its recommendations back to the county commissioners.

I have in my hand a letter from the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board that I want to read into the record for the information of the Members of this House. This letter is dated April 15, and addressed to me. It reads:

> The Board of Governors of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board has gone on record vigorously opposing Representative O. B. Hannon's bills, Nos. H. R. 195 and H. R. 663. H. R. 195 would abolish county taxes in Allegheny County on mine and mill machinery.—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his point of order.

Mr. FLEMING. My point of order, Mr. Speaker, is that the gentleman is not speaking on House Bill 663. He is speaking on 195.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will please confine himself to House Bill 663, Printer's No. 444.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House. It is only a small paragraph dealing with this, and I want the whole letter on the record. May I have that ruling?

The SPEAKER. Will the House permit the gentleman to read a small paragraph which is confined to this subject? The Chair hears no objections. The gentleman will confine himself to the question before the House.

Mr. LEONARD. I will read:

> H. R. 663 would change the present County Board of Assessment, Appeals, and Review. The main provisions of the Bill would reduce the number of members from seven to three and provide for their appointment by the County Commissioners, the Court of Common Pleas, and City Council acting jointly with the County Commissioners. It also provides for duties, salaries, methods of placing value, nominal assessment of $100.00 on buildings under construction, methods of operation of the Board, and so on.
>
> We believe that this Bill is unsound, inconsistent, and its constitutionality is questionable. This legislation is wholly unnecessary at this time inasmuch as the present legislation is adequate, there being need only for more effective application. The local Assessment Research Committee, appointed to investigate the County Board of Assessment, Appeals, and Review, has made an excellent report and offers a solution to the assessment problem in Allegheny County without the necessity for further legislation.
>
> We earnestly urge your support in opposing these two Bills.
>
> Respectfully yours
> (Signed) Fred J. Hettling
> President

Mr. Speaker, I am not a real estate man and have had no experience in handling real estate. The county commissioners of Allegheny County for the purpose of eliminating politics immediately suggested that practical men take over this subject matter. They have done so and they have done a good job, and this board of investigation shows you, the Members this House, that the matter is well in hand, that the present law is perfectly adequate, and this board, the outstanding real estate board of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County is telling you from a practical standpoint that House Bill 663 is not needed. Now, who is right in this case? Is it politics that is right or are the people of the County of Allegheny right? Is the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board right or are we right here in the House? I am willing to take the word of the board, and I ask the Members of this House to support the request of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board.

Mr. HANNON. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Leonard, I wish to state that I had lunch with a committee of the Pittsburgh Real Estate Board last Saturday, including Mr. Hettling, who signed the letter read by the gentleman from Allegheny Mr. Leonard. The committee admitted to me openly that not one of them had read the bill, and after I read the bill to them and explained the bill to them, Mr. Hettling made the statement that he would then refer the bill back for further consideration on behalf of his committee. I do not intend to waste any more of the time of this House on this particular bill. It was thrashed out here yesterday, and I feel that the details were well discussed. I am asking every Member of this House on behalf of the home owners of Pittsburgh and Allegheny County to vote for this bill, because through this measure the inequitable assessment which now exists in Pittsburgh and in Allegheny County will be corrected.

Mr. STONIER. Mr. Speaker, I move the previous question.

The motion was seconded by Messrs. Muir, Serrill, Taylor, Boorse, Norman Wood, Fleming, James, Hannon, Cooper, Ewing, Cook, Van Allsburg, Mahany, McSurdy, Greenwood, Calvin, Coulson, Hoopes, Depuy, Paul H. Wagner and others.

On the question,
Shall the main question be now put?

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, being the only one that participated in the discussion on the question before the House, and the proponent of the bill having questioned the validity of the letter I read, is it possible for you as Speaker of the House to accept a motion to shut off debate and prevent me from correcting the statement made by Mr. Hannon? Is that possible?

The SPEAKER. The Chair has no other recourse but to follow the rules of this House. The Chair must put the question on the motion when it is called for.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, it is permissible under the rules of the House to interrogate a gentleman concerning the motion that is now before the House?

The SPEAKER. It is not. Under the motion for the previous question the only question before us is, shall the main question now be put.

Mr. BROWN. Is an interrogation possible on the motion before the House?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read the rule for the information of the House:

> The previous question shall not be moved by less than twenty members rising for that purpose, and shall be determined without debate. When the previous question has been called and is sustained by the majority of the members voting, its effect shal be to cut off all debate and bring the House to a direct vote upon the immediate question on which it has been ordered.

The Chair is of the opinion that interrogation would be a form of debate.

Mr. BROWN. Does the Chair have a decision of this House to guide the Chair in making that decision, that interrogation is debate?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read decision No. 134:

> Under a parliamentary inquiry the question was raised as to whether an interrogation of a motion to lay a resolution on the table was proper or improper. The Speaker stated that under the rule which provides that a motion to lay on the table is not debatable, it would preclude an interrogation which certainly is in the nature of an argument.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, may I ask that the Speaker again announce the names of those who seconded the motion to move the previous question?

The names of those who seconded the motion for the previous question were announced to the House from the Reporter's notes.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is a motion as to constitutionality of a bill permissible at this time?

The SPEAKER. That motion is not in order. The only question before the House is, shall the main question be now put.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, is a motion to lay the motion to put the main question on the table in order?

The SPEAKER. That motion is in order. The Chair would recognize a motion of that nature. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. BROWN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will read Rule 15 for the information of the House:

> No business regularly before the House shall be interrupted, except by motion for adjournment, to lay on the table, for the previous question, namely "shall the main question be now put?" for postponement, for commitment, for amendment, which several motions shall have precedence in the foregoing order.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to transgress any rules of this House; I never have, and I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, before making a motion to lay a motion for the previous question on the table, is it permissible for a Member at this time to make a statement as to why he makes the motion to lay upon the table, or is the Member confined to the bare motion to lay upon the table?

The SPEAKER. A motion to lay upon the table is not debatable.

Mr. BROWN. I am afraid the Speaker did not understand my question. Is the Member confined to the bare motion to "lay upon the table," or may he state why he makes the motion to lay upon the table?

The SPEAKER. A motion to lay upon the table is not debatable. The motion is confined to the bare motion to lay upon the table.

MOTION TO LAY ON TABLE

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I regret that I must abide by the ruling of the Speaker, but I shall do so. In the interests of fair play I move this time to lay upon the table the motion for the previous question.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. CALVIN. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. There is nothing before the House except the question on the motion of the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CALVIN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Beaver will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CALVIN. On page 740 of the Manual, under the heading "Decisions of the House," there is a decision regarding this very question, under number 171-a.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Calvin, that under the decision to which he refers the motion "Shall the main question be now put" had already been agreed to. In this instance it has not been so the motion to lay on the table under Rule 15 takes precedence.

Mr. CALVIN. Mr. Speaker, Decision No. 171-a reads:

> The previous question having been moved and seconded.
>
> A motion was made to lay the motion for the previous question on the table.
>
> The Speaker ruled that the motion for the previous question could not be laid upon the table.

I believe that is the decision.

The SPEAKER. The Chair was under the impression that the gentleman was referring to Decision 171-a. The Chair would again say to the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Calvin, that when that decision was made the motion for the previous question had already been agreed to. In this c[illegible] motion has not been agreed to.

Mr. CALVIN. If the Speaker please, I feel that that decision indicated that the previous question was made and seconded, and then a motion was made to lay on the table. The Speaker ruled that it could not be laid upon the table. Isn't that the situation at the present time?

The SPEAKER. No, because the motion has not been agreed to.

Mr. CALVIN. It says "moved and seconded."

The SPEAKER. The Chair informs the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Calvin, that under Rule 15, the motion not having been agreed to, the motion to lay upon the table takes precedence and is in order. The question is on the motion to lay the motion for the previous question on the table.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. COHEN. Am I to understand, Mr. Speaker, that the vote that is now to be taken is on the question to agree to the motion, and not for the main question?

The SPEAKER. The question is on the motion to lay the motion for the previous question on the table. Those voting "aye" vote to lay the motion for the previous question on the table. Those voting "no" vote against it.

The Chair would state to the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. Calvin, that the rule to which he refers was amended in 1943 and was not the rule in 1939 when that decision was made.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Baker and were as follows:

A verification of the roll was requested and withdrawn by Messrs. Schuster, Skale and Powers.

RESOLUTION No. 55

Mr. SCANLON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up House Resolution No. 55, Printer's No. 479.

The resolution was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 5, 1943.

Whereas, The House of Representatives of the General Assembly at the Regular Session of 1941, adopted on January 7, a resolution (Serial No. 12), whereby a special committee of five members was appointed to investigate a threatened discontinuance of W. P. A. sewing projects in Pennsylvania because of the refusal of this Commonwealth to contribute certain funds therefor as required by the Federal Government; and

Whereas, The Honorable William A. Shaw was designated as chairman of said committee; and

Whereas, The entire appropriation of three thousand dollars ($3,000) made to such committee under Appropriation Act 63-A, to cover the expenses of that investigation, was duly paid to the aforesaid William A. Shaw by the State Treasurer; and

Whereas, The investigation directed to be made by said committee was completed and a preliminary report filed with the General Assembly on February 17, 1942; and

Whereas, The chairman of the committee has never made any accounting of the disposition of the three thousand dollars ($3,000) appropriation turned over to him; and

Whereas, The remaining four members of the committee have not received any reimbursement for the expenditures actually made by them in connection with this investigation; now therefore be it

Resolved, That a committee of five members be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives to investigate immediately the expenditures by William A. Shaw of the appropriation above referred to; and be it further

Resolved, That William A. Shaw shall forthwith file an accounting of the uses made of such funds.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, might I ask if the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Shaw, ever has been asked at any time before to make an accounting?

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I want to answer the question by saying, yes.

On the question recurring,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

It was adopted.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LOVETT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, this afternoon in the House of Representatives we witnessed one of the worst spectacles that has happened in my time in the sessions in Harrisburg. I want to say to the Members of this House, I mean the minority Members, that we listened to the speech made by my colleague on the other side of this House last week, when we were informed that the minority side of this House had placed a pistol at the head of the Governor, and stating that he was willing to sit here and debate legislation for three weeks. This afternoon in this House we witnessed those same gentlemen getting up on the floor of this House and stopping debate. When we on the minority side of this House wish to debate legislation they stop it by moving the previous questions.

There isn't any use of the majority getting up over there and shouting that they want to be fair and that they want progressive legislation during this session of the legislature. The men on this side who have served for many years realize that back in 1933 when we had a very small minority on this side of the House, when we were changing the rules for this House in regard to legislation that was stifled in the committees in this House, we asked for a change of those rules, we were defeated and were not granted that right.

We also remember in 1935 when we then became the majority in this House and our Republican friends on the other side came over and asked us to be consistent and reduce the number of votes in order to discharge committees, that they can bring their legislation before this body. Now in all fairness we did reduce the number of votes which it took to discharge committees, if my memory serves me rightly, when the Republican Members of this House had eighty-five Members. I cite this instance to you just to prove to you that it was only lately, because during that session of legislature they never tried to discharge any committees in this House. They are not interested in discharging committees and bringing legislation before the body. No, my friends, that is the maneuvre which we work under in Harrisburg. They never once to my knowledge used the power of discharging committees during this session of legislature. I want to say to you that when they came back in power in 1939 they immediately changed the rules and put it back to one hundred and five, where it stands today. Now, ladies and gentlemen, there is a reason for that. As I said before, they are not interested in the bringing of this legislation out of the committees. They are interested in the committees. I can go on here and cite instance after instance. I realize that they accuse us of a filibuster. I realize this afternoon in this House that one of the gentlemen got up over on the other side and said one man started a filibuster in this House. You don't need anybody to tell you who started the filibuster in the state of Pennsylvania. It was started in the Senate of Pennsylvania and not in the House of Representatives. It was just wished upon the House of Representatives. I sometimes wonder if the people are really sincere when they say they are interested in a democracy. I realize that you men on this side of the House possibly are not too interested in filibusters, but I also realize that possibly if they had had a few filibusters in France and Germany they may have been able to save some form of democracy in those countries.

I say to you this is no laughing matter. Democracy is on trial in Pennsylvania and democracy is on trial all over the world. I have stood on this floor many times and have cited to you that it was not down in the rank and file of the people of this state or any other state of this nation in which our democracy would be lost, but it is up in the higher brackets where we are going to lose our democracy; that as men who fight in the interest of our state rights and fight in the interest of democracy, we'll realize that it is not down in the rank and file of our people, the men and women who are working day and night in order to save democracy, in order to build the ships, the planes, the guns or ammunition that we may save our democracy. No, it is here in the House of Representatives and here in the Senate of Pennsylvania where we are going to lose our democracy if it is going to be lost. I warned this House two or three weeks ago,—anyone could see the trend; when men do not find time to stay in Harrisburg and do their legislative duties, I say to you that it is time that we wake up. I would like to say to you men on the other side of the House, I would like you to go out and get your colleagues and bring them in so that we may have an opportunity to speak to them. I ask them to be fair in these trying times when our nation is at war.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, we may make a lot of fun of it, we may have a lot of fun about it, but I want to say to you this is not funny to me. As one of the men who come out of the rank and file, who has continuously fought in the interest of good government and state rights, and realizing that the democracy which we fight for is worth every word of it, it is worth the time of the men of this House. If I talk long enough I possibly may have an audience on the other side.

The SPEAKER. Has the gentleman from Westmoreland finished?

Mr. LOVETT. Not yet, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will proceed, please?

Mr. LOVETT. Quickly, Mr. Speaker?

The SPEAKER. The Chair said "please;" not quickly.

Mr. LOVETT. I want to say to the Members, especially the new Members on the other side of the House, that as a Member for ten years in this House, I have never voted for the previous question; I have never voted to stop any man on debate regardless of whether my party was in power or out of power.

I say to you men on the other side and the men on this side that in the remaining days of this session I ask you all to get up and have your say. I have always been opposed to the idea of two or three men in this House, on this side or that side, saying to the Members of this House, "We shall talk and you shall listen" and by the time they are talked out they move the previous question.

My friends, you are elected to come here to have your say the same as every other man, regardless whether he comes from one section or the other section. I realize this afternoon that when we passed the Congressional reapportionment bill,—I sat and listened to the debate, and I heard one or two men raise the question of constitutionality on the reapportionment of the state of Pennsylvania. Why did we raise the question of constitutionality? I read in a Pittsburgh paper on Sunday where the Speaker of the House down in Washington said that he did not think there ever was a time in history when such action was taken, and that he felt definitely that it was unconstitutional to pass and enact a reapportionment bill at this session of the legislature, due to the fact that we had reapportioned the state last year. I realize that the reapportionment bill which we were working on this afternoon did not affect my congressional district. The only thing that was in my mind is to think that we are the men who are here in the interest of democracy, and I say to you that many of you men feel the same as I do, that when we passed the reapportionment bill during the last session of the legislature, that you are now doing something that is unconstitutional when you are now reapportioning the state one year later.

Mr. friends, that is my fight here this evening. If we may save democracy by a filibuster or by reading the bills at length in the House of Representatives, I say to you that it will go down in history that it was time well spent, and that the bills should have been read at length.

I listened to my colleagues on this side of the House in regard to the constitutionality of reading bills at length, and I repeat again that maybe it would have been a good thing over in these other countries if they had read a few bills at length and prolonged some of the sessions in the interests of the people there, that we may not have had to awaken to the fact that Hitler was on his way. I say to you that if it takes bills to be read at length in order to waken up the people of this state and the Members of this House to the necessity of saving democracy, I am willing to read bills from now until Christmas. There is no scarcity of time, there is no scarcity of money when we are here working in the interests of those selfish few who would make profits out of the war as they have before. I realized this afternoon when one of my colleagues cited the fact that we were wasting the time when we could have been selling war bonds, I know not exactly about the particular war bonds that the gentleman was speaking of but I do know, gentlemen, that within the last two or three weeks the banks of this country floated what they have called a bond issue. I say to you that that bond issue that they floated was what was known as Victory Bonds, Liberty Bonds, in other words. I realized that the poor people of this country bought those bonds during the last war, and I realize—

Mr. TATE. Mr. Speaker,—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman arise?

Mr. TATE. May I request that the Members be quiet and be in order during this address?

The SPEAKER. The House will be in order. The gentleman from Westmoreland will proceed.

Mr. LOVETT. I realize, unless I am mistaken, the gentleman was talking about those particular bonds. I realize that those bonds went up and down with the market, and I realize that many of our poor people bought those bonds, and when they were forced to sell them when they became low, the bankers and the financiers of this country bought them, and sold them when they got back to the peak. My friends, I am not so much interested in that kind of bonds. The bonds that have been sold in this country to the working class of people and to the people of this country are the bonds that mean something to me, because the worker cannot lose that type of bonds, they are not transferable, and what you put into them you are going to get out of them.

Now, my friends, if we were worrying about selling bonds when we are fighting here in the interests of democracy, neither bonds nor anything else will be worth anything, and you gentlemen know it, unless we win the war.

I cite to you gentlemen on the other side who are stirring up and asking that we be fair, I say to you that we will be fair, we will be fair if you will be fair with us. I say to you that if you will cease to move the previous question, if you will cease to try to stop debate, and gag us on legislation, that we will be fair. We are only too glad to be fair. We came here in the interests of the people. I realize that the Congressional Reapportionment bill, regardless of what the Republicans do with it, regardless of what the Democrats do with it, I say to you Members of this House, that back in the year of 1933 we elected in Pennsylvania from Republican districts, Democratic Members of the House of Representatives. I say to you that in 1935 when we elected a Governor, who I might say this afternoon in this House of Representatives, these statements made to the effect that if that was the type of Governor we could produce in forty years we better not produce any,—I want to say to you that the history of Pennsylvania proves that what the Governor in 1935 in the state of Pennsylvania did and what he stood for, regardless of what any man on any side of this House says, we realize the legislation that was passed in the interests of the people through that session of the Legislature. We realize in the trying times in which he became the Governor of Pennsylvania, in the forty years that you say we elected one Governor,—yes, I say to you that the man who took the reins of government in Pennsylvania in 1935 faced in this state and in this country, when the conditions of this country were at the lowest ebb. I often wonder today what the Governor who is now Governor would do if he faced the problems that the Governor faced in 1935. I realize that there is a war on and that you men will say that he is facing a war time. Yes, but the war you are speaking about is still many, many miles away from our shores. The war which the Governor in 1935 faced was right here, right here in Pennsylvania. My friends, I care not how you fix the congressional districts, I care not how you fix any legislative districts, I say to you that the people themselves will rise up and elect men who will come down to Harrisburg and go down to Washington and fight for the masses of the people, regardless of how you redistrict. I realize that we men who came here in 1933 were elected by Republicans, we were not elected by Democrats. Why, if I would have got only the votes that were cast on the Democratic ticket in my legislative district they wouldn't have even known that I was running for the legislature. But what happened, my friends? What happened? Our country was in one of the worst conditions it had ever been in in the history of the world. The people rose up in their might and elected the Democratic ticket. Our honorable President today was elected at that time. Why? Because the people were grasping for straws in order to pull us back together. Men get up and condemn the Governor of 1935. I say to you gentlemen, we have been fair whether we were in power or out of power. I say to you that we did reduce the figure in order to discharge committees in the House of Representatives and reduced it down to a place where you gentlemen could have discharged any committee in this House of Representatives and brought the legislation to the floor of the House for a vote.

Now, if I ask you gentlemen today to reduce the figure down to the point where the gentlemen on the other side of the House could do likewise, will you do it? Will you do it? No, no. So, my friends, let's not get excited about the few days that we waste here on reading of the bills. I say to you that if this filibuster that they talk about is going to stop the manipulators in the state of Pennsylvania from running roughshod over the people of the state,—and it is no dream, my friends,—you realize that you reduced the license fee on those who were best able to pay; you realize that you have legislation here that reduces the license fee or the fees charged to the tune of one hundred or one hundred ten thousand dollars. I say to you that if this filibuster does nothing but stop that sort of tactics then I say to you the filibuster is right. I realize in my time in Harrisburg that the important legislature in this House stays in the committee rooms, never gets to the floor of this House until the last week or two weeks of the session of the Legislature. I might say to you that this happens under the Democratic administration; I realize that it does. Now, why? Why do we keep this important legislation until the last? I'll tell you why, my friends, and I realize that you are busy and he is busy and the other fellow is busy; they want to get back home to their families and their interests at home. They realize that when they play us out and get us down to the very wrangle point, when we get up here and fight one another back and forth across this House as we did this afternoon, I don't think there is any necessity that we should fight one another personally. I don't take any individual man on this side of the House; I realize that we have party affiliations, but I say to you that there is a place where party affiliation ceases; I say to you that when it comes to free speech and debate on the floor of the House of Representatives party affiliation ceases. I wouldn't dare get up here and ask you men not to vote for the previous question and stop debate if I myself did, I realize that. I realize that I was here when the Democratic party had control of the House and the Senate and the Governor's office. I didn't vote then in order to stop debate, and I think it is only fair that I ask you men to do likewise. I say to you Members of the House, that we can cite in this session of the Legislature where you have eliminated the revenue that came into the state of Pennsylvania from the people who were best able to pay, but you didn't relieve it from those who were least able to pay. You ask the man who paid ten dollars prior to this time for his license plates, to pay ten dollars now. You eliminated the mercantile tax in the state of Pennsylvania. For what purpose? You are not saving any money for the little fellows. Every man who runs a business figures his overhead and figures the cost of the mercantile tax. My friends, let me say here tonight that I welcome a filibustre or anything else that will call to mind and to the attention of the people of the state of Pennsylvania that we have something to fight for. There is no use of getting up and hollering about it when it is lost. Now is the time, and I say to you men over there who are new Members in this House, get up and have your say. If you think I am wrong, tell me I am wrong. If you think any of these fellows are wrong, tell them they are wrong. You have as much right to get up and have your say as they have.

And don't say that one man caused the filibuster in the House of Representatives. Do you realize that the filibuster started in the Senate of Pennsylvania? That high branch of the Legislature of Pennsylvania, in which the Members of the House of Representatives dare not smoke, but the Senators can come over into this House and smoke.

Let us be fair. I ask you men to be fair, and let us debate the legislation during the rest of this session on the merits of the legislation that comes before us and not on the individual. I realize that it does happen in this House of Representatives when a man's name on a bill means whether the bill passes or whether it is defeated. Can you imagine that in a democracy? Can you imagine that would defeat a piece of legislation because a man's name was on it? That just don't make sense to me, and I don't think it makes sense to you. But you realize that it is true, and I realize that it is true because we know that the individual's name on a piece of legislation many, many times either defeats or passes that legislation, regardless of how good or how bad.

We realize that in our committees there is legislation, and that is no secret,—I am not disclosing any secrets of the committee,—you don't think that the people of Pennsylvania don't know that that legislation is in the committee rooms of Pennsylvania. Sure they know that legislation is in there, and there is no use of you trying to kid anybody. My friends, I say again that I realize what it means to men to have to sit here in this House long hours on legislation, but I say to you that if it saves democracy it is worth it.

You people were elected by your people to come here and do a job. You didn't go out and tell your constituency "I don't have time to go to Harrisburg." You didn't tell your constituency "I don't have time to read bills at length." I think the framers of the Constitution when they put it in there that the bills should be read at length really knew something. They realized that the time would come when men would be controlled financially or otherwise by the powers of the monopoly, that the only recourse and the only way in which we could get our message back to the people would be to revert to the Constitution and read the bills at length. I realize that we have states in this nation that have rules in the House of Representatives in those states in which the legislation must be reported out of committee and must be acted upon. Now, I suppose you gentlemen would think that would be an awful thing in the state of Pennsylvania, but there are states which have that ruling. I say to you gentlemen, I want to be fair, I want to debate the legislation, I want every fellow on this side of the House to have an opportunity to speak, I want every fellow on that side of the House to have an opportunity to speak if he wants to. I don't think there should be any key man over there and I don't think there should be any key man over here. Now, I think that is fair, and do you gentlemen realize that when you vote for the previous question to stop debate, that nine times out of ten you stop the fellow who very seldom gets up on the floor of this House, because nine times out of ten that very fellow already has had his say.

I don't think I am being unfair when I ask for that. I think that is only being fair to you men and to the men over here. I realize what the Governor said in his address to the House of Representatives. I realize that he said there would be no "must" legislation. You men realize what he said, that he didn't want any politics. Personally myself I could have gone up and shaken hands with the Governor of this state when he gave his little heart-to-heart talk to the Members of this House about war-time legislation, and about no politics in this session of the Legislature.

You gentlemen realize whether the Governor liked it or whether the Governor didn't like it, that we have had that type of legislation since this session began. One gentleman wanted to give me a list of the bills, but there are too many of them; it would take too long to talk about. The only thing that means anything to you gentlemen is the fact that it is true. You don't need me to cite that for you. All you need to do is to go over the calendar, pick out the legislation, pick out all these bills, and you will find out well enough what they did. You will find in the Legislature where we have increased the salaries of the politicians. There won't be any question about that. I say to you gentlemen, let us from now on debate the legislation. Maybe it is a good thing these bills are read at length. Maybe we will wake up to the fact that there is something in the bills, because I realize as a layman that the bills that are now presented to us in the House of Representatives are pretty cleverly drafted. We realize that there are many sleepers and many little things in the bills that we possibly don't get. I think that if we went back to the first days of the Legislature the framers that came in drew bills in such fashion that we couldn't understand them. I imagine there is quite a difference between the form of legislation today and the form of legislation one hundred years ago. I find no fault with the advance, providing that we give to the people the right and the opportunity that they may know what is in the bills, and not find that out after we go home they discover there were some of the bills we didn't know anything about. So, my friends, from now on let us be reasonable with one another. I will try to insist over here that you get the right results, if you try over there to insist that I get the right results. But I want to say to you gentlemen that I don't get up just for the fun of getting up. This to me is just as hard as anything that I could do. I feel that it is my duty as a Member of the Legislature to get up and have my say and to voice my opinion, whether it be good or whether it be bad.

I say to you that I will fight in your interest for that same right, and I would like to see every man get up and have his say and not allow someone else to tell him how he should vote. Let us find out what is in the legislation, let us use our own judgment, let us work in the interests of the people, in the interests of the laboring people, and I say to you we will make no mistakes.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SNIDER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Fayette will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SNIDER. During last night's session, Mr. Speaker, when House Bill 610 was up for final passage I distinctly voted "aye." During the verification the reading clerk gave my name as voting 'no." I asked last night to have it changed. I see by the record it was not changed.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Snider, will be noted in the Journal.

Section 7 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, this bill is a so-called war bill. It has the appearance of inviting us to cooperate with the war effort, because in its amendments it talks about being in effect only for the duration of the war and for six months thereafter. However I do not think the problem is as simple as that or that the question may be passed over lightly without pointing out its defects and without pointing out the dangers that we should seek to avoid.

Labor history in Pennsylvania is full of the fights that have been made over many years to accord the women workers of Pennsylvania certain protections against industrial abuse of labor and time, so as to preserve and to help women generally in industry. It is was not too many years ago, Mr. Speaker, when there were no restrictions whatsoever on women working in Pennsylvania. Incident upon incident has followed over the years that led finally to a public demand for protection of women in industry, so that today, Mr. Speaker, we know that women may not work more than forty-four hours in any one week. We know, Mr. Speaker, that women may not work for more than six days, excluding the Sabbath day in any one week, and we know that women may not work in any event after ten o'clock in the evening on any day.

First of all this bill would provide for the duration that women shall be capable of employment for forty-eight hours in any week, and the redefinition of the term "week" means that women are going to be invited and possibly under economic compulsion to be compelled to work on any six days of any week, including the Sabbath day.

Further, Mr. Speaker, women shall under the terms of this bill, by economic compulsion or otherwise be met with the situation where they might have to work after ten o'clock at night, possibly until twelve.

If we are worried about women in war industries, may I say to the members of the House, that for the past year or more women have been working in industry, in war industries from twelve o'clock midnight until eight o'clock in the morning, and they have been working all sorts of peculiar shifts that would make a joke and a mockery of the present law.

However, that has been done with the general approval of the public, has been done with the general approval of all persons interested in protecting the rights of women workers, and has been done only because it has been necessary to call upon woman power to work in the war plants of Pennsylvania. It has been done under the authority by direction and acquiescence of the Department of Labor in Pennsylvania and the Industrial Board, and if that procedure has been wrong there has been no open protest and no great public demand that it be eliminated or corrected. I think then, Mr. Speaker, that that with which we must be most concerned, the war industries, are amply taken care of without disturbing the present law. We feel that the other occupations or pursuits that might be affected by this bill would be the non-essential industries and the non-essential businesses, not that they are not necessary to the livelihood of persons or the profits of employers, but they are not necessary directly for the war effort.

There has been a universal movement in Pennsylvania that I have observed among business associations, voluntarily to meet and close their places of business at earlier hours than they had heretofore remained open. There have been efforts made to keep essential industries going in the performance of their duties, and employing people within a lesser number of hours per week so that this problem of manpower and womanpower might not be too great for them to cope with. Why, even saloons are closing in some places at twelve o'clock because they cannot get manpower and womanpower. This is as it should be, non-essential business and non-essential industry must perforce give way to the war industry, must restrict their activities, because on the one hand we cannot have the war materials that are absolutely essential and on the other hand have all of the non-essentials too.

The only industries that we ought to be concerned with are the non-essential industries. Recently in this House we passed a bill, which I hope will pass the Senate, giving the Governor extraordinary war powers. If any industrial problem arises that might impede the war work, on request from either the President of the United States or the Secretary of War or the Secretary of the Navy to the Governor he will issue a proclamation to suspend an act or a particular section of an act in order to take away an impediment to a war industry. So why must we now break down a long sought reform in the matter of employing women in industries merely on the suggestion that it is a war measure? This bill does not and cannot be termed a war measure; this bill is simply a wedge to put into the law something that it took many years to take out of the law, and the situation that it seeks mostly to correct it a situation that is well under control today, can be controlled in the future, and about which no one in public life has thus far protested.

I, therefore, suggest that the enactment of this legislation is not necessary, it most certainly is not vital, and it should not have the approval of this House, nor should it have the approval of any legislative body. It certainly should not become a law of the state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, this has been a rather long tedious day. We heard remarks on this bill only today that the majority side of this House was trying to block Roosevelt's war program, that we were accused of not being concerned with the winning of the war, that we were trying to pay off election debts, that we were not properly passing legislation to take care of the boys when they come home. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I think this is the test of the sincerity, the real sincerity of the minority in their demands that we pass legislation which truly affects the war effort. I want to assure the gentlemen on the other side and the people of Pennsylvania that we on this side of the House will become no party in any way, shape or form to reducing the standards, the working conditions of female employes in Pennsylvania. But we do want to preserve, we want to take care of the boys who are fighting for democracy on all the fronts in the world. We want to take care of them and we want to see that there are some boys that will come marching home.

In this bill we are definitely trying to cooperate with the Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces, who has asked that industry voluntarily go on a forty-eight hour basis, and we are trying to cooperate in passing the proper legislation so that Pennsylvania which is the arsenal of democracy, producing better than one-fourth of the materials needed in the war program, may step up her production and even produce more tanks, more shells and more guns. Yet we find here on this bill the voice of opposition from the minority, who have accused the majority of this House with not being willing to cooperate, with playing politics and a lot of other things that certainly are not a part of this bill.

Yes, Mr. Speaker, I say that there is nothing wrong with this particular piece of legislation. We will admit that for a number of months the Department, with the approval of the Industrial Board, has been granting permits to the various war industries in Pennsylvania, and they have been permitted to work their female employes forty-eight hours a week within the restrictions of the present law, and we in no way wish to change those conditions. But we are here in session, meeting as the Legislature of Pennsylvania; we have granted certain powers temporarily to the Governor of this Commonwealth that he may suspend, when we are not in session, acts that are going to hinder the war effort in Pennsylvania. Certainly while we are in session and a Department comes before this body and says it is confronted with a problem, that there should be for the emergency war period a relaxation of the present law in order that they may meet conditions, not have many hearings and have many employers come before the board in Harrisburg, I certainly feel that we are only doing our duty and fulfilling the promises we made that we will cooperate with the Commander-in-Chief of our armed forces, that we will provide the proper legislation to relieve the bottleneck. In many instances we find war industries, because of the present restrictions in our laws, ask that we put in writing on our statute books in Pennsylvania that during this war emergency we are willing to relax these laws so that industry in Pennsylvania may produce more goods for the war effort.

Our Commander-in-Chief has not alone said that war industries should increase their hours, but that all industries should increase their hours, because by doing that we are going to relieve some of the non-essential industries that must provide some of the things that we all need in our daily living. To those industries we will give relief so that they can release more workers to go into the war plants in Pennsylvania. I certainly see nothing wrong with the relaxation of this law for the emergency period. With the opposition from the minority side and all the talk that we have heard about the majority not being willing to cooperate in passing bills that do not affect the war program, I am surprised to find this opposition, and I must certainly say that to me it proves the lack of sincerity in their demands.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, we realize that this type of legislation is very misleading. We realize that possibly this piece of legislation gives to the Department of Labor and Industry the right to do away with the thirty minute lunch period if it affects the war. Let us use a little bit of common sense. Could anybody by any stretch of imagination imagine that the situation in the state of Pennsylvania is so serious that we have to eliminate the thirty minute lunch period for women in industry? We have heard a lot of talk about the scarcity of labor. I come from a district that possibly has as much industry in its surroundings as any district in the state of Pennsylvania. We know from actual conversation with the men who are working in these plants, let alone the women, that there is no scarcity of labor today in these plants. I have no objection if it is a case of necessity in some of these plants, where there is absolutely a scarcity of men or women in order to produce the sinews of war. But I feel that this type of legislation comes with ill grace, due to the fact that we know in our own district that there is no scarcity of labor. We know that the women in our own district have asked to be furloughed that they may go into other districts in order to work in war industries, and they have been refused the right to be transferred into those other industries. I feel it is wrong, due to the fact that the Governor will have the power at the end of this session, we hope, in case of necessity, where it can be proven that it is necessary to change or eliminate certain provisions of the laws of this state, he may do so in order that the necessary industries connected with the war may go on. Therefore, I cannot see any reason at all for this type of legislation.

We realize in giving to the Governor that power, as long as the request is made by the Commander-in-Chief of this country, that in any industry or in any place in which the law would restrict men or women, working in industry, that the Governor would have the power to set aside such law. Now then why clutter up the calendar in an effort to pass legislation of this type, if we have already passed a bill in this House giving the Governor those extraordinary powers.

I say to you that I personally feel legislation of this type comes with ill grace. As I said before, when you come to the point where you eliminate the thirty minutes which women may have for a lunch period, then I say you have come to the point where the situation is pretty grave. I cannot agree with the majority floor leader when he said that this is the test to prove whether or not we on this side of the House are trying to stop the progress of the war or interfere with the war. We feel that the power that has been given to the Governor will be sufficient and we feel there will be no abuse of that power, but we feel that when you pass legislation of this type possibly there will be some abuse, and that is the reason I ask the Members of this House to vote against this bill.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, due to the lateness of the hour, I am not going to prolong this debate. I simply want it known that the views which have been expressed by my colleague on this side are not concurred in by me, and I am going to vote for this bill.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose this bill. House Bill 828 would tear down what it took labor so long to build up to improve the conditions that surround the women folks who aim to toil for a living in the factories,—our mothers and the mothers of the children who will be the America of tomorrow. Do you want them to go to work now and be put on night turns, which will give the employer an opportunity to pay them half the wages they have to pay the men. The employer is the man who wants this bill and it is not a show down as to whether or not this side intends to cooperate. The working people of America have demontsrated beyond a doubt on which side they are in fighting this war and they will go the limit when it becomes necessary to put our women folk in the factories. Yes, they will go in there if necessary without change in the laws, working night and day, to see that the boys that are shouldering the guns and making the fight for you and me are not in need of any of the facilities necessary to win this war.

We come to this assembly at this late date after the fight which labor has put up for all these years and find that there are still men who want to tear down the protection of the mothers of America of tomorrow. I don't believe you mean it. I am sure everybody here wants to protect the mothers and the wives, the sweethearts and the sisters and wants to see that they get a square deal, regardless of political affiliations. I am sure you don't want to make a political football out of the bill that would make slaves out of our mothers and our sisters. Surely you have not given serious thought to how serious this matter is and I challenge anybody in this House to say that the American working man and woman who has to toil for a living has failed to respond to the needs of this government in winning the war. We have not reached the point yet where it is necessary to replace men who are receiving a wage commensurate with the work performed, that would have to be set aside to permit women to go in there and work for possibly half the wage.

I am asking you to vote this bill down in the name of decency, in the name of the mothers and the sisters of America.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, very briefly, I know all the members are getting tired and we want to go home. This is a very important piece of legislation, House Bill 828, Printer's No. 450. I especially wanted to tell the Members of this House that organized labor is absolutely against this bill. If this bill passes it will be used as an opening wedge to cut the rates of wages paid now in industry, and I ask the Members of this House to vote down this bill.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, to keep the record straight, as I said before, we in the majority in no way want to hamper, in no way want to jeopardize the position of labor in Pennsylvania, but we certainly feel that this bill will help the war effort, and that is the only reason for its introduction. We feel that the minority in opposing this bill, as I said before, certainly show its insincerity in the matter of passing legislation at this session that will further the war effort in Pennsylvania. We in no way, so far as the majority side is concerned, want to hamper or jeopardize labor's rights.

May I further state that I believe by action of the Federal government wages today are frozen. I do not see how it would be possible for an employer to cut the rates or any way to get around the payment of time and half-time for the hours that are worked over the Federal regulations.

Mr. YESTER. Mr. Speaker, it is not very often that I get up on this floor, but after hearing the remarks on the other side about the scarcity of labor, evidently the members on the other side do not realize that there is no shortage of labor. The trouble is that labor is being hoarded the same as everything else. The trouble is with the conditions that exist today. Your birth certificate is one of the problems, and question has not been settled. There are people who want to go to work. I know well in my own locality and throughout Pennsylvania there are plenty of people that want to work, but they cannot get work. In my own locality I know there are people who are working half time, supposed to be working steady, and yet you tell us there is a shortage of labor. I want to tell you, gentlemen, the sooner this is investigated the sooner you will find out that there is no shortage of labor.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the Majority Floor Leader, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Lehigh know of any manufacturers in Pennsylvania short of labor at the present time that can only be replaced by women?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe if the gentleman will read the newspapers relative to statements by Manpower Commissioner Mr. McNutt, it would certainly seem to indicate that there is a shortage of labor not only in Pennsylvania but throughout the nation.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I have been reading the papers, and they want men in the shipyards. You don't want to send women there, do you?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, is that an interrogation? I did not hear the question.

Mr. LEONARD. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, when the gentleman said that wages were "froze," when the gentleman said that labor was "froze"—

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. "Frozen."

Mr. LOVETT. Frozen, ——— thanks for the correction. When the gentleman said that labor was frozen—

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Wages were frozen, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Well now, just what did the gentleman say, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I said that wages were frozen.

Mr. LOVETT. Wages were frozen, is that what the gentleman said?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Yes, Mr. Speaker, that is right.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean to say that when an employer hires a woman to go into industry that he must pay that woman the same wages that he pays a man who enlisted and went into the army?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I don't know that I can answer that question.

Mr. LOVETT. Well, Mr. Speaker, that was the impression the gentleman left me under. He said that these wages were frozen, and regardless of whether they put men or women in they still get the same wages.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. After all, Mr. Speaker, this bill has nothing to do with their wages. It is only a matter of adding four hours that they are permitted to work per week. We are not discussing wages. I think under the Federal law they are to be paid over a certain number of hours, they are to be paid time and half time. Probably many female employes would welcome the additional hours because certainly they would be making more money.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, was it the gentleman from Lehigh or was it I who brought up the question on wages? I don't think I spoke about the question of wages.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, brought up the question of wages.

Mr. LOVETT. I took it from the answer of the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter; that due to the fact that wages were frozen therefore it would not make any difference whether they put women in men's jobs or not. Is that what the gentleman wants to leave in my mind? Does he want me to believe that?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I might say that the man's mind is probably confused because he seems to have me confused right now as to the matter of women's wages.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, may I ask the gentleman to clarify my statement? May I ask the gentleman if he feels that women in industry should be paid the same wages as men?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I might refer the gentleman to the federal rules and regulations on the freezing of wages and freezing men and women in jobs today that are in war industries. I think if he will go to those rules and regulations that are set up he will get the answer.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the gentleman that my understanding of the freezing of men and women in employment is that they are only frozen in certain industries and they are allowed to change in war industries. The only point I am trying to make is that he left in my mind, whether or not he left it in the minds of the other Members of this House I don't know, the fact that if we increase the hours of service for women they could be used to replace men, whether or not women would be paid the same salary as the men who left the industry or who would be laid off or who joined the Army or who went into war industry. I don't think the gentleman intended to leave that in the minds of the Members of this House, and I, therefore, say again that I do not feel that I am trying to hinder the progress of the war. I feel like some of the other men over here that there is no shortage of labor. There isn't in my district and I come from a district that has as much industry as any other district in the state. If we cannot state here honestly and truthfully that there is a shortage of labor and that there is a necessity for working these women these extra hours, eliminating the thirty minute lunch period, then I say, gentlemen, that there isn't any necessity unless we can prove that there is a shortage. I also said when I was on the floor before that if conditions become such that it is necessary, we have given to the Governor of this state the power with which to meet the emergency, and I cannot see any necessity for this particular legislation.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

Messrs. Moran, Pettit and R. E. Reese requested a verification of the roll.

Section 3 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, most of the arguments that can be made against the passage of House Bill 873 have been made in regard to House Bill 828, which has just passed by a slim majority. My congratulations to those Members of the House who saw their duty as they should have and voted "no" on the bill. But I suppose since the argument was somewhat the same I might take the opportunity to make some slight answer to the statements of the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter. I am rather happy that these two bills have come up because for the first time in this session we have finally reached a well defined, stated principle of the majority party with respect to one, labor, and two, the war effort. The gentleman's statement about cooperating with the war effort, I take only to be a wary approach to the full confession of the administration's defects and deficiencies in the desire to be whole hearted and sincere about the war effort.

Mr. Speaker, this particular bill is going to allow the wholesale employment of high school boys. I have heard some stories down in Philadelphia that some of these boys of high school, under eighteen and above sixteen, are even now working in the war industries, working down in the Sun Ship, where, as a matter of fact, they are putting in forty-eight hours a week and then coming back to school, and that is where they do their sleeping. I cannot see where there is any plan or any well reasoned idea in the administration's approach to this problem. The emphasis on the youth in America, we must sadly confess is for the preparation for the fighting to be done in the war. We have abundant testimony and proven facts that the best fighting is done in this machine war by the younger men. As a result, Mr. Speaker, both the Army and Navy Departments have requested the high schools to give more separate pre-induction courses. The Army and Navy Departments have found it necessary to have the cooperation of the various school districts by giving these pre-induction courses in the high schools. These pre-induction courses are directed principally to those kids sixteen, seventeen or eighteen, and their job, we must sadly confess, is to prepare for fighting. What I am afraid of, Mr. Speaker, is that these two bills as a matter of fact are just the beginning of the final attitude of the Republican party to reopen the factories of Pennsylvania to child labor. Pennsylvania has stood condemned and Pennsylvania still stands condemned with the passage of this bill as being desirous of having child labor.

I might respectfully submit for your examination an article which appears in this week's Collier's, a national magazine. It was entitled "Child Labor Cheap." I believe,—I have not read the article but a person whose intelligence and whose ability to properly digest and translate the article is my authority,—and I am told that Pennsylvania is held up as an example throughout America of how the child labor problem should not be handled. Don't forget again, that this bill does not merely say that hereafter boys under eighteen and above sixteen may work forty-eight hours a week, but it also says that they can actually work six days in the week. They can work on the Sabbath day too. I have heard an awful lot of speeches in my seven years here about the Sabbath and I say that in most instances I have voted to preserve, as others have, to preserve the Sabbath. You are going to make it easier with the stake of high wages in war industry for kids to work in war factories and other factories too. You are going to make it tougher for them to get the education their Uncle Sam's War and Navy Departments want them to get now to prepare for fighting. You are going to make it a little bit more difficult for them to observe the Sabbath. I might say to you that a great many of us older people might have been a little more attentive to our Sabbath teachings in our youth, and it does not become us today to put anything in the way of diminishing the Sabbath or the religious training of our younger people in our schools today.

I think this is another bill that sets a standard, and I am happy to know that the majority party has measured up to a standard. I have stated it clearly, this is the first time in this session that we have had such a real expression from them. On that basis we will accept the challenge. It is too bad we got this so late in the session but we will know now how to guide ourselves with respect to humane and liberal legislation.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. Speaker, it is just forty years ago this month that I got up on the floor of this House, this very floor, and inaugurated or started at least in this House a bill on child labor. It was the first bill that was ever introduced in the state of Pennsylvania. It had not the backing of any labor organization, it had not the backing of any social organization, it had no one's backing, not even the administration backing. It was the first bill that was ever presented in the Halls of the Legislature in Pennsylvania on this subject. For forty years or near that I have been a Member either of this House or the Senate, and I have never yet voted against a labor measure. My labor record, I think, is one hundred per cent, and for anyone interested in labor to get up on the floor of this House at this time and say these measures have a political significance, is going far beyond the real truth.

My friend has said something about working on the Sabbath. Yes, Mr. Speaker, these men work on the Sabbath. If I am correct in my understanding, this is not only man's war, it is God's war, and if it is not God's war, and if America has not the backing of God Almighty, then we are in sad plight. Yes, this is God's war, and to win God's war we must forget our Sunday School education. We have got to set aside our religious education. It may be said that the Christian Sabbath is not my Sabbath. I am living in a Christian country where the majority of all the people are Christian people and their laws are my laws, for I abide by the will of the great majority, and I am thankful to the Christian people that they pay due deference to our Sabbath law. We of the Jewish faith work on Saturdays, which is our Sabbath, and we are happy in the fact that God gives us the strength to work on our Sabbath in order to shorten the time of this terrible war. I think it comes with bad grace for any man to say that this is a political issue. There are no politics in this issue. Everything in these two bills comes from Washington. We are following in the steps of their great commander and our great commander and to charge these bills against any political administration to my mind is very lowly, disgusting and dishonest. If these men were concerned in their desire to help the Governor of this Commonwealth to work side by side with the President of the United States and all other persons interested in the early termination of the war, they would not mix bills like these with what they call lowly politics. I have heard much tonight about non-essential industry. There is no non-essential industry in America today. All industry is essential, and those that are doing work other than what is being used for war production are industries that are helping the home fires to burn. They are helping those who are working in these war industries to get that support and substance that they need in order that they can give their best endeavors to those who are working in these war industries.

Then, Mr. Speaker, I heard a further complaint about putting boys of sixteen years of age to work at hard labor. I want to say to you that no fountain pen, no pencil, no eraser makes a good soldier. It is physical strength that is needed most, and in the war industries and in the establishments where they can develop their physical strength they will develop themselves into being the kind of soldiers that all America will be proud of. I am for these bills because I believe that I am an American. I am for these bills because I believe that all upright men who have cast aside political affiliations should be, will be and ought to be for these bills, and those that are against this will have their day of reckoning ere long.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I want to change the tempo of our thinking just a little bit. I am not excited about House Bill 873, nor about House Bill 828. I think that we're all doing a little hiding behind the truth. We do not need either one of these bills to justify the war effort.

My colleague, Mr. Brigerman and I on February 23, introduced a bill, House Bill 381, prohibiting discrimination by industry on account of race, color or creed. That bill is still in committee and will probably stay there. I was just reading a report, that was published in one of the leading magazines of this nation several months ago. That report said that over nine thousand industries in this country of ours, a great many in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, absolutely bar their doors to the people of my race. Let us not kid ourselves; let us be fair. If we were the men we ought to be, if we believe in right and righteousness, and I believe we do, but we have just not risen to the occasion, we would demand that these firms employ able-bodied men regardless of race, creed or color, and if we did so we would not need any one of these bills. But as long as this door is closed in our faces, because of our color, women and boys will have to work. If the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania would prefer that the women and the boys work, rather than able-bodied men, because of color, you have no alternative but to pass these two bills. Therefore, I am going to vote against the bills. It will do nothing to help House Bill 381 which is now in committee. We will do nothing to meet this problem squarely until we demand that industry in this country, which is the land of the free and the home of the brave, does not close the doors of industry in the faces of men who would work and would be glad to do their share, because of their color. I say to you, Members of the House, do something to help me relieve these boys and relieve the women of our Commonwealth. We can furnish you with all the labor you desire, and you won't have to pass these bills, you won't have to stay here all night arguing. We will have done our part to meet the demand of industry in this Commonwealth and industry in this nation.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I suppose I am becoming somewhat of a pest tonight, but I realized when I got up on the floor of the House tonight that these bills faced us. I want to disagree with my ex-Senator friend. He leaves the impression that this is God's war and man's war. I say to you that this is man's war and not God's war. I realize, gentlemen, that the boys that are taken into these factories will not come out of the homes of the men who are well-to-do in the state of Pennsylvania. They will see that their boys don't go down into the bowels of the earth and come out worn and torn and able to do nothing. Let's be fair, gentleman, and I ask you tonight, don't look at this thing from the standpoint of a few from the healthy, able-bodied boys, sons of the men who sit in this House, and the men who are well-to-do in this state and are well able to take care of their boys. Think of it from the standpoint of the boys who have lived through the depression, who were on our relief rolls, who were underfed, undernourished, and now you ask them to go into the mines and into the factories in the state of Pennsylvania. Gentlemen, if I stand here all night, I want to make you realize that we are not being fair with the people of Pennsylvania and the boys that will have to shoulder the burden of this type of legislation.

Our ex-Senator friend said that forty years ago he introduced legislation to prohibit child labor. In 1937, we fought against continuing child labor; we fought against the sweat shop. That was only back in 1937. Let us not be fooled. We realize that the men we expect to take the place of possibly the boys that will be called to the other side, cannot come out of the mines and the factories undernourished and worked to death. I say to you, gentlemen, if you are fair, you will defeat this bill anyway.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, first, I would like to answer the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Brown. I think that we on this side of the House realize the problem that confronts the members of Mr. Brown's race. I think he will also agree with me that one of the things that has prevented his people from being employed in industry in Pennsylvania and throughout the nation, one of the primary factors, is because industry today in Pennsylvania and throughout the nation, as far as its employes are concerned, belong to labor groups and labor unions. I think he will also agree that we tried to help that particular situation in an act that was passed in this House, House Bill 384, on March 10, an amendment to the penal code of Pennsylvania making it a crime to discriminate because of race, color or creed. I think this particular problem is not just one for the Legislature of Pennsylvania. We feel that we have expressed in this particular bill that passed here on the floor of this House, that we are certainly willing that there should be no discrimination because of race, color or creed.

In answer to the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Lovett, I certainly do not feel that in the passage of this bill for the duration of the war that we are in any way jeopardizing the rights of labor, or that we want to take from them any of the privileges they now enjoy, but certainly if you will scrutinize the newspapers, every day of the week you can readily ascertain from reading them that there is a shortage of manpower. You can pick up any daily newspaper and find therein page after page of want ads for war industries, pages asking for male employes and pages asking for female employes. Certainly this situation can be relieved in order to increase our production in Pennsylvania by allowing for the duration of this war an increase of four hours per week for those boys that are working in those industries between the ages of 16 and 18.

There was a question raised as far as the day of the week is concerned, and allowing them to work on Sunday. May I quote from Interpretative Bulletin No. 4 of the Federalized Fair Labor Standards Act, issued by the United States Department of Health, the Wage and Hour Division, revised December 19, 1939.

> The number of hours that may be worked in any work week free of time and one-half overtime compensation. The work week consists of seven consecutive days, which need not coincide with the calendar week. It may begin on any day and any time of any day. The beginning of the work week may be changed if the change is intended to be permanent and not to evade the overtime requirement of the act.

There is certainly nothing in this particular bill we are now asking to be passed by the Pennsylvania Legislature that would do anything different than what we find in the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act. Let me say that this is definitely a war measure and I ask the Members on both sides of the House to prove their sincerity by passing this type of legislation.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, give me his assurance that as the Majority Floor Leader he will use his influence to help us get House Bill 394 out of the Senate Committee, that passed this House on March 10? It is still in the Senate committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, as far as my good offices are concerned, I will certainly be very happy to talk to the Chairman of the Commitee in the Senate, and I would very much welcome the company of Mr. Brown at that time, to see if we cannot move that particular bill.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I would rather the gentleman went without me. I feel he can do more good. I also want to know whether or not the gentleman will demand for us and ask for us the passage of House Bill 394.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I do not particularly like the word "demand." After all, I cannot control the actions of the Senate.

Mr. BROWN. Request, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think that the expression of the Members of the House on the passage of that bill which passed by a vote of 202 to 0, that we have expressed ourselves and our desires as far as the merits of the bill are concerned. I will certainly make the request, but no demand.

Mr. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the Majority Floor Leader. I feel if he makes the request, as I understand things are going through here pretty fast now, that any time the majority of the Senate requests anything of the majority in the House it generally goes through, and when the majority of the House requests anything of the majority of the Senate it generaly goes through, and I feel very much relieved. I am sure that next week we can look with favor upon this bill appearing on the floor of the Senate.

I recognize the fact that we have our problems in the labor unions, but the labor unions are not above the law, and if the labor unions, as they have, and as I have fought here on the floor of the House, close their doors in our faces, then the Legislature should see that the labor unions don't do that. It is no excuse for any of us in the House to try to hide behind the labor unions. The one thing I want to say is, here is this great reservoir of labor, ready, willing and able to work and all I'm asking this Legislature to do is to see that they be given an opportunity to work. I want to assure the Members of the House that they will be doing America a great favor, for after all, what does it matter to the men on the front, whether the bullets were made by black hands or white hands? He does not have time to stop to see who made the bullets. We have the men to make the bullets and all that we ask is that we get the law to give us the opportunity.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I want to sort of disagree with the ex-Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, insofar as he says that there is no business that is nonessential, because frankly I wish to say that I feel that the business of this present Legislature is really nonessential.

Mr. Speaker, in regard to House Bill 873, Printers' No. 451, I feel that the piece of legislation before us should be so labelled, inasmuch as by argument upon this floor it has been duly proven to be unnecessary, in view of the fact that the Governor has been given power to curtail or suspend such things as we have before us today. So why duplicate the record, and why not admit the fact that this is possibly one of the promises of the administration to the financial angels of this present administration. I say to you, that I feel, and labor feels, that these bills that are before us at the present time are a backslide from the social and labor gains that we have had in the past. These are the opening wedges, wedges that those of the big interests would wish to drive in in order to bring back the child labor and the sweat shops of yesterday. So we say to you that we need such legislation. We certainly have the power to take care of the emergency at the present time in the hands of the Governor. So why place this legislation upon the statute books, which will not be erased, but which will continue if those certain reactionaries hold the balance of power in the state of Pennsylvania. I am asking the membership on both sides of the House to refute the demands of those interests who wish to bring back those unsanitary days when child labor was exploited in Pennsylvania. By bringing back these measures that will bring back child labor and sweat shops in Pennsylvania, we of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania are taking one of the biggest backward steps in the social reform progress which was so ably inaugurated by Governor Earle right here in this building on Capitol Hill.

Mr. McMILLEN. Mr. Speaker, I think perhaps at this time when both sides have made their claims—each side seems to be convinced that it is right, each side seems to be thinking that it is aiding the war effort—I feel that a letter that came out of Bataan on January 31, 1943 is worth reading for the benefit of this House. I myself am certain that I do not want to do anything that will deprive any child in this state of its rightful heritage and opportunity, but I think, gentlemen, that under the circumstances and under the conditions that we find ourselves in today we are making the choice between setting aside a few things that we have defended temporarily and complete defeat. I feel for my part that I am willing to set aside temporarily some of those things in order that we may guarantee to the boys and girls of the future and those who may be temporarily put to work the right to come back and live in a land that is worth living in. I say to you, gentleman, what good will it be if we apply these standards and lose the backbone that is upholding the country that stands by these standards and these children.

The letter that I hold in my hand was given to me by a man sitting in this House tonight. It was written to a man who works for his company. This man has two sons in the service, the one a marine, the other in the army. When the marines were on their way out of Guadalcanal, the boy in the marines met his only brother on the way into that area to hold what they had taken. This boy is writing home to his father previous to leaving. He says:

> "Dear Dad: From about 10:00 a. m. till about 2:30 p. m. it is 130 in the shade. We run around in cut-off slacks and sometimes nothing. We are all as black as ink now. One merely has to sit still and the sweat literally runs off. We eat two meals of questionable character a day. At night we must wear slacks and shirts because of the malaria mosquitoes. We take atabrine tablets to combat the ravages of the fever which we will get sooner or later. I spent Christmas day in the hospital with the 'trots' which were awful. New Year's eve the Japs bombed us and not for the last time. One has the most helpless feeling when a Jap bomber is overhead in the dark. We all have fox-holes right by our beds (that's hell) so we can jump into them at a moment's notice. They are about four feet deep and long enough to lie face down in. We cover them with logs and dirt to stop falling shrapnel, we hope. Though I have been bombed more than fifty times my stomach still ties itself into knots when I hear those bombs whistling towards me. Yes, they make a rushing sound and you break out in a clammy sweat and think 'Dear God, where is it going to hit'? They have come too close for comfort many a time. Sometimes we are up all night with raids, and then have to work all day. Of course we are bombed and strafed in the day time, too, but I don't mind that because you can see and shoot back. Also our air corps can go after them in the day time.

"Another test of the Jap snipers who are numerous. These are more scary but more fun as they snipe only in the daytime when we are working. You can hear the pop of their rifles, then the bullet goes 'zing', and you know they are shooting at you from some nearby tree in the jungle. They are damn clever at camouflage but our stinco shots, so we play hide and seek with them until one of us gets knocked out. So far so good for Richard.

"Here there are no stores, no movies, no women, black or white, no U.S.O., no stage door canteen, 'no nothing.' The amusement angle is nil. We are too busy working and trying to stay alive. The government gives us our cigarettes and a little hard candy once in a while. Still the only complaint I have ever heard is about the people back home. Here the men live weeks at a time in mud or dust clutching their rifles for their lives. No baths, no shaves, no clean clothes, underwear rotting on their bodies, clothes wet at night and scorching hot by day. Noise, mud and blood, screams of agony, nerves shot to hell, by ache and strain. What's wront at home? Is everyone too busy stealing a little extra coffee or gas—too interested in their own personal comfort or the entertainment of the boys back at home? No, it's not fair. The American soldier can always find amusement for himself if he has to. The money wasted back there could be much better spent on guns, ships, and planes. God, how we need planes! Ask any marine or soldier or sailor who has dodged bombs or shells or subs what they think of these things. I haven't blown my top. Maybe I have over-exercised. But I have seen lads from eighteen years old get blown up, men with legs gone, with hands blown off, pain and misery in their eyes. Still no complaint. They are not sorry they did their bit and more besides, and are only sorry they are out of it. So help me God, I wish everyone back home could see the ones who are really in this war. No, I am not shell-shocked or sorry for myself. I am not trying to get sympathy from anyone because I have had it a lot easier than a lot of others. I am still whole and alive. Yes, I have changed. My brother, eighteen years old, a marine, put in five months of this hell. I saw him before he left. We talked it over. He is an old man at eighteen. Not marked up, but the childish fun of that age completely obliterated by sight of death and pain. Don't spend your money on amusement for soldiers. Save their lives with guns and planes, that's what we want out here, and a little note once in a while of love and praise. It means so much and costs so damn little. I hope I haven't exaggerated but you can't exaggerate a premature death and I am not a flag-waver and I don't want to be a blow-hard but something must be done about the misguided energy back home."

I think that is where the story lies, a lot of misguided energy is spent at home. We have spent a lot of it here. It is time that we get these people into these factories who can answer these ads in the newspapers, who may produce these guns and shells. Let us put these boys and girls where they can do the work that is suitable for them, and their work will be suitable. Let us release the men who can go out into the mills and do this heavy work. Our Manpower Commissioner, Mr. Paul McNutt, is going to call down on us a manpower draft, is going to draft us and put us to work where he wants us. In fact, he has frozen us where we are, and in many cases has prevented us from getting a better job than we have under certain conditions. Who says, there isn't a man shortage? Paul V. McNutt? And who is he? Assistant to the assistant to the President, I would say, the man who is looking after these problems. He says there is a shortage. Now, does the minority side of this House want to refute the statement of Paul V. McNutt, the leader of the manpower of this nation, and say that there is no shortage? Gentlemen, you had better not get your wires crossed. Your own President, my President, your commander-in-chief, my commander-in-chief, I mean the commander-in-chief who put Paul V. McNutt where he is today, he says there is a manpower shortage, he says that something has to be done about this, and yet you on the floor of the House stand up and try to tell us there is no shortage, that nothing has to be done, that we can go through the way we are. I know a man in my own county who did not lift eight acres of good potatoes last year because he could not get the help. His own wife went down to a bed of illness for three months because she herself tried to harvest that crop of potatoes. I tell you that boys from 16 to 18 can pick potatoes and other work on the farm, they can milk the cows and relieve these men who can go into the mills to do heavy work. I have done it since I was 12 years of age. Maybe it did stunt my growth a little, but I can say right here that I thank God that I live in a land where I could secure an education for myself through my own efforts and through the efforts and assistance of those around me, that I could be privileged to come here as a kid like that. This means more to me, gentlemen, than simply upholding a standard that after all will amount to nothing if we do not uphold this type of government under which we live.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose House Bill 873. Now, we are bringing in the war here, and maybe I'd better qualify before I start talking. Members of the House, one of the first to be blown to pieces at Pearl Harbor was my grandson, and my two sons have been in the army since two years ago. So, I believe I know whether or not we on this side are interfering with the war effort. Great stress has been laid here on the shortage of labor. Yes, there is a shortage of skilled mechanics, not of labor, but of skilled mechanics. A lot of men are ready to go to work, but they don't want them in the picture. They do want these boys 16 years old to go in and take the place of these men, because the boys receive a minimum wage, whereas the man will receive the higher wages for the job. You want the 16 year old boy to take the job.

The other side has said that the manpower agency wanted this bill. I don't know whether they want it or not, but if you want my opinion I am perfectly satisfied in my own mind, and this opinion is based on my experience, this bill is the offspring of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association and nobody else. Why do I say that? If we are short of labor and we need 16 year old boys you know as well as I know that the President will issue an executive order that conditions are such that it becomes necessary to do so, and 16 year old boys and girls will go to work—and old men. They are working now too. There is nothing in the way of the Federal government to get all the aid necessary.

Information was made here that the labor unions were keeping the colored men out of the factories, mines and mills. I happen to be a member of an organization which was founded in 1876 which functioned from that time up until December 31, 1942. This organization passed out of existence and transferred its affiliation to the United Steel Workers. I have maintained my membership in one of those locals up to today. I am not on the payroll of the labor movement. I will say to you that the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of North America was the very oldest organization in existence, and the constitution of that organization specifically provides that all those working in and around steel mills were eligible for membership, regardless of creed, color or nationality.

Mr. Speaker, I have in my hand here the constitution of the International Mine Workers of America, effective November 1, 1942 and I desire to read into the record article 2:

> "Object: First, to unite in one organization, regardless of creed, color or nationality all the workers eligible for membership, employed in and around the coal mines, coal washers, coal processing plants, coke ovens, and such other industries as may be designated and approved by the International Executive Board of the American Continent."

That is the part of the organization that I am familiar with, and the position which they take on this question. Maybe the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association could do something about the bill, and if we could remove that influence, possibly we could get some action on the bill. I think I am right that this legislation is unnecessary because if conditions get so that it will be necessary for 16 year old boys to be put to work, we will get the order from the commander-in-chief, our commander-in-chief, won't we? If I am wrong in that, I suggest that those who know better correct me. I ask you to oppose this bill on those grounds.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, are we tc understand from the remarks of the gentleman from Allegheny that we can get further in this war by awaiting executive orders, executive edicts, or executive decree, I believe he said, rather than by legislative processes? I for one, in the passage of these bills want to stay by the democratic processes. Let us meet these problems as we see them, by legislative processes rather than await some particular order or executive decree, as the gentleman has stated.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, in answer to the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, I want to say that the nation is at war, and the commander-in-chief has been empowered with the authority to do the things which are necessary to win the war. I am opposed to legislative acts that will weaken the child labor law, that the literal minded people of this state fought so hard to place on the statute books.

I am surprised at the ex-Senator from Philadelphia who said that forty years ago he was the first man to advocate child labor laws, and then forty years later he comes along and tries to tear them down.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken.

The SPEAKER. What is the nature of the motion?

Mr. PETROSKY. The motion is under rule 40 of the House to discharge a committee from further consideration of a bill.

The SPEAKER. The motion is not in order while we are on the calendar. The Chair will accept it under the order of business of resolutions. Will the gentleman kindly send his motion to the desk in writing. A written motion is required.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Westmoreland will state his question of information.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, under House Rule 40, there is no requisite for a written resolution to discharge a committee.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman please look up rule 84?

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1044, entitled:

An Act to amend the act, approved the sixteenth day of July, one thousand nine hundred and forty-one (P. L. 400), entitled "An act to protect the debtors, obligators or guarantors of debts for which judgment are entered or may be entered, and owners of real property affected thereby, and others indirectly liable for the payment thereof, by prescribing the method of fixing the fair market value of such property sold on execution, and limiting the amount collectible thereafter on such judgments," by clarifying certain provisions of said act; extending various provisions thereof so as to apply to certain proceedings involving real property located outside Pennsylvania; prescribing a procedure for securing record satisfaction of certain judgments by court order where the plaintiff in execution proceedings failed to file, within the time prescribed by said act, a petition to fix the fair market value of real property sold to the plaintiff under such execution proceedings.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SKALE offered the following amendments:

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 1.1), page 2, lines 12, 13 and 14, by striking out the words "The procedure prescribed by this act shall apply with respect to real property located outside the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in" and inserting in lieu thereof "In."

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 1.1), page 3, line 2, by inserting after the word "act" the following: "Such petition shall be disposed of, and the fair market value of the real property sold in the other state shall be fixed in the manner provided in the act to which this is an amendment. After the determination of the fair market value of the property sold in the other state, the debtor, obligor, guarantor and any other person liable directly or indirectly to the plaintiff or plaintiffs for the payment of the debt shall be released and discharged of such liability to the plaintiff to the extent of the fair market value of said property as previously agreed to by the plaintiff or plaintiffs or determined by the court, less the amount of all prior liens, costs, taxes and municipal claims not discharged by the sale, and also less the amount of any such items paid at the distribution on the sale, and shall also be released and discharged of such liability to the extent of any amount by which the sale price, less such prior liens, costs, taxes and municipal claims exceed the fair market value as agreed to by the plaintiff or plaintiffs or fixed and determined by the court as aforesaid, and thereupon petitioner may proceed by appropriate proceedings to collect the balance of the debt.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments.

BILL AND AMENDMENTS RECOMMITTED

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill together with the amendments be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, is there anything about this bill or the amendments that the gentleman does not understand and would like to have explained?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Not at this late hour, Mr. Speaker. I think the committee is very anxious to study this amendment and the chairman of the committee has asked me to have it recommitted so that the committee can give it proper study and necessary thought as to whether or not we should insert these amendments.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman know that the committee has had this bill for possibly five or six weeks and has given the matter proper study? In addition to that the bill was in the hands of the subcommittee where it received study, after which it was reported out on the floor of this House?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. That is probably correct, Mr. Speaker, but I do not believe that the committee has studied the amendments and we are going to return the bill so that the committee will have the opportunity to study the amendments, and whether or not they should be inserted.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, isn't it true that this bill and the amendments are now being referred back to committee for the purpose of pickling because it is a Democratic sponsored bill?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I think I explained the reason before.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman.

I realize now the fate that is in store for this bill and the amendments. In the 1941 session I worked on the deficiency judgment bill for many months. Previous sessions of the legislature passed deficiency judgment bills which were declared unconstitutional. We finally succeeded in passing one which the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania upheld as constitutional. Now, there are certain things which are not covered by that bit of legislation, and it is natural that when a subject is first legislated upon, or subsequently items occur which could not have been foreseen, and that is the situation now, and that is the situation which we are trying to remedy by this bill.

Mr. Speaker, let me explain to the membership of this House what the bill does and what the amendments do.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will please confine himself to the motion to recommit? The gentleman knows that the merits of the bill may not be discussed now.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I shall confine my remarks to the motion and against recommitting this bill but in doing so I must point out the merits of the bill. For that reason my remarks are in opposition to the motion.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is confined to the motion to recommit, and may not discuss the merits of the bill.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I ask in all fairness to the people of Pennsylvania who have asked for legislation of this type, that this bill remain on the calendar so that it may pass at this session of the legislature. This is legislation the type of which we have been asking for in Pennsylvania for many years. This is no time to kill good legislation, and the motion to recommit would have that effect. If you gentlemen are of the mind to kill good legislation, then vote for the motion; if you are in favor of good legislation, then I ask you to oppose the motion.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lehigh permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. BAKER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, the Majority Floor Leader, since the chairman of the Judiciary General committee has asked to have this bill recommitted to his committee, whether or not he would not be so kind as the Majority Floor Leader to ask the chairman to place in that committee some Democrats as pallbearers.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILLS PASSED OVER

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Counties for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I suggest that I was asked about this bill by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, yesterday. We had quite some discussion on the bill, and I ask that we pass this bill over until we have a chance to consult with him.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say that the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Bretherick, wants this bill sent back to committee and probably he may arrange for it later.

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, we are afraid we are being "stung." I asked that this bill go back.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 173, entitled:

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LEE offered the following amendments:

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. LEE offered the following amendment:

Amend Sec. 2 (Sec. 5.1), page 11, line 27, by striking out the figure "(2)" and inserting in lieu thereof: "(3)."

It was agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The third and fourth sections and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILLS PASSED OVER

INTERROGATION

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to interrogate the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman refer to his calendar on page 16? May I ask with reference to House Bill 578, Printer's No. 524, introduced by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Weiss, and the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Alspach, since it is co-sponsored by a Democrat, whether when this bill is recommitted, one-half of the bill will go back?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, it is with deep regret that I must state that the entire bill, not just one-half, will go back to committee.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

Mr. GARBER from the Committee on Counties reported as committed, House Bill No. 759, entitled:

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. ALSPACH. (Concurrent) RESOLUTION No. 64.

In the House of Representatives, April 20, 1943.

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States now contains no limitation on the number of terms which may be served by one person as President; and

Whereas, The sound traditional limitation of two terms for any one person, first suggested and subscribed to by George Washington, has been adhered to by all presidents from the creation of the United States until the year 1940; and

Whereas, The wisdom of the traditional limitation has been amply demonstrated to the people of the United States by the first breach thereof; and

Whereas, The tradition should be translated into a positive mandate of the people by action of the states; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur), That the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, invokes its power, granted under Article V of the Constitution of the United States, to apply to the Congress of the United States to call a convention of the States for the purpose of proposing an amendment to the Constitution to limit the holding of the office of President of the United States by any one person to two terms of four years each; and be it further

Resolved, That this action of the Legislature on behalf of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania is a continuing application for the call of a convention for the purpose named herein, and the Congress of the United States is hereby respectfully requested to provide by resolution that this application be presented to each succeeding Congress until two-thirds of the states have made similar application; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the President of the Senate, and all members of the Pennsylvania delegation in the Congress of the United States.

SENATE

THURSDAY, April 22, 1943.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock, p. m. Eastern War Time.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE (Charles H. Ealy) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. EDWIN S. WALLACE, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Unto Thee, O God, who inhabitest eternity, we whose days are numbered, come confessing our sins, and pray for forgiveness. If true repentance is ours we know that Thou wilt not deny our petition. Though our hearts condemn us, God is greater than our hearts. Thy mercy is infinite and Thy love measureless, and are granted to us according to our faith. Lord, increase our faith.

At this season, when the Christian world is commemorating the resurrection from the dead of the Son of God, may we, in all sincerity, join in the songs of praise and in the prayers of gratitude for God's unspeakable Gift.

We are, in name, a Christian nation. May we at this time be one in fact. In all our dealings with other nations; in all our treatment of each other, give us the grace to be truly Christian, devoted followers of the Prince of Peace. In so being and doing we will truly honor our Leader at this Easter time, and will present to Him our finest tribute—ourselves dedicated to His Service.

May the grace of the Lord Jesus Christ be with us all. Amen.

Whereas, The former members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police in resigning their positions were impelled by sincere patriotic motives, and

Whereas, When they resigned from the Pennsylvania Motor Police, the former officers obtained positions guarding vital war industries in this Commonwealth and elsewhere, and

Whereas, It has been learned that when the former members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police resigned their positions, entry was made in their records indicating that they deserted, and

Whereas, The former members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police have been performing a duty in guarding our essential war plants and other forms of industry and business directly connected with the war effort, which was, and is, more important than any service they could have performed as members of the Pennsylvania Motor Police prior to our entry into the war, therefore

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am not going to bore the Senate by a long speech about this bill, but I do want to put on the record here that this is one of those destructive, terrible Earle tax bills which the previous Governor was going to wipe off the books. It is headed Emergency Tax, but it was not removed from the books by our previous Governor, in spite of the fact that he knew he was going to leave his administration with a surplus.

It is also as I say an emergency tax, passed specifically for relief, to aid the relief situation that existed at that time. That situation no longer exists.

I, therefore, am going to vote "no" on this bill.

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

Section 2 This reenacting and amending act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just want to call the attention of the Senate to the fact that when this tax act was first enacted into law it was done for an emergency purpose, even against the good judgment of those who proposed the bill, because at that time we felt that due to the emergency we could properly set aside something that we had always believed to be a sound principle of government, that is, that under no circumstances should there be a tax upon a tax.

This ten per cent liquor tax is one of the most disgraceful things in the entire state of Pennsylvania, in so far as increasing the cost of any particular item is concerned, because of the method employed. I do not mean particularly as to the cost of liquor . . . that is not essential . . . but this just means that you can get away with it in this particular field better than you can in any other field. Here just recently we passed a bill removing a tax on public utilities and now we turn right around and place a double tax on a particular item in the state. It does not matter much whether you use liquor or not, it is the principle behind it, and therefore, I intend to vote "no".

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I suppose the gentleman from Schuylkill, Senator Watkins, will say you should discount what I am going to say by fifty per cent, but I suggest that before be does so, he go look at the same figures that I did.

The budget for the biennium ending May, 1943 shows an anticipated revenue from liquor profits of $30,000,000. The profit up to, I think it was thirty days ago, was $46,000,000 and some odd hundreds, or $16,000,000 in excess of the estimated revenue.

Why we need a ten per cent tax on liquor, which was imposed as an emergency tax, when the business is running close to $50,000,000 in two years, is more than I can understand, especially in view of the circumstances that exist here in Pennsylvania. If you are prohibitionists and do not want any liquor, then you do not have to have it but if you do have liquor, there is no reason why you should make criminals out of the citizens of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, which is what you are doing today.

Liquor distillers will not sell liquor to Pennsylvania when they can get outside customers, because, we have a price fixing principle, and they can sell to individuals in other states and they do that. Concerns that sold as high as thirty or forty per cent of their liquor to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, two and one half or three years ago, are now selling only five per cent, and the other twenty-five or thirty per cent goes to other states where they can get higher prices for it, and where they do not have state controlled stores.

This tax nobody can say is a necessary tax. If you take the view that liquor should not be sold, you should put a forty per cent tax on it, but if you take the view that liquor should be sold, and you are running it on a businesslike basis, you should give the people of Pennsylvania the same fair treatment that people in other states get.

If you had an emergency, that might be an excuse, but you do not have any emergency; here you have a business which has earned a profit of $46,000,000 in two years, and that does not include an additional profit of $4,000,000 which will be realized in the next two months. What is the excuse for this tax?

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON SECOND READING

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 46, on second reading, entitled:

An Act relating to labor organizations protecting the rights of members thereof imposing certain responsibilities and duties upon the officers of labor organizations requiring the registration of foreign labor organizations, and prohibiting gifts by labor organizations to political organizations or candidates for election or nominations, and regulating the making of loans; conferring certain powers and duties upon the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry of this Commonwealth and of said department and prescribing penalties

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. SHAPIRO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have asked unanimous consent to address the Senate because I desire to read to the Senate a letter, and I want to read it at a time when there will be controversy, because I have no desire to confuse this letter with any controversial subject.

This is a letter, Mr. President, which should be of interest to all the members of the Senate, and I read it for that purpose, because many of us are prone to talk about our flag, sacrifice, and liberty, and forget what they really stand for. Many of us know that a lot of young boys have gone away to war, but few of us realize the impressions that this war has made upon them and the changes that occur in a short period of time. This letter was written by a young boy whose college education was interrupted to enable him to enter the Navy. It is addressed to his two year old nephew and reads as follows:

"April 7, 1943.

"Dear Paul:

"It comes to me in this lull in my morning's toil that the day is fast approaching when you will be celebrating your second birthday. Such an occasion could hardly be allowed to pass without a few words of acknowledgment and congratulation from your old uncle, despite the distances that may separate us at the moment.

"I remember quite well the happy day on which you first put in your appearance on this earthly scene. That night your Uncle Charles, who was then in his senior year at college and far more carefree than he might have been had he foreseen the events of the next few years, celebrated your arrival in an exceedingly hilarious manner at a sorority dance. He was quite happy to be your uncle, and he has continued to be happy in the knowledge of your presence for these nearly two years. He has reveled in the reflected glory of your pleasing development and is unhappy only in the thought that he is not at home to watch you grow up and in the pleasure that he is missing by that absence. Your Daddy writes to me that you are now able to form whole sentences, and I take some pardonable pride in the knowledge that you mention my name from time to time even though you do not see me these days.

"However I am away from you and from home because there is important work to be done so that you may continue to grow and develop in a free and uninhibited fashion for now and for many years to come......this afternoon, and every afternoon since I have been here, a parade went by the hotel in which I now live. It was a parade of American soldiers carrying the American Flag. And, as that Flag passed by, everyone sitting at the sidewalk cafe rose, and stood at attention. Uniformed men of the United States, Free France, Great Britain, and many other nations stood and saluted that Flag......I had to travel many miles to see a sight such as that, Paul, I never saw it done at home except on very special, and prearranged occasions......that is why I have to be where I am. Because nobody ever took to their hearts that Flag and the important things for which it stands. And, that is why I am writing to you now as I do. Because I want you to start now, when you are just two years old, to learn to honor and respect that flag forever and for all time. Because if you start now, and learn the meaning of that emblem you will never have to travel thousands of miles to defend it. Because if you learn now, and never forget that Flag's importance to you and to your Daddy and Mommy, and to your Uncle Chas no one will ever dare to encroach on the liberties for which it stands.

"With my best wishes to you on your birthday, and to your Mommy and Daddy,

"I am fondly your Uncle Chas."

Eternal and All Wise God; Creator of Heaven and Earth. We confess our faith in Thee anew this day and thank Thee for Thy grace so abundantly manifested unto the children of men. We are not unmindful of Thy blessings unto our fathers who sacrificed and toiled, and, with faith in God have given us this great nation. In this hour of great crisis we again consciously realize our need of divine help. Without Thy help our cause will fail. O God, give, we beseech Thee, Thy blessing to our Land and Nation. Give wisdom and understanding to all in authority. Reveal thru Thy eternal providences of Divine knowledge what should be done and when to do it. Give to the men and the women of the armed forces Thy blessing. Strengthen them in the hour of battle. Arm them with courage and the fortitude of Thy presence. Bless their parents and loved ones. God speed the day when victory may come to our side and wars may end.

Give Thy blessing to the Chief Executive of this Commonwealth; to this House, its Speaker and Members. Rule and overrule in its deliberations and decisions so that whatever legislation is passed may be for the greatest good to the greatest number.

May the blessings of the Easter season and the victorious resurrection of Jesus Christ empower Thy people everywhere. Make this truly the land of the free and the home of the brave. Through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. AUKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, on Monday evening, very late during my temporary absence from the House a bill known as the districting bill was passed. I had at that time wanted to say a few words on behalf of that particular bill and the organizations that were sponsoring it. For the benefit of those people and the Members of the House at this time I would like to read into the record the following with reference to that particular bill.

Mr. Speaker, thank goodness for newspapers and the high duty they perform in conducting their surveys. About two weeks ago the New York Times, Sunday issue, published the results of their questionnaire survey pertaining to the knowledge of American history as held by College freshmen. This survey showed an astonishing and alarming lack of the knowledge and pertinent facts of American and United States history by college freshmen. It was so shocking that various United States Senators commented on the same in the United States Senate, and a resolution was sponsored by Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, asking for an investigation of the facts as revealed by the New York Times survey.

This bill is not my personal bill. It is an American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, bill. At the Pittsburgh Convention of the American Legion held in August 1942, the said convention by a resolution, passed by a unanimous vote of the convention delegates, representing all the Legion posts of Pennsylvania and as good a cross section of public opinion in Pennsylvania as one could possibly get, resolved that the Pennsylvania Legislature should pass a law making it mandatory that American history should be taught in the public schools of our State and also in all State aided institutions of higher learning. This bill is the result of that mandate. I am taking no individual credit for same, but am merely acting as the instrumentality of the American Legion and of the other State recognized veteran bodies, The Spanish American war veterans, the Veterans of Foreign wars, and the disabled American war veterans, in sponsoring this bill.

In preparing the bill the suggestions of Charles Sohl, Americanism Chairman of the American Legion, Department of Pennsylvania, were in a large measure carried out in this bill. The deep thanks of myself and the other veteran bodies are due to Dr. Charles Sohl for his contribution on this bill.

The veteran bodies believe this bill to be an excellent piece of legislation and a very sincere and progressive step forward to teach our school children the great principles, doctrines and tenets of the United States form of Government, the background of the formation of our Republican Representative form of government, the advantages of our form of government over every other existing form of government, the high standard of our American life and the great social, religious economic, and political blessings which are inherent and are existing in the United States Republican Representative form of government. This bill provides for a positive teaching of American history, rather than a negative teaching of American history as is contained in so many of the so called social science text books, which have lately been so prevalent in the public school of our Nation and which, thank God, through the efforts of the American Legion and other allied veteran and patriotic organizations of our State and Country, are gradually being discarded and thrown out of our public school systems.

On behalf of the American Legion and the other veteran bodies, I wish to thank the Department of Education of Pennsylvania, the Educational Committee of this House and you, my fellow colleagues, for your work and support of this bill and the backing that you are giving the veteran bodies of this State in forward looking progressive and helpful legislation of this kind. I would like to remind the House that had our Federal Government listened and followed the advice and counsel of the American Legion in regard to an adequate national defense and a preparedness program, which they have advocated over the last twenty years, that this country would not have been caught with our pants down when Japan delivered its treacherous attack. I am glad to see therefore, that the counsel, advice and thought of the American Legion is being followed by our Pennsylvania Legislature in seeking to develop a deep sense and love of country and its Republican Representative form of government in our children, and to correct the deficiency that is now established beyond the fact to be existing among our public school and college students in this State and Nation.

We believe the United States to be the best Nation on earth, socially, economically, religious and especially political. We believe that this Nation, under God, has a destiny to fulfill in the divine plan of the world and we further believe that this Nation can only fulfill that destiny by inculcating in our citizens, in our children and in our children's children the great principles and the background thereon which, under God, gave rise and gave birth to the formation of these United States of America and that if we are to fulfill that destiny we must ever keep alive in the hearts of our people, that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance and that we must ever uphold to all the peoples of the world, and especially the afflicted ones and the refugees of foreign political tyranny, that this Nation can be and will be their home as long as they respect our fundamental laws, our bills of rights and our hospitality, and shall not under cover of the protection of the Constitution of our State and Nation and the bill of rights thereto, seek to undermine, abuse and overthrow the home to which they have come for refuge, peace, contentment and security, politically, socially, economically and religiously, to live out their lives and rear their families in contentment and peace.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BENTLEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, several weeks ago the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Hannon, in opposing a tax bill which I had offered concerning the city of Pittsburgh, opposed the bill on the grounds that the city was run by a Democratic administration and it had been afflicted with squandermania, as he put it; he stated that they could not be trusted with tax affairs, that the financial situation of the city was such that any extension of the right to tax given to these officials was dangerous. I answered the gentleman at that time, because I was shocked and amazed at his statement. I have some knowledge of the financial condition of the city, and I can truthfully say that contrary to his charge of squandermania, the city has been run economically and efficiently. I have no doubt that many of the Members of this House have some doubts forming in their minds as to the real financial condition and as to the manner in which the second largest city of this Commonwealth is being run. Now, you are rightly concerned in those matters but the doubt, if any in your mind, should now be resolved by an editorial which appeared yesterday in the Pittsburgh Press, and with your permission I should like to read from the Wednesday, April 21, 1943 edition of the Pittsburgh Press, the following article:

FINANCIAL STATUS OF CITY IMPROVES, LEAGUE ANNOUNCES

Economy Group Cites 4 Points to Explain Why Pittsburgh Balances Budget For Three-Year Period

An appraisal of the City's financial condition over the past three years finds a constantly improving situation, the Western Pennsylvania branch of the Pennsylvania Economy League reported today.

Total revenues for the three years, 1940 to 1942, were $71,663,966. Total operating expenditures and debt services were $71,487,661, leaving a surplus of $176,305, the League pointed out, proof of a balanced budget for the three-year period.

Cite Four Main Points

"In view of the City's past record of unbalanced budgets and deficit financing, it is both an encouraging symptom and a concrete accomplishment," the League said.

"There are four main points to consider in evaluating the City's financial status today and its trends over the past three years," the League maintained, setting forth:

1. The City has operated on a pay-as-you-go program for the past three years in its current operating expenses.

2. The City has reduced its indebtedness by $7,500,000 in the three years in question. By the end of this year, it will have reduced it by $10,000,000 or more. This even surpasses the long-range pay-as-you-go program presented by the League for eventual retirement of all City debt. Its significance lies in the fact that it has sharply reversed a trend in effect since 1926.

3. Interest charges up to $500,000 a year have been saved by canceling unused bond fund balances and reducing the amount outstanding to $1,000,000. It is planned to eliminate such balances totally.

4. Floating indebtedness has been brought to its lowest point in more than a score of years, ($56,362,231).

'Lowest Point Since 1926'

Explaining that it had advocated a "budget control system" for the City beginning in 1940, the League said:

"In three years, 1940-1942, the City's funded and floating debt was reduced by $7,507,338—to a total of $56,262,231. This is the lowest point since 1926, the year when the City's building boom began.

"Much has been written on the possibility that the City may be forced to sell bonds—generally estimated at $1,000,000. So far this year, the City has sold no bonds; at the same time $4,290,000 was appropriated to the sinking fund for retirement of bonds.

Can Decrease Bonded Debt

"Should the City succeed in avoiding any bond issues during this year, the bonded debt will show a decrease of $4,290,000, or a reduction of almost $12,000,000 since Dec. 1, 1939."

[City Council has an ordinance before it now authorizing the sale of $1,500,000 in public improvement bonds pending action of Council's finance committee.]

Attributing much of the City's financial status at present to a policy of canceling bond fund residues, the League reported:

"In the past, bonds were sold long before jobs were started and money was needed. When jobs were delayed, the funds for that particular work were held in idleness in the City Treasury. When jobs cost less than the original estimate, the bond fund balances or untouched funds were carried on the books indefinitely—some for as long as 15 years.

"In 1920 when the funded debt totaled $37,000,000, about $7,000,000 was carried as bond fund balances, waiting to be spent. In 1928 it was about $14,000,000.

'Cost High Interest Toll'

"The significance of these figures lies in the fact that these unused, unproductive sums of money cost the City a staggering annual interest toll.

"The City has made large decreases in its bond fund balances in recent years and now has about $1,000,000 outstanding, for which it pays two per cent interest. It is the lowest total in 23 years."

In conclusion the Economy League's report said:

"It is not a usual policy for taxpayers, or taxpayers' organizations to throw banquets at public officials. The League, however, has maintained from its earliest days that public officials should be commended for cincere effort,. for good management and for accomplished improvements in their administration. . . .

"There are many things the League would like to see improved and many more that it is trying to improve—but as far as the City's financial situation and financial program is concerned—with both of which the League feels that it has been of some assistance—it is time to speak a word of commendation."

Mr. Speaker, I think that should be the end of "squandermania".

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, just before recess last evening my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Brown, made remarks that might be misconstrued by Members of this House. He stated that on Tuesday evening I had moved to place House Bill 663 on the final passage postponed calendar and gave as one of my reasons the fact that I wished to speak on the question on Wednesday.

This was my desire on Tuesday evening, and as late as Wednesday. Certainly, however, the debate yesterday on Senate Bill 272 reached such ridiculous proportions and consumed so much of the time of the House that along with other members I became thoroughly disgusted. You will recall, however, and I want this to be known to the members of the House, that I distinctly stated when I asked that House Bill 663 be placed on the postponed calendar that I had no agreement with the other side of the House; I had in no way discussed this matter with my colleague Mr. Brown. If I left any of the Members under the impression that I had talked with any Member on the other side, I want it thoroughly understood that I did not. I said what I did on behalf of myself, but I believe that several of my colleagues over here, Mr. Hannon had some remarks he wanted to make, and I think Mr. Ewing had some remarks he wanted to make.

I want to call the attention of the House to the fact that when Senate Bill 272 was on the second reading calendar Mr. Bentley offered amendments which I vigorously opposed. When Mr. Hannon called up House Bill 663, you will recall there was considerable wrangling over his right to do so, and finally the Speaker ruled that he was in order in calling it up. Mr. Leonard, my colleague from Allegheny, spoke in opposition at some length. Mr. Hannon answered Mr. Leonard and then the previous question was moved. At that time I seconded the motion for the previous question, but only because I was thoroughly disgusted with the dilatory tactics taken by the Members on the other side with any piece of legislation which is in no way politically controversial.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LEONARD asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I believe my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. Fleming made a motion night before last to lay over House Bill 663 because—and I can be corrected by the record—because several Republicans wanted to make long speeches on the bill, and with that understanding we went along with it.

AMENDED SENATE BILL RECALLED FROM THE GOVERNOR RETURNED FOR CONCURRENCE

SENATE BILL No. 135.

An Act to amend section seven hundred sixteen of the act approved the third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 1225) entitled "An act concerning game and other wild birds and wild animals and amending revising consolidating and changing the law relating thereto" authorizing the sale and purchase of hides of lawfully killed deer under certain circumstances

Said bill having been recalled from the Governor for amendment, the vote had on final passage and third reading reconsidered in the Senate and the bill amended, in which amendments the concurrence of the House of Representatives is requested.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the amendments.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend title, page 1, last line, by inserting after the word "circumstances" the following: "and making it unlawful to buy or sell raccoons for propagating purposes."

On the question,

Will the House concur in the amendments made by the Senate?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House non-concur in the amendments inserted by the Senate.

The motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

MEMBER CONGRATULATED

The SPEAKER. The Chair at this time has a very pleasant duty to perform which he was unable to do at yesterday's session. The Chair is informed that yesterday was the birthday of the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge. Shall we sing "Happy Birthday to You."

("Happy Birthday to You" was sung by the Members of the House.)

The SPEAKER. When the gentleman rises and tells us how old he really is, the Chair has a further pleasant duty to perform.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge.

Mr. COHEN. Will the gentleman yield for a moment?

Mr. SARGE. I will yield, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. COHEN. I would like to remind the gentleman in the statement he is about to make to look again upon the motto on the ceiling of this House,

> Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free.

I ask the gentleman to divorce himself from his home county, and when he makes his statement, please no baloney.

Mr. SARGE. Mr. Speaker, I find that my vocabulary is entirely too limited to begin to express even in an infinitesimal degree the pleasure that I have in announcing that I have arrived at approximately the fortieth birthday. I want to say that my birthday was yesterday, and when I got home an hour and a half late for the nice birthday dinner my wife had prepared, and the guests were assembled, she asked the reason for my lateness. I said of course that it was due to the filibuster, so that this recognition is a little late.

It reminds me of a little girl eight years of age with her brother of twelve. In honor of his birthday she took him to the movies. She laid down a quarter and asked for two tickets at the window. The clerk asked how old he was, and she said "He's twelve, but he was born late in the afternoon."

Gentlemen, I certainly appreciate this recognition of my birthday.

The SPEAKER. Since the gentleman has told us how old he is, the Chair would request the gentleman to come to the rostrum where we have a very unusual gift to present.

The Chair is unable to say whether there are any real live chicks contained herein, or whether it is Lebanon baloney after all, but at least it is a great pleasure to present this gift to the Sarges of Lebanon. This cake was baked forty years ago, the same as the gentleman's story about the number of years of his age. Does anybody have a knife?

Mr. SARGE. It is a very nice cake, and I believe it is covered with filibuster icing.

CONGRATULATORY RESOLUTION

Messrs. ALSPACH, NORMAN WOOD and ROYER offered a privileged resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 22, 1943.

The Department of Journalism of the Pennsylvania State College and the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association yesterday conferred an unusual honor upon one of the Members of this House at a luncheon held at the Waldorf Astoria in New York.

Professor Franklin Banner, head of the Department of Journalism at State College presented to the Honorable Harry E. Trout from Lancaster County a parchment scroll for his outstanding achievements in journalism.

To those members who know our member from Lancaster County only as a statesman of rare ability, the news of this recognition of his journalistic achievements came as a surprise.

In presenting the scroll to Mr. Trout for his "long and meritorious service in the profession of journalism," Professor Banner stated that the award was made:

"Because you are the publisher of a paper that has long been recognized as a friend and helpmate to every worth while interest and institution in the community . . .

"Because with your experience in teaching, in some 30 years of publishing, and in the State Legislature, you have brought good judgment, tempered with sympathy and understanding, to play in dealing with local problems . . .

"Because you have personally gained the deep respect and regard of your fellow publishers . . .

"Because you have developed a family paper, clean in its morals, kindly and tolerant in its approach toward its readers . . ."

On September 28, 1939, Mr. Trout celebrated the end of his first quarter century as the Editor of the Manheim Sentinel during which time he has made the "Sentinel" a part of the family life in Lancaster County, and has brought credit and distinction to his home town; therefore be it

Resolved, That we the Members of this House, rejoice with our fellow member in the honor that has come to him in this public recognition of the beneficial results of his labor, and we congratulate him upon the place he has won for himself in American Journalism; and be it further

Resolved, That as lasting evidence of our recognition of the honor that has been bestowed upon him, we direct the Chief Clerk of the House to furnish the Honorable Harry E. Trout with a copy if this resolution.

The SPEAKER. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

Mr. TROUT. Mr. Speaker, the last few days and again this morning I am wondering whether I am still living in the same atmospheric conditions that I had previously or whether I was one of those Major Hoople men that we see in the cartoons. I certainly appreciate the contents of the Resolution and the honor that was conferred upon me yesterday in New York. I hope that I may be worthy of the beautiful sentiments that are expressed in the resolution and on the scroll that was presented in New York yesterday.

I have lived quite a few years, a little bit more than the gentleman from Lebanon, Mr. Sarge, said this morning. I appreciate the friendship and the good fellowship that I have enjoyed as a member of the newespaper fraternity for thirty years. It so happens that I was one of the charter members of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association when it consisted of weekly papers only. Later on the daily papers became interested in the organization, and they took the weekly papers with them, and it has been a great pleasure for me to meet the newspaper men from Pennsylvania and all over the country.

As a member of the Legislature for years I have enjoyed being here. I have enjoyed the friendships that I have made, the associations it has afforded me. I have learned in these years that there is nothing that is so important, there is nothing that is so valuable to the individual as friendship. I think it is far better to give a man a slap on the back than a slap in the face, and it is upon that principle that I have attempted to conduct my paper. Mr. Speaker, I can't tell you how much I appreciate this resolution.

RESIGNATION FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BENTZEL. Mr. Speaker, I wish to be excused from the committee of five appointed to investigate the expenditure by William A. Shaw of the appropriation authorized in 1941 in this House.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from York, Mr. Bentzel asks to be excused from serving on the select committee of five to investigate the expenditure by William A. Shaw of an appropriation for a sewing project. If there is no objection the gentleman will be excused. The Chair hears none and appoints in place of Mr. Bentzel the gentleman from Westmoreland Mr. Weiss.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 522.

An Act relating to post-war planning creating a Post-War Planning Commission and defining its powers and duties conferring powers and duties upon State administrative departments boards and commissions political subdivisions and other agencies and making an appropriation.

HOUSE BILL No. 595.

An Act to amend section four thousand three hundred four of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-one (P. L. 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" removing becoming a nonresident of the State as a cause for forfeiture of rights under the police pension fund.

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. SKALE. The Speaker, do I understand that you are now accepting resolutions?

The SPEAKER. The Chair is very reluctant to go on to resolutions before our calendar has been disposed of.

Mr. SKALE. We have no calendars on the desks, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will accept resolutions if there are no objections. The Chair hears none.

QUESTION OF INFORMATION

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a further question of information.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of information.

Mr. SKALE. Would it be in order for me, presenting the resolution to preface it by some remarks?

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent? The Chair hears no objections. The gentleman will proceed.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, on March 2, 1942, I introduced a resolution in this House setting up a joint legislative committee consisting of three members of each House, who shall meet with the directors of the Harrisburg Red Cross Blood Bank and arrange for giving to it blood by Members of the General Assembly and the employes of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. It has already been shown that one of the modern medical miracles of this war has been saving many lives of our soldiers and sailors by the transfusion of blood plasma in seriously wounded men on the fighting front. Naturally this blood plasma was donated by patriotic Americans on the home front but in spite of repeated appeals there is now a shortage of blood donors.

Mindful of that fact and with a view only of doing whatever is possible to help the war effort, I had prepared and introduced on March 2 a resolution setting up the joint legislative committee. This resolution bears the No. 28, Serial No. 43, and was referred to the committee on Rules on the same day, March 2, 1943. In this committee the resolution found a safe resting place, in a dark pigeonhole where it is slowly accumulating dust. I have heard it said that the reason this resolution, worthy as it may be, will not be reported out of this committee, is because a Democrat sponsored it. If this be true, gentlemen, then I would charge the leaders of the Republican Party with playing politics with the lives of our soldiers and sailors as a stake.

I know of my own knowledge that many of the Members of this House have already donated blood voluntarily. My criticism is not against you men, but my criticism is against the leaders of your party who have given orders that this resolution shall remain in committee instead of bringing it out so that it can accomplish the worthy purpose that it is intended for.

On March 31, 1943 I addressed a letter to the Chairman of the Rules Committee, the Majority Leader of this House, the Honorable Franklin H. Lichtenwalter, and I notified him that on March 2nd this resolution was referred to his Committee, and I asked him to please present the resolution before the Committee for action. To date I have not heard whether the Committee ever acted on that resolution. I say to you gentlemen that even though many of us have already donated blood to the Red Cross Blood Bank, it is not sufficient. There are approximately in and around the city of Harrisburg fourteen thousand state employees representing a powerful reservoir of blood donors. To date, however, I am informed by a letter from the American Red Cross in Harrisburg—this letter was dated March 31, 1943, that only eleven hundred twenty-three persons from the Capitol have volunteered their blood. Now, gentlemen, I submit to you that that is a very low percentage of blood donors. I realize also that some may not be accepted, either by reason of age or physical disability, but how about the thousands of others who are acceptable and do not realize the importance of their blood donations, and the need for blood plasma cannot be too strongly emphasized. Colonel Case recently stated in Philadelphia where he made an appeal for blood donors that his regiment on Guadalcanal had only ten percent of casualties in his first month of fighting and only three percent killed, because he said the use of blood plasma was the most important of five major factors in saving the lives of American men there. Our men are also fighting in New Guinea and in North Africa and it is certain that in the near future there will also be fighting on other fronts more greatly expanded, which naturally will result in greater casualties. We must do everything possible to save those boys who are fighting for us. Every little bit we do back home means a lot to the boys on the front line. There are men in this chamber who have sons on the battlefield. There isn't one in this House who hasn't a near one and a dear one in uniform fighting for us. Who knows but what one of those boys may receive a serious wound and require a transfusion of blood plasma? Gentlemen, I submit to you that this complacency has gone far enough. It is time that we do something in a real effort to help the boys on the battlefronts. The Governor of Pennsylvania has asked for a wartime Session of win-the-war legislation, and of all the bills thus far signed by the Governor, not one attacks the problem of win-the-war legislation as this resolution does.

If the leaders of the Republican party are sincere in their efforts they will give the orders to report this resolution out of committee. Gentlemen, today by your actions you shall be judged. Let us pretend that we are out there at Guadalcanal or in New Guinea. It isn't easy, because we don't have any idea what it is like there, but we are watching the fight, the shell fire and the bombs, the blasting and the dying. One of the boys falls, almost before us. A nurse rushes up to you. That boy needs blood, your blood. With it he has a chance to live, without it none. Would you hesitate? Of course not. Genelemen, that boy over in Tunisia, in Guadalcanal, in New Guinea, wherever Americans are fighting, he is waiting for your help. As the President put it, we can, we will, we must. Gentlemen, I appeal to you, let us put aside politics; we must realize the dangers confronting us and the lives of our fighting men. We must disregard orders of politicians who think in terms of votes rather than the lives of our soldiers.

If this resolution stays pickled in committee, then I submit to you gentlemen that many lives of our soldiers and sailors will be lost through the lack of blood plasma.

RESOLUTION

MOTION TO DISCHARGE COMMITTEE ON RULES

Mr. SKALE offered a resolution which was read by the Clerk as follows:

In the House of Representatives, April 22, 1943.

Resolved, That the Committee on Rules be discharged from further consideration of Resolution No. 28 (Serial No. 43), said resolution having been in the hands of said committee more than ten days.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the resolution?

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Philadelphia has accused me as Chairman of the Rules committee of not having given him the proper satisfaction regarding House Resolution 28. I want to assure the membership of this House and the sponsor of this resolution, as he well knows, that this resolution was given very serious thought and consideration. I talked to the gentleman, I answered his questions frankly and directly on this resolution when he came to me a few weeks ago and spoke to me about having it brought upon the floor of the House.

I would like to state to the entire membership the reasons that were set forth in my talk to him at that time and the reasons why we felt that this resolution should not be brought upon the floor of the House. Might I first say that this resolution as I read it is of a compulsory nature, and there are certain men in this House who might be definitely embarrassed because they cannot comply with the Red Cross regulations. I am told that men over sixty years of age cannot qualify to give blood. Those that have had an operation within the past year are not qualified to give blood, and yet we would be telling the men of this House and of the Senate—rather putting them on the spot if they would not be willing to give of their blood.

Besides, I believe that this would also take in, and I believe there has been some complaint so far as the departments are concerned on the Hill—we have investigated that situation and find that each department has a committee organized, which certainly would function, I believe, just as well as the committee that we might appoint from the House or the Senate to take care of those people in the departments in urging them to give blood. Besides that, I believe it was at the instance of a Member on this side of the House with whom the committee also talked, that a Mrs. Nauman, who is chairman of the recruiting committee of the Red Cross extended the invitation and made certain arrangements, I believe, with another gentleman on the other side to have someone here, a matter of registering and taking names to have men go to the

Besides that there are a lot of men on this floor—and I might inquire of the gentleman from Philadelphia if he has taken the time to check, as members of this committee have, the number of men that have given, not to this particular chapter but to Red Cross Chapters in their own community? Therefore I feel that this resolution, which sets up a committee here in the House and a similar committee in the Senate, would make it compulsory to make the arrangements to have these men give their blood. Before we do that we should certainly go into all the facts and all the details as to how many men are eligible, how many have given blood in their own communities, instead of coming here and saying it is an unpatriotic person who is not willing to go along with a resolution of this kind.

RESOLUTION LAID ON TABLE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution to discharge the Committee be laid upon the table.

The motion was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, is a motion for the discharge of a committee debatable?

The SPEAKER. The motion itself is debatable. A motion to lay on the table takes precedence, however, and is not debatable.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I specifically asked whether, regardless of this instance, a motion to discharge a committee is debatable.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, that the motion itself is debatable within the narrow limits of the motion.

Mr. PETROSKY. Is the matter contained within the material of the motion for discharge debatable?

The SPEAKER. The merits of a resolution or a bill from the consideration of which a Committee is to be discharged would not be debatable.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that it is rather unfair to all the Members of the House to recognize the gentleman at this time on a question of personal privilege. We have a very long calendar.

Mr. SKALE. Mr. Speaker, it is just as unfair when the motives of a Member of the House are impunged with regard to the introduction of this resolution. I think I am entitled to answer the imputations of the gentleman made in connection with his motion to lay on the table, which was cut off by the nature of the motion.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the gentleman had more than ample time to discuss the subject.

Mr. SKALE. Does the Chair then refuse to grant me the privilege of speaking on the floor under a question of personal privilege?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will lay the matter before the House.

Mr. SKALE. No, Mr. Speaker, I asked permission from you. I do not require the unanimous consent of the House on a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will not grant recognition to the gentleman under a question of personal privilege at this time.

Mr. SKALE. Then I assume that the Chair refuses to grant me the privilege?

The SPEAKER. That is exactly what the gentleman may assume.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. For what purpose does the gentleman rise?

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman insist on the call?

Mr. MORAN. I do, Mr. Speaker. I attend every session here, and I am getting sick and tired of coming in here on Thursday and seeing half the seats vacant. I think we ought to have a showdown.

The SPEAKER. The Sergeant-at-Arms will close the doors of the House and permit no member or officer to leave the House. The Sergeant-at-Arms will carry out the orders of the Chair. The Chair would inform the Members of the House as well as the visitors that all present must remain seated.

The Chair will now read Rule 12 for the information of the House:

> While the House is under a call, only members and officers of the House shall be admitted, and no member shall be permitted to leave the House, unless by a majority vote of the members present.

The Sergeant-at-Arms will take his station outside the door and permit no one to enter except the Members or officers of the House.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE—10

Bradley,
Cordier,
Grant,
Hamilton,
Hoffman,
Hoggard,
Linn,
McAtee,
McDowell,
Turner,

Mr. HALL. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Sollenberger, whose name we heard on the roll of the absentees, asked me last night if I would at the proper time today ask for leave of absence for him for the balance of the week. Unfortunately I had an appointment with my Senator and could not be in the Hall of the House at the proper time. I wish to make this fact known to the House and ask for leave of absence for him for today's session and for the balance of the week.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, for the record I wish to take the responsibility for failing to ask for leave of absence for my colleague Mr. Bretherick of Delaware County. I spoke to Mr. Bretherick on the phone this morning before the session opened, and it was my obligation to ask for leave of absence for him. I was out of the House at the time when leaves of absence were in order and I wish to make this correction.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. BENTLEY. Mr. Speaker, it was my understanding that Mr. Powers of Allegheny County had asked for leave of absence for Mr. Mihm who has been ill. If he has not done so it has been an oversight and the record should show that Mr. Mihm has been ill and confined to his home, and that it was an oversight.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the record.

Mr. BENTLEY. I would further ask, Mr. Speaker, does the record show that Mr. Powers asked for leave of absence for Mr. Mihm?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will check the record.

Mr. HARE. Mr. Speaker, I would like the record to show that Mr. McMillen of Indiana, owing to the serious illness of his wife, who was taken to the hospital was called home and he asked me at that time to secure leave of absence for him.

Likewise Mr. Wood of Lancaster County has been asked to secure leave of absence for the gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt, and I should like the record to show that we were derelict in not being present when the leaves of absence were in order.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman relative to Mr. McMillen, will be noted on the record.

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood.

Mr. NORMAN WOOD. The gentleman from Indiana, Mr. Hewitt, asked me to request leave of absence for him. Unfortunately I was out of the House during that order of business and therefore failed to ask for leave of absence.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted in the record.

Mr. GREENWOOD. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Erb of Blair County asked me to ask for leave of absence for him. I was not present at the time leaves of absence were in order. I am sorry, and I would like to do that now. It was my error.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman from Wyoming will be noted on the record.

Mr. BARRETT. Mr. Speaker, for the record, I would like to report that my colleague, Dr. Boies, has a ten year old son who is very ill with a "strep" throat. Last week he asked me to ask for leave of absence for him I think in his hurry this week he overlooked it, so at this time I would like to place that in the record and I ask for leave of absence for him.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be placed in the record.

Mr. VERONA. Mr. Speaker, I was asked by Dr. Sarraf to ask for a leave of absence for him today, but I was talking to my Senator and I neglected to do so.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be placed in the record.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker, my colleague Mr. Levy from Philadelphia was in the House until about a half hour before this roll call. He got a telephone call and had to leave in a hurry. Now, the gentleman did not ask me to say anything about leave of absence. I expected him to be back. What that telephone call was I don't know, but I know he was here until about thirty minutes before the roll call.

The SPEAKER. The remarks of the gentleman will be noted in the record.

The SPEAKER. The final result of the quorum roll call is one hundred forty-six present, fifty-one absent, ten leaves of absence. A quorum is present in the House.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, now that we know we have a quorum, I move that further proceedings under the call be dispensed with.

The motion was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. IRVIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the bill together with the amendments be recommitted to the Committee on Apportionment for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker I ask the members to oppose this motion. The Governor in his speech asked that we give consideration to Legislative Reapportionment.

The Constitution of the state of Pennsylvania asks, rather demands, that after every United States census the state should be reapportioned. The way the present setup is, it is inequitable, it is unfair to make a motion at this time. The gentleman who made that motion represents the lone member of approximately twelve thousand people.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman may not discuss the merits of the bill, but must confine his remarks to the motion to recommit.

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, I think I am talking about the motion to recommit. It is the intention to kill the bill. I believe that the remarks I am making have a bearing on the bill and the amendments and the motion to recommit. I think I am in order on what I am talking about.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will give the gentleman every latitude possible but has no other recourse than to confine him to motion to recommit.

Mr. TIEMANN. Mr. Speaker, to give you some idea of how unfair our present setup is, there are eleven gentlemen from Philadelphia on our side of the House who represent no more than I do myself in my district, one against eleven. I represent approximately one hundred and eighty thousand people and I can name you the men who are opposing this bill from Philadelphia, Mr. Costa, Mr. Salus, Mr. Root, and Mr. Murray.

The SPEAKER. The Chair insists that the gentleman confine himself to the question before the House, the motion to recommit.

Mr. TIEMANN. All right, Mr. Speaker. In fair play, I ask the gentlemen in this House of Representatives to abide by the Constitution and give us a chance to vote on this bill on third reading. I thank you very much.

Mr. IRVIN. Mr. Speaker, when I made the motion to recommit I had no intention to pickle the bill. All I wanted was equal and fair distribution for the entire state of Pennsylvania.

Mr. JAMES. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak against recommitting this bill to the committee. There are enough good reasons why it should not be recommitted to the committee to make a very decent argument without going into the merits of the bill. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Tiemann, has very properly said this bill is of interest to every Member of this House. This bill has been in the process of making, it has been open to criticism, it has been open to suggestions for a long period of time, and during that time, to the knowledge of every man in this House the sponsor of the bill willingly sought advice, sought criticism and sought opinion generally on this bill. To recommit this bill at this time to a committee of not more than thirty men would be an extremely unfair thing to all of the Members of this House. This bill in principle has a great deal of merit, but its merit lies entirely on the question of fair representation in the state of Pennsylvania, as required by the constitution of Pennsylvania. A division of fair representation at this time could not be possible under any circumstances in any committee. I feel and believe that every opportunity should be given on the floor of this House and to every Member to offer amendments, but I feel and I believe that that should be done on the floor of the House, open and above board and not in a star chamber session. I think every man in this House has opinions on this bill, and it is utterly hopeless to have every man attend the committee meetings, but here in the open and on the floor of this House we can all have our say, we can hold each other up or we can knock each other down, and I think that that is the kind of procedure we should have on any measure that has to do with every legislative district in this state. I hope that in honesty and in fair play and in consideration of the rights of all of the representatives and all of the people of this state this bill will now be allowed to remain on this floor and take its defeat or take its passage on its merits as those merits may be declared by final analysis and amendments.

Mr. HOCKE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the motion to recommit. Mr. Tiemann came to us as he did to the others who are affected by this bill. It affects us very much in York County but I hate to see the bill pickled. We had plenty of time to make all of the amendments that were necessary. I consulted with the Members of the Legislature concerning this bill, Democrats as well as Republicans, and I think it is a good bill and it is high time that something like this should be done. In my district I represent eighty thousand people against another district of forty thousand, and something should be done to equalize this situation. I hope the Members will vote the motion down.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

The SPEAKER declared the ayes appeared to have it.

Whereupon a division was called for, seventy-seven members having voted in the affirmative and forty-six in the negative the question was determined in the affirmative and the motion was agreed to.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker, I have amendments that I wish to offer which I had not sent to the desk. Would it be permissible to send them now so that they can be sent to the committee with the other amendments?

The SPEAKER. The Chair will inform the gentleman from Allegheny that there were many Members who had amendments, but the motion to recommit stopped those amendments from being offered on the floor. However, they can be offered in committee.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, about two weeks ago several of my colleagues from both the Senate and the House, Democratic Members of the two bodies, asked for and received an invitation from the Governor to consult with him concerning our grievances arising out of what we consider the non-production of essential legislation pertaining to the war effort. The meeting was held with the Governor, and as has already been stated in the public press, we met for ninety minutes. Both sides spoke freely, and there was a great interchange of ideas.

As has been publicly stated already, the Governor told us that he would be happy to go over a written presentation of the eleven points which we sought to bring to his attention, and that we would have a response at an early date. Within a few days a letter was sent to each of the members of this committee, which in effect suggested that a committee, composed of the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, the Speaker of the House, myself as Minority Floor Leader of the House, and one other House member, the Majority Floor Leader of the Senate, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, together with the gentleman from, I believe, Susquehanna, I am not certain, the President pro tempore of the Senate, Mr. Ely, the Minority Floor Leader of the Senate, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, and one other Senator, should meet together and discuss the proposed eleven points and attempt to come to some agreement or solution.

Since that time, Mr. Speaker, I have been after, and I will say we have been after the members on the other side to hold such a meeting. At the early part of this week I informed the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, that bowing to the age and wisdom and the mightiness of the office of the Senate, that we will allow the gentlemen on the other side, Senators Heyburn and McGinnis, to set a time for us to sit down together, as the Governor suggested. We were put off by the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Heyburn, on Monday, we were put off on Tuesday. We started seeing the wisp on Wednesday, and when we finally came to a very tentative agreement on Thursday at four o'clock I went to the other side and spoke to the Senators and then began to come to the realization that they did not want to have such a meeting.

I am not yet sure that they refused to meet with us, and because of that, Mr. Speaker, I now openly and publicly issue our invitation, since we cannot beg one from them. I now invite the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter, with the Speaker of the House and the two gentlemen from the Senate, Senators Heyburn and the President pro tempore Senator Ealy, together with the Democratic members of this Committee on both sides of this House, to meet at five o'clock next Monday, which I believe will be Monday the 26th, at my office on the second floor of this building, Room 246, to then and there say yea or no to the proposal from me and to at least go through the formalities of the suggestions made by the Governor. This suggestion is made publicly, openly and fairly. Either you want to talk or you never intended to. Either the Governor was bluffing or he was not. Well, we are calling that bluff. Mr. Governor, if you have any influence on the Members of the House or the Senate and those in your official family, I ask you to please communicate with them and ask them to meet with us on Monday afternoon at five o'clock on April 26th in Room 246, of this Capitol Building, and discuss or at least talk about the program that we seek to have adopted at this session of this Legislature.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. LICHTENWALTER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, in order to keep the record clear, I feel that I must make a brief answer to the gentleman from Philadelphia. It is true that I received an invitation to meet with the Committee on the part of the House and Senate to discuss the demands made by the minority upon the majority in order to expedite the business of this session. I have at no time refused to attend such a meeting. I was in contact with the Majority Leader of the Senate, Mr. Heyburn, on two occasions during the past week, at which time we discussed the possibilities of getting together and having such a meeting. I do not see that the Governor should be brought in on this particular question. The Governor said he felt it was a Legislative problem and recommended to the committee representing the minority of both the House and the Senate, certain names on the majority side that should be contacted, to sit around the table and discuss the demands set forth on paper by the minority, in order to expedite this session and in order to rid ourselves of this filibuster.

It would be very difficult, Mr. Speaker, to arrange a meeting of this kind, due to the hours that we have had to stay in this House and due to the hours that the Senate is being confined to its Chambers because of the tactics that have been used during the past two weeks in both the House and the Senate. I do not believe anyone is to be blamed on the majority side if this arrangement could not have been made sooner by a meeting of this group. I was informed by the Minority Leader just this afternoon that the Senator from Delaware had extended an invitation for four o'clock. I said I would be ready. At that time we were engrossed in a great deal of business right here in the House, and I felt that my first duty was on the floor of this House. If by reason of a recess or in any other manner everyone had been notified to meet at any particular place, I certainly would have been there, but I do not feel that I should take any blame for the majority because no meeting was held during the past week. It was not because we do not want to meet, Mr. Speaker, but it was because of the number of hours consumed and wasted in this session that it was practically impossible to try to get a few hours sleep and also hold such a meeting.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS THE HOUSE

Mr. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, so that the record may be straight, the gentleman from Lehigh, Mr. Lichtenwalter or the Speaker of this House, members of this committee selected by the Governor in no wise at any time delayed the seeking of any appointment. I think the gentleman was ready at all times personally to attend such a meeting. I want the record to show that. However, I still insist that the overall picture certainly places the responsibility on the shoulders of the majority.

May I say just one other thing? Since the majority represented by the gentleman from Delaware, Senator Heyburn, has been unable to pick the time or unwilling to pick the time or has refused to pick the time for an appointment, if the majority find it impossible or inconvenient to meet with us on Monday at five o'clock, I will leave the suggestion open to the other side. We will meet you at three, at eight or nine or ten o'clock in the morning, we will meet you at any hour around the clock on any day that you say, but we insist that we ought to have it soon, and Monday is the deadline.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. HARE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, not wishing to inject myself into the discussion between the two floor leaders, I would like to read the first paragraph of a little editorial that I have cut from a newspaper published by the gentleman from Manheim, Mr. Trout, which might put some understanding upon this situation:

> "Strong effort of the minority to govern the majority. Democracy means the government by the majority. Whenever this rule is abolished then a dictatorship is established and the minority becomes the ruling factor. What has been called a filibuster in the Senate and House of Representatives of the General Assembly at Harrisburg during the past week was instituted by the minority party when the majority party refused to permit the minority to dictate the program for legislative action."

Now, gentlemen, we still live in a democracy. I say that the minority party is not now or is ever going to dictate to the majority party the policy on legislative action.
